Eight charged in disturbance at Summerfest

Eight men are due to appear in Madoc provincial court September 9 on charges resulting from a disturbance at last Saturday's Summerfest in Madoc.

Police said the eight had been charged following a midnight brawl at the event, held in the Kiwanis Centre. Eight police officers were called to handle the disturbance.

Allan Houston, of Toronto, has been charged with obstructing police.

William Whalen, of Mississauga, has been charged with assaulting a police officer.

David Scaife, of Gilmour, has been charged with causing a disturbance and obstructing a police officer.

Arthur Smith, of Gilmour, has been charged with causing a disturbance.

Harold Baumhauer, of Crookston, has been charged with causing a disturbance.

Wayne Cassidy, of Queensboro, has been charged with causing a disturbance.

David Asselstine, of Belleville, has been charged with causing a disturbance and obstructing a police officer.

Congregation honors the Sedgwick family

The congregation and friends of the community gathered at Eldorado United Church recently to honor Rev. and Mrs. Wendell Sedgwick and their family prior to their leaving for the Seymour and Campbellford charge.

Chairman for the evening was Allen Ketcheson, who first called on the junior choir of Eldorado church to sing two very appropriate numbers. He then called on Mrs. Gerald Blackburn, who gave a humorous reading. This was followed by a reading by Joyce Sandford, entitled, "Sermons We See."

Mr. Ketcheson thanked each and after a few comments, he called the Sedgwicks to the front. Eric Sandford came forward to present an address. Eric commented how much the community would miss Mr. Sedgwick and his family and the untiring help they had given to each and everyone since they arrived in 1967. He closed his address with a comment that saying goodbye seemed to be very harsh and final, so they were only saying farwell.

A presentation of a set of table lamps and matching swag lamp, a hassock and beautiful lighted picture of the Last Supper were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick. To Kathy and Melanie a matching set of bedroom lamps were presented, and to John and Kenneth, personally engraved pens were given.

Mrs. Sedgwick was also presented with a book, "England In Colour" by Minnie Moorcroft on behalf of the Eldorado UCW.

The co-authors of "Pilgrimage of Faith", Alma Blackburn, Alma Moorcroft and Blanche Sandford, presented each of the children with autographed copies of their book.

Mr. Sedgwick thanked everyone for the generous and beautiful gifts on behalf of the family.

After the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" lunch was served by the ladies of the church and a social hour brought the evening to a close.

Park recovers from wind storm

The five trees at Booster Park which were blown down during last week's storm have been removed and the park is once more operating at near capacity.

Clayton Smith, park manager, reported that there is now fifty trailers occupying space in the park.

A work crew from Marmora Village and a truck from Marmora Township, plus some students working on the Experience '75 program, soon had the fallen trees out of the way after they were blown down during the storm on Monday afternoon, June 23.

One of the trees fell beside a trailer owned by Weldon Brown of Oshawa, but little damage was done. The kitchen part of a tent trailer owned by Joe Szmanski of Whitby received some damage from a tree falling partly on it. A third tree fell on a hydro line while the other two fell without doing any damage.

Tweed and Marmora men head riding NDP

COE HILL - Elmer Buchanan of Tweed was elected as president of the new Hastings-Peterborough Provincial New Democratic Party Association.

Marvella Sargent of Tweed was elected treasurer, and Neil MacLean of Marmora membership secretary.

Carson McLaughan, the NDP nominated candidate in Quinte, told the gathering the Conservative government has become out of touch with people, and feel that after 30 years of power they have nobody to answer to but themselves.

The Belleville New Democrat hopeful went on to say the "Liberals of Ontario have no policies but they intend to discredit and attack the Government while they offer the voter no solution to today's problems and no leadership but in return seek power - power to use to their own end."

Mr. McLaughan explained the NDP concerns with human issues such as jobs, housing, rent controls, family farms, car insurance, day-care and social programs to benefit the people of the province.

Bob Thompson of Deseronto announced at the meeting that he would seek the NDP nomination for the new Hastings-Peterborough riding.

The nomination meeting may take place in the Centre Hastings Secondary School, Madoc, July 30.

'Davis has no option' - Jack Ellis

Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, predicts Premier William Davis has no option but to call a provincial election as a result of the provisions of the federal budget introduced last week.

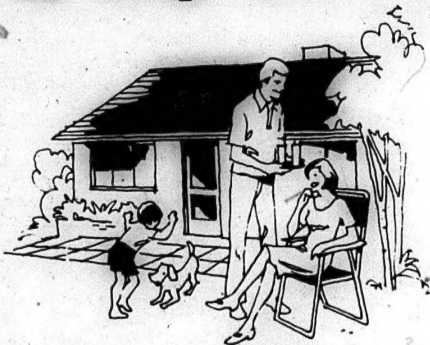

The key feature of the budget was the imposition of a 10 cents federal tax on gasoline in addition to the increases allowed in the basic cost of all oil products, including heating oils and gas.

"Mr. Davis has long claimed that this is not the time for such an increase," said Mr. Ellis, "and many of us in the Federal Parliament agree."

Everybody has the right to affordable housing.

This is what Ontario is doing to help them obtain it.

In recent months, the Ontario Government has introduced, or expanded, a number of measures aimed at putting home ownership within reach of greater numbers of people. That means doing two things - making more housing available and helping you to meet home ownership costs.

Four Ontario Government programs are directed right at these objectives:

1. Home Ownership Made Easy (H.O.M.E.) brings home ownership within reach of many moderate-income earners. Houses are built on serviced lots which are then leased by Ontario Housing Corporation to new homeowners, who may buy the land after five years. This combination makes possible lower-than-normal down payments and carrying costs.

2. Ontario Home Renewal Program (OHRP) offers grants and loans for home improvements through local municipalities to low and moderate income homeowners. This plan works to rehabilitate sub-standard dwellings - especially those with faulty structural and sanitary conditions - and to upgrade plumbing, heating and electrical systems.

3. Ontario Housing Action Program (OHAP) helps municipalities and developers to increase the supply of serviced land, thus lowering the cost of home ownership and rental accommodations. It also encourages the building industry to more closely match the housing mix to the purchasing power of the majority of the population.

4. Ontario Home Buyers Grant provides a $1,500 grant in three instalments to any Ontario resident who is 18 or older and buying a first home. There are no price or income restrictions but the home must be the buyer's principal residence and acquired at fair market value. The purchase must be completed by December 31, 1975 and the buyer must be living in the home by June 30, 1976.

Mrs. Lena Carman dies in Belleville in 80th year

CARMAN - Mrs. Lena, on Saturday, June 28, 1975, at Belleville General Hospital, formerly Lena Sharp of Madoc, in her 80th year. Beloved wife of Beryl Carman, dear mother of Irma (Mrs. R. Leavitt) of Trenton and Cecil of Almonte. Dearly loved by her nine grandchildren. Services were held from the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, on Tuesday, July 1, 1975, at 1 p.m. Rev. W. Sedgwick officiated. Interment in Eldorado Cemetery.

Appoint a new principal for Sacred Heart School

The new principal of Sacred Heart School in Marmora is J.L. Darmanin who comes to Marmora from Burlington.

Robert Bartsch, principal for the past five years, will be teaching at Sacred Heart School in Battawa in September. Mr. Bartsch and his family will continue to live in Marmora.

Larry Brintnell is leaving Sacred Heart School staff to teach in Belleville as itinerant teacher between Our Lady of Fatima and George's Vanier Schools.

Mrs. Patricia McNamara, who retired from Hastings-Prince Edward County Roman Catholic Separate School Board, expects to move from Marmora to her home at Eganville this summer.

Zone 18 of the Senior Citizens of Ontario held their annual picnic in the Ben Blecker Auditorium, Belleville, June 24. The building was filled to capacity. Coffee and tea was poured by the Belleville Club.

Lee Gerrard, in his jovial manner, capably filled the position of Master of Ceremonies.

Campbellford Club #449 entertained with a humorous reading by Mrs. Reid. This was followed by a lively sing-song by Club #674.

Dora and Henry Rousehorn, of Madoc, received the prize for the most recently married couple.

Horse lovers

HAVELOCK - Horse lovers from the very young to the very old gathered at the Rotary Park over the weekend for a trail ride by the Timbertrail Western Riders.

The riders met at the park early Saturday morning, joined by a chuck wagon carrying needed belongings.

The group traveled out along the Cordova Road to the Crowe River, then north along the river bank to their camping area.

Events during the evening included a camp fire, games of charades, singing and guitar playing. Sunday was spent swimming, fishing, hiking and trail riding.

Mrs. Byrnes' lap!

Can you image the result?

"Eventually things calmed down enough for a measurement to be taken.

The fish measured 24" - too small. The gals threw it back in.

But if it happens again, the ladies mightn't be so generous.

"After all," noted Mrs. Casey, in relating the story to the Herald.

"If the Lord giveth.....!"

This fish caught the fisherwoman

No - it wasn't a drowning that caused the yelling and screaming out on Crowe Lake over the weekend.

And no, it wasn't a near drowning either. But it was a fish - a Muskie to be exact - that caused all the excitement and the resulting noise.

It all happened when the three McGrath sisters went out fishing.

The three, Angela Byrnes, Mary Callery and Margaret Casey, love fishing, and usually come home with a good catch.

The the Muskie that caused all the excitement virtually caught them!

Everything seemed perfectly normal when Mrs. Byrnes got a strike.

But the fish apparently went head first into the anchor line, knocking off the lure.

But instead of streaking for freedom, it jumped right into the boat and right into

The Frankford group was called on, but since they did not have a number, Lee Gerrard reminded them they had one whole year in which to prepare for next year's picnic.

The next prize went to Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson of Foxboro, who can boast 65 years of marriage.

With Mrs. K. McCoy at the key board, a lively sing-song followed.

Mrs. Fanny Vilneff, of Shannonville, received the prize for being the oldest lady present. She was 96 years of age.

More sing-songs followed, including "My Wild Irish Rose", "It's a Long Way to Tipperary", "Over There", "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

With Agnes Emmons leading, a group of eight from the Tyendinaga township Club #674 sang several songs.

Campbellford claimed the prize for having the oldest gentleman, George Wallace, who was 92 years of age.

Tweed Club #339 put on a fashion show of hats. These hats were all made of kitchen utensils. A few of the men took part in the show.

Tickets were sold on food hampers and at this time the draws were made and the prizes awarded as follows: Mrs. Mary Hachey, Frankford; Mrs. Cook, Belleville; Roy Jones, Tweed; Mrs. Belanger, Marmora; Mrs. Long, Campbellford; Mrs. Sinclair, Colborne; and F. Kleinstaub, Tweed. The host club again conducted more sing-songs.

The prize to the senior citizen coming from the farthest distance went to Mrs. Emma Smith, from St. John's Newfoundland.

Belleville Club #94 gave a humorous skit.

Foxboro Club presented three lively numbers with Mrs. Stella Stewart on the key board, Bill Glenn on violin and Mrs. Glenn on the auto harp.

The building was cool and all who were fortunate enough to attend, agreed that it was a lovely picnic as many acquaintances from afar were renewed.

Shoot first; ask questions later

By Peter Ward

SEOUL, KOREA — (SF) — So far this year anti-aircraft gunfire has burst over this city twice. Once a Korean Airlines passenger plane was shattered, wounding eight civilians and killing one woman. Another time a U.S. military helicopter was riddled — but no one was injured.

Over Seoul, they shoot first and ask questions later. The city is but a few minutes by jet from the closest North Korean fighter-bomber base, and all aircraft are prohibited from over-flying Seoul's core. The Korean airliner had strayed off course while landing at Kimpo airfield. The U.S. helicopter has prior permission to enter Seoul airspace, but nobody told the gunners.

That's merely a sample of the tough measures adopted by President Park Chung Hee's government. In May he issued a proclamation banning all dissent with the government, all criticism of the constitution, and any reporting of dissent or demonstrations. Only members of the National Assembly on the floor of the Assembly can criticize, and no one may report what they say.

Even Park's political allies say he may have gone too far with his latest measures — possibly pushing moderates into a left wing stance and making them more susceptible to blandishments from the North. Classical Communist philosophy traditionally maintains that harsh right-wing governments are much easier to overthrow than moderate democracies, because there is more reason for opposition in a harsh regime.

But Park is convinced that following the U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia, Kim Il Sung, Stalin's protege and leader of North Korea, will attempt to take the South by storm. Also, Park is in severe economic trouble.

Korea has undergone tremendous development during the past decade, based on cheap labor. Only the North has raw materials, so the South has forged success by importing raw materials from the U.S., Australia, and other Asia countries, then churning out manufactured goods cheaper than any other country can. Average industrial wages have been rising each year, but even now workers earn an average of 27 cents an hour. Many work six days a week, 11 hours daily.

The entire southeastern part of the country is spangled with industry — roughly $25 billion worth — and it all could be destroyed in hours if all-out war comes. The existence of that industrial complex, and its vulnerability, is the best argument in the world against the South starting a new war.

Economics could be one reason why President Park has clamped down so severely on his nation. He could be attempting to reassure investors that the nation is united in its resolve against the North behind a determined government.

One thing is certain. The next half year or so will be critical for Korea's economy and President Park's government could stand or fall on the short term economic future of the West.

Camping Family Style

BY ANGELA AND FORD BOTHWELL

What would you like to see in the recreational vehicle of the future?

Rocked to its roots by the gasoline shortages of 1974, the RV industry immediately responded with smaller, lightweight vehicles that are more gas conscious than ever before. And industry spokesmen say that there are even lighter models ahead, with more usable space inside.

But there is still much to be done.

Why, for example, hasn't the RV industry given us an all-weather vehicle with increased freeze protection for water lines and holding tanks when it's put to use at winter sports areas? Use of an RV in winter today requires sufficient interior heating and extensive anti-freezing of lines. A sophisticated, all-season RV which requires little winter maintenance has yet to be produced.

Why can't there be more RVs with features geared for specific uses? What does a retired or childless couple want with the standard RV that sleeps four? That extra bed and table space could provide more storage and floor space. By the same token, there is a crying need today from large families and fishing and hunting clubs for RVs that can comfortably sleep eight. Those that advertise they do usually sleep only six with any real degree of comfort.

Why don't all RVs have a second door, primarily for fire escape, but also for increased ventilation and accessibility? Isn't the cook inside always bothered by increased traffic in and out the single door while trying to cook dinner? Also, a two-door model could allow for compartmentalized RVs to permit privacy for children and parents or two couples traveling together.

What do you want in the RV of the future? Send your thoughts to Camping Family Style, c/o this newspaper, and we'll print them here. Let's make the RV industry sit up and listen.

Celebrity Parade BY CATHY POST FIELD

Is it true that Princess Grace and Prince Rainier of Monaco are bringing their daughter up in a very strict manner? G.C., Cairo, Ill.

They have certainly tried to but have not met with the success they desired. Princess Caroline has become very much a part of the Paris nightlife and spends too much money to her parents liking. She also smokes while enjoying herself dancing in bistros and naturally this upsets their highnesses.

I have heard that Muhammad Ali does not write his own poetry. Also, that the "feud" with Howard Cossell is a fake. True? T. Porter, Galveston, Tex.

Ali grinned when asked both questions. "Listen, who would want to claim my poetry?" he said. "Coming from me it's not bad, but only a fool would pay someone to write anything as bad as my poems. As for Cossell, I get paid $10,000 every time I appear on his show. Actually, we respect each other, though we don't socialize because I don't have time to socialize with anyone. I think we bounce well off each other."

Has Zsa Zsa Gabor ever admitted her real age? Has she had a face lift, and does she seem happy with husband number six? R. Lyle, Miami, Fla.

Zsa Zsa doesn't admit her age but she is going on 56 (records dating back to the 1936 Miss Hungary pageant in which she was entered prove this). She has had cosmetic surgery several times (the first before ever arriving in Hollywood). She says "lots of swimming and sex will keep any woman youthful. A woman who loves and is loved will sparkle. Jack (Ryan) is the best lover I've ever had." Those close to Zsa Zsa seem to feel that this marriage has a good chance of lasting.

Could you tell me if David Essex, the star of "Stardust" is married? Is that his real name? How old is he? And how did he get his start? C. Freeman, San Francisco, Calif.

Daved Essex has a lovely wife, Maureen, and a little girl, Verity. He keeps both out of the limelight. His real name is David Cook but an astute manager changed it to Essex because that's where he's from and, it has the word "sex" in it. David got his start at 16 playing drums in a pub, went from there to an acting repertory company, then finally got his break playing the part of Jesus in "Godspell." He's 27.

Your week ahead...

By Dr. A. W. Damis

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Some sort of trivia or "side battle" might occupy too much of your time. Guard against a subtle chain of events that will pull you from your project.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

A new face on the scene will play an important role, in this week's activities. Also, a member of the opposite sex will help you look for strings attached.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

According to your chart, there's something questionable about your relationship with a member of the opposite sex. It's highly probable that you'll be put to the "test."

CANCER

June 21-July 22

There's no doubt about it, you've seen it coming; and now it's simply here: You'll be taking on additional responsibilities. Incidentally, you'll enjoy the challenge.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Hold it, Leo! You're letting your imagination work against a personality who, indeed, is a better friend than you think. Think about it, seriously!

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Facts, not words, will interest you this week. It seems as though you've become subtly aware of someone's unproductive promises. If it has to be... this is "show down" time.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Once again, don't become involved in someone else's problems. First of all, your motives will be questioned. Furthermore, your "help" won't bring popularity.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

For those under your sign being considered for membership in a selective group—things look good! Other Scorpions have someone behind the scene, working in their behalf.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

There's an old saying that mentions something about idleness becoming the devil's workshop. Anyway, boredom with routine tasks, shows in your chart.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

It seems as though a member of the opposite sex will hit the formula that pleases you. Anyway, it's during this cycle that you'll appreciate your mate or similar alliance.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

You can call it, insight, E.S.P., intuition or whatever you choose. Here's the point, you'll arrive at several good decisions without logical support.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Many members of your sign will receive a new title, be promoted or become recognized, in one way or another. Incidentally, steer clear of a clandestine meeting.

Swimming's good exercise

by David Woods

Is there a recipe for fun, relaxation and exercise with no fancy equipment and little or no cost? Yes, there is: you — and just add water!

Swimming is one of the best formulas for health. It expands the lungs, exercises the heart and muscles and just makes you feel good, generally.

But, as is evidenced by the 500 or so drownings that occur in Ontario each year, it can also be a dangerous sport — one in which it's truly vital to look before you leap. Here are some ways to make swimming safer:

- Make sure that the water you plan to swim in has a firm, safe bottom with no obstacles like rocks or weeds and no strong currents.
- Never dive into a swimming pool without checking the water level immediately before, or into shallow water.
- Always swim in the company of another person, no matter how good a swimmer you may be. There might be a time when you'll need help close at hand.
- Avoid swimming after dark, during a storm or immediately following a heavy meal.
- Make sure that children playing near a body of water are constantly supervised. Never let the children who can't swim rely on inflatable toys or makeshift rafts.

- If someone takes an unplanned dive from a boat, don't leap in after him. If they're within reach, hold out an oar and haul them in: if not, throw a lifebelt, or something — a thermos jug or a gas can, for example — that will provide buoyancy.

- Recognize the limitations of your own swimming ability. You may be able to swim 50 yards out from the shore, but will you be able to get back?
- And don't overdo it, especially if you're an occasional swimmer.

Swimming, like other sports involving human beings and the elements, requires discipline and knowing the drill. And this is best learned early in life. Children can be taught to swim as soon as they can walk, but part of that training should involve an awareness of the dangers, too.

To be a good all-round swimmer, you should know about helping others who may get into trouble in the water. You can learn about water safety from the Red Cross or the St. John Ambulance services. And the Ontario Ministry of Health has produced a pamphlet, Get In The Swim, which provides useful tips, including a simple guide to mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The pamphlet is available in government or physicians' offices, or you can get it by writing to the Health Resource Centre, Communications Branch, Ontario Ministry of Health, Hepburn Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.

You'd think the teachers would be happy....

By Don Fredericks

Poor teachers! Here they are, almost at the end of yet another long, arduous season, facing their annual 10-week summer break, and those nasty politicians at Queen's Park are still shoving them around.

The problem revolves around Bill 100, now being debated in the Legislature, which is designed to streamline negotiations between Ontario's 103,000 teachers and 175 school boards.

It comes following a concerted two-year propaganda campaign by the five teacher organizations in the province to obtain the right to strike and the strength to negotiate working conditions.

About 18 months ago, Education Minister Tom Wells said he wouldn't give the teachers the right to strike. This bill, introduced on June 3, reverses that, although Wells inexplicably tries to claim it doesn't. In any event, you'd think the teachers would be happy. But they aren't. Or at least their leaders aren't.

Morris Richardson, general secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, the most militant of the teacher groups, wrote a column which appeared in several newspapers in which he conceded the bill has many good points, but the bad points, as he sees them, could scuttle all the good.

His complaints, echoes of earlier ones from other spokesmen, are that the bill makes it difficult to strike, it ends all contracts at the same time and it includes under the definition of strikes any withdrawals of the extra-curricular or voluntary programs teachers now provide free.

Talk about crying wolf. First you callously use the threat of tying up the school system and when the government, regrettably, succumbs, then you scream for more. Surely if it's true that teachers want to see an end to confrontation in negotiations, they can't complain that the right to strike should not be granted easily. Why should it be easy to strike? After all, we're talking about the welfare of our children, not simply what is or is not convenient for teachers or school boards.

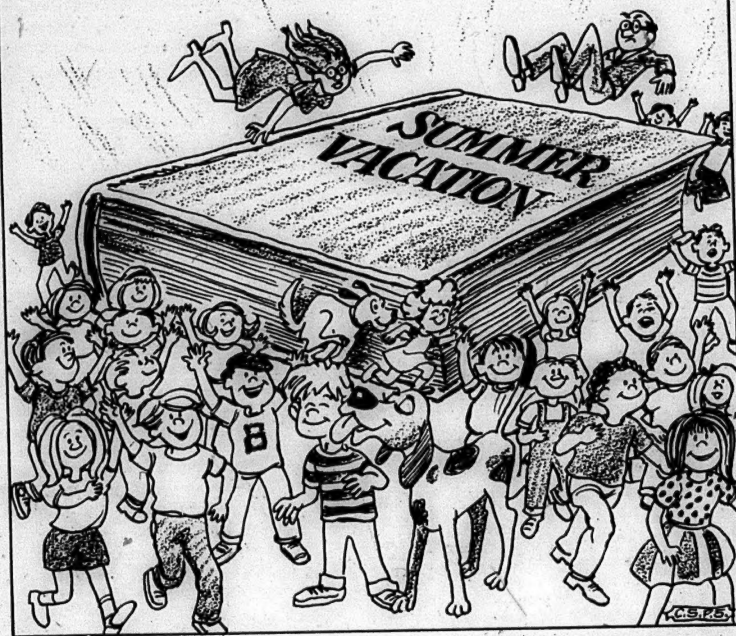

The Bill does provide some protection through an educational relations commission and a system to appoint a fact finder who, in the case of a breakdown in negotiations, can go in and report on the issues to the commission and, hopefully, scare both sides with the knowledge that the report can be made public.

Richardson seemed upset that strikes can be undertaken "only after a series of steps," and, rather than viewing the commission as a public guarantee of good-faith bargaining, dismisses it as "a further stumbling block..." To what, one might ask?

When Wells introduced the bill, teacher leaders denounced the section disallowing principals and vice-principals the right to strike, an interesting position since most of the leaders of the teacher organizations are themselves principals.

Wells says the provision is in the bill because somebody has to mind the store in the event of a strike. The teachers say it will seriously undermine morale in the schools and therefore undercut that elusive "quality of education" they keep talking about, whatever that means.

Principals are clearly management and it would be easier to believe that teacher spokesmen are most concerned about the students, not their own quasi-political activities, if they would admit it's a simple case of union muscle tactics to get as many people as high up in the bargaining unit as possible.

Under Bill 100, if the teachers withdraw their voluntary services as a bargaining tactic, that's considered a strike action. The teachers say this isn't fair. What they don't say, however, is that one of the main reasons education officials changed the old 4 p.m. closing time to 3:15 p.m. was a recognition that these after-class activities are not simply add-ons, but represent an integral part of the total educational system.

If I were a teacher and had to read some of the arguments my leaders were dropping on my behalf, I'd begin to worry about it, especially now, until September anyway, when there's nothing else really pressing to worry about except perhaps what course I could enrol in so I could come back in the fall and get paid even more money.

Man gets two-years - Tweed rape

The rape of a 17-year-old girl in Tweed July 30, 1974, has resulted in a two year definite and two year indefinite sentence for 26-year-old Alan Giberson.

Sentence was pronounced by Justice Holland last week at High Supreme Court in Belleville.

Giberson had pleaded guilty to the charge last March.

Two hours after the incident last July, Giberson had been apprehended by three officers: Constable Walter Brown, of the Madoc Ontario Provincial Police, Constable Tom Andrews of the Tweed Police Department and Chief Robert Gagne, also of the Tweed Police Department.

Giberson was not, however, arrested, and left the village. On Monday, March 31, he sent word for the Tweed officers to meet a plane in Malton airport and there he pleaded guilty to the charge and was taken to the Napanee Detention Centre.

Giberson had been laying underground cable in the area for Bell Canada when the rape occurred. He is expected to be taken from Napanee to the Brampton Reformatory to serve his sentence where he will be receiving treatment at a psychiatric wing.

Steals car

"Just to go for a ride"

A 19-year-old youth who "just wanted to go for a ride" is due to appear in court in Madoc July 8, charged with the theft of a car from a parking lot behind the Marmora Insurance Company June 26.

The car, owned by Lorraine Bergeron, of Tweed, was being used at the time of the theft by Leonard O'Leary, of Metcalfe St., Tweed.

The car had been returned to the parking lot after being serviced, with the keys still in the ignition.

A witness later said he saw the car, a 1973 Buick Century, being driven westbound along Highway 7. The vehicle was recovered at Baltimore, near Cobourg.

Driver tossed from vehicle in "high-speed wobble"

An eastbound motorcycle on Highway 7 Tuesday went into what police described as a "high-speed wobble", skidded 56 feet along the pavement and an additional 177 along the shoulder before coming to rest.

The driver of the vehicle, Rock Viapour Henry, 34, of 47 Dundurn St., Hamilton, was thrown from the vehicle and was taken to Belleville General Hospital by ambulance.

He was later reported in satisfactory condition with an abrasion to his chin, a broken shoulder blade and broken ribs.

Car write-off with damage at $2,500

A Toronto man was treated for leg and facial injuries Monday following a single-car accident on Highway 62, two miles north of Eldorado.

Michael Spizziri, 59, was northbound at the time of the mishap. His car left the road, traveled 156 feet into a ditch and struck a number of trees.

The car was considered a write-off, valued at $2,500.

A passenger in the car, Frederick Proste, 22, also of Toronto, received chest injuries in the accident.

Car hits tree, splits in half

The driver and three passengers in an eastbound car on Highway 7 Saturday night were all taken to Campbellford Memorial Hospital after their vehicle struck a tree and split in half.

The accident occurred at midnight, two miles west of Marmora.

According to police, the car was driven by Archie Cole, 19, of Marmora. Passengers in the vehicle were William Cole, 21, of RR 2, Havelock, Glen Cole, 21, of RR 3, Havelock, and Allen Grey, 17, of Marmora.

The car had apparently gone out of control and struck the tree, sending one half of the vehicle into a field, the other half into the east ditch and the motor into a ditch some distance away.

Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $700.

The incident occurred two miles west of Madoc.

Head-on mishap but no injuries,

$1,200 damage

A head-on collision Tuesday, at the Elzevir and Hungerford township line, has left an estimated $1,200 damage to the vehicles involved.

Drivers of the cars were Daniel Andrews, 44, of RR 3, Tweed, and Doreen Lacroix, 26, of Marmora.

Neither the drivers nor three passengers in the Lacroix car were injured in the mishap.

According to police, the accident occurred at a narrow curve on the crest of a hill.

Car collides with tank truck

A car driven by Frank Kober, 40, of Colborne, collided with a tank truck hauling water Saturday morning, three-tenths of a mile south of Harold.

Driver of the truck was Arden McGee, 39, of Hastings.

Damages in the accident were estimated at $700 to the car and a further $300 to the truck.

The accident occurred as the truck was attempting to make a left turn off the highway into a quarry.

Bancroft man loses control

A Bancroft man apparently lost control of his car on wet pavement last Monday, rolled over and came to rest in the roadside ditch.

William Blake Bowler, 20, escaped injury in the accident, which occurred on Highway 7, one-half mile east of Highway 37.

Treated, released

A Toronto man was treated and released at Belleville General Hospital Saturday following a single-car accident on County Road 3, six miles north of Marmora.

Gary Pratt, 22, was southbound on the roadway when his car apparently went out of control on a curve, went into a deep ditch, striking a mail box, struck a pole, then went back into the ditch and rolled over twice, coming to rest in the opposite ditch.

Pratt suffered abrasions as a result of the mishap, but damage to his car was estimated at $5,000.

Investigate 8 thefts

Eight thefts were reported to the Madoc Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police during the past week.

Six break and enters were investigated. Ten people were arrested and charged under the Liquor Control Act.

One person was charged with impaired driving.

There were six reports of wilful damage investigated.

$500 damage in Stirling mishap

Damages were estimated at $500 Saturday in a two-car accident on County road 8, two miles west of Stirling.

The drivers of the cars, Douglas C. Robinson, 64, of Stirling, and Wilmot N. Lanigan, 78, of Campbellford, both escaped injury in the mishap.

According to police, the Lanigan vehicle was making a left hand turn off the roadway when the accident occurred.

Ambulance just happened to be coming

A Marmora woman was struck by a car on Highway 7 between the Marmora Royal Canadian Legion and the IGA store Saturday night.

A square dance by the Frankford Club of the Trent Valley Squares was in progress at the I.G.A. at the time of the mishap.

Damage to the car, driven by Michael Reynolds, 33, of Toronto, was estimated at $400.

Mrs. Rita Dayton, of Main St., was taken to Belleville General Hospital with a broken shoulder and possible internal injuries.

An ambulance was just about a block away at the time of the mishap.

It was heading for the hospital from an accident near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carman on the Cordova Road.

Gary Pratt had been injured in that automobile accident, and was being accompanied in the ambulance by Trevor Peacock, who was not injured.

The ambulance stopped at the scene of the Marmora accident and picked up Mrs. Dayton.

Mrs. Arthur Acorn visited relatives in Ottawa last week.

New art season underway

Landscapes, portraits, flower arrangements in oils and water colours shown recently (June 15th) at Valhalla Inn by painters of the Mary Schneider Art Club recalled happy summer holidays at the Schneider School of Fine Arts. Most of the painters look forward to another two-month summer season now open at this Schneider School on Highway No. 37 near Actinolite, one-half mile south of Highway #7, 30 miles north of Belleville. In the last two years, Thanksgiving Weekend has been extended to a week for painting autumn colours - this year September 29th to October 13th.

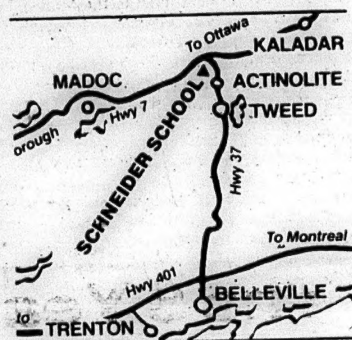

The 1975 faculty includes Mary Schneider, Managing Director and resident artist for the season, Anita Carson, Alexander Millar, John Gould, Carl Schaeffer, Don Fraser, John A. Hall and Guttorm Otto, all well known in art centres across Canada, the U.S.A. and Europe.

In one location, painters find a wide variety of subject matter for outdoor painting - a river with rapids, cliffs and a dam, wooded slopes, ravines, bridges, pioneer log cabins, lakes, waterfalls, rolling farm lands and quaint villages. With the Skootamata River flowing by the School premises, there is recreation in swimming, sun bathing, fishing, bird watching and rock hunting on the edge of the Precambrian Shield.

Accommodation includes two 150-year-old hand-hewn log houses, both genuine products of an era in local building which ended at the time of Confederation with introduction of sawmills. One of these, on a hilltop, houses administrative staff. The other, beside the river, serves as a painting studio with ample facilities for lectures, group discussions of paintings of the day and indoor painting evenings or in bad weather.

Nestled among cedars on the hilltop are a number of comfortable cedar cabins for visiting painters, equipped with electric heaters for cool nights - under sparkling northern starlight.

Drivers go by car on Highway 401 to Belleville, then north on Highway 37; or Highway 7 and then south on Highway 37. By Bus, the Colonial Bus Lines from Toronto, Montreal or Ottawa, stop at the Log Cabin Inn at the Junction of Highways 7 and 37, which is half-a-mile from the school. A phone call to the school will assure transportation from this point. By Rail: Canadian National to Belleville and a taxi to the school. Phone 478-3323 or 6825.

Belleville site big Orange parade

Many area Orange men and women will be celebrating the Glorious Twelfth by parading in Belleville Saturday, July 12. The parade, one of two taking place in Eastern Ontario on that date, commemorates the 285th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne when King William of Orange defeated King James at a battle near the Boyne River.

The other parade is taking place in Lindsay.

The program in Belleville is being planned by a committee composed of Loyal Orange Lodges in South Hastings County. Each lodge has representation on the committee and several meetings have been held to date.

Invitations have been accepted from as far east as the County of Dundas and from areas to the west, as well as the north areas of Hastings County.

The speaking program will precede the parade, beginning at 1 p.m., in the Ben Blecker Building Auditorium. Invited guests include Mayor Robin Jeffrey, the president of the Belleville Ministerial Association, plus leaders of various branches of the order in this part of the province, and the Warden of Hastings County.

The feature of the day will be the draw for a color television, which is being sponsored by the committee. Holders of draw tickets also have free admission to the grounds for the day.

Members of the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association lodges in the Belleville and Trenton area will serve meals and refreshments in the Ben Blecker Building.

Members of the Ontario Legislature were kept running last week in a role reversal which saw them as pages of the House and the actual pages, aged 12 to 14, in the members' chairs.

The student pages who usually run errands for the members, had Labor Minister John MacBeth and Margaret Birch, social development secretary, among others running for glasses of water and delivering messages across the House as the mock parliamentarians conducted their business.

The third mock parliament conducted by the pages in the last decade also had some serious business on hand.

It is sometimes hard to take Nixon seriously

By Don Fredericks

The trouble with Bob Nixon is that sometimes it's hard to take him seriously. There he was the other night, the man who wants you to make him the next premier of Ontario, standing before a steamy, sweaty crowd of 300 people in a parish hall in Port Lambton on the St. Clair River predicting the Liberals will make a clean sweep of Southwestern Ontario in the next provincial election.

That was shortly after he'd predicted the Liberals would also bear Premier William Davis in his own Brampton riding (with a candidate named Agnew) and after he'd added a few more victories in Eastern Ontario.

Political leaders are naturally obliged to be optimistic in public but there's a difference between the normal rally-round-the-flag-boys kind of rhetoric and being ridiculous flat out.

Nixon was, after all, talking to people who live in this predominantly Conservative riding, people who know damn well that incumbent MPP Lorne Henderson isn't likely to be beaten by Fred McCormick, the same guy Henderson clobbered last time out, whose idea of political small-talk is telling reporters he spent 25 years building concrete silos.

Ever since Nixon became leader in 1967 he's had a problem convincing anyone that he has what it takes to become premier of the province. He's always resented the implicit put-down in the fact that everyone likes to refer to him as "a nice guy, but..." The fact is, he really isn't that nice a guy. He's got a quick temper, is rumored to be excessively demanding of his staff and is as capable as most of being nasty. In addition, unlike many public figures, he has never learned to expect and deal with criticism.

He inherited a party caucus composed mostly of lightweights, a caucus noted for its ability to fly in all directions at once and if the questions he asks in Legislature are any indication, it's hard to imagine what he'd do if he was actually responsible for running the government.

Wayne Antaya, 19, president of the Chatham-Kent Young Liberals, all 20 of them, followed Nixon around the area for a day and said, "Well, he's no Trudeau, I admit, but I think maybe provincial politics is different and maybe enough people won't notice."

Earlier in the day, after telling a Chatham audience of 40 Liberals the party was going to knock off Treasurer Darcy McKeough, Jan Dubray, wife of the riding's Liberal president, said "This is a tough riding for Liberals and we haven't really had a good candidate in years."

Antaya said there are two "excellent" potential candidates, one public relations man and another young guy who would really give McKeough a tough time. What's his name? "It's Smith," Antaya said. "His name is Smith. I can't remember his first name, but he's really a well-known guy."

In any event, following the Chatham lunch (Dubray described the turnout of 40 as beyond his wildest dreams) Nixon managed to attract 38 people to a garden party -- the Liberals had predicted 200 would show -- an indication that the charisma which has swept him to two previous electoral defeats is still there.

The garden party followed a trip to a marina where about half a dozen Liberals and the marina manager watched him look at boats and a police-escorted dash through Wallaceburg through a red light to city hall where he met the mayor and a handful of citizens, then went on a tour of a new HOME subdivision project without ever getting out of the car to have a look at what the folks will be getting for their $22,000. Recent polls have shown Davis and his scandal-prone Tories do have serious troubles and Nixon probably does have the best chance ever to becoming the first Liberal premier since 1943.

So with his sights set high, he's travelling the province preaching against centralization -- regional government, regional school boards -- concepts he used to support until they were instituted and some of the folks screamed. He says if the Tories win again, "God help us," they'll regionalize the entire province. It's not necessarily true but it should scare a few voters his way.

After being introduced in Port Lambton as the one man in government who stands for honesty, integrity, steadfastness and concern for the little man, Nixon told the crowd that Davis pretends to be concerned about increased energy prices "yet the fact is, Bill Davis is approving an increase in Hydro rates of 33 per cent right now." That's simply not true stated in that fashion and Nixon knows it, although it's unlikely his audience did. But then a man on the way to the top can't be concerned about details.

There's not question Nixon does have a chance, an outside one, of becoming premier, thanks more to Tory blunders than his own efforts, but he still has to face the everyday reality of people like Ed Labadie of Chatham, who describes himself as a swing voter, and says, "I don't like McKeough all that much; he's too arrogant. And I'm not crazy about Davis either but who else is there? Will somebody tell me that?"

Potential future PM heads list of speakers

Miss Flora Macdonald, the federal Member of Parliament for Kingston and the Island who could become the first female prime minister of this country, will hit the list of women speakers at the ninth annual Peace Park Festival and Veteran's Memorial Service at the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park this year.

The park is located on King's Highway 7, near Tweed, and the festival takes place Saturday, July 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with the memorial service at 2 p.m.

All speakers will be female at this year's festival, as the Peace Park marks International Women's Year.

Miss Macdonald is seriously considering running for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada, and if she wins, would become the Official Leader of the Opposition to the Trudeau government.

Other speakers invited are Mrs. Margaret Campbell of St. George's riding, Toronto, and Mrs. Marian J. Laney, Q.C., of the World Peace Through Law Centre.

Other guests will include Jack Ellis, MP Hastings, and Clarke Rollins, MPP Hastings.

Harold Varty, former Hastings County warden, will represent the south-eastern senior citizens. Jennie Broadworth, president of the Madoc Club, and Charles McVila, vice-president of the Tweed Club, will represent their areas. As in previous years, all district senior citizens will be honored guests.

The arts, crafts, rockhound and hobby show and sale will be featured from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Memorial Service will be conducted by Rev. Capt. J. H. Thompson, rector of St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Madoc. Oscar Thurston, of the Tweed Legion branch, will be sergeant-at-arms for the raising of the flags and the two minutes of silence. The ladies auxiliaries of Tweed, Madoc and other branches are invited to take part in the service.

After the service there will be entertainment, games and contests.

The senior citizens will follow with a fashion show under the direction of Albert McTaggart, with Betty Foster commentator.

No admission is being charged.

Non-returnable bottles may soon be banned

The environmentalist's dream of banning non-returnable bottles and tin cans could soon become legislation.

By returning soft drinks containers to the stores, consumers would help make streets cleaner and conserve enough energy to heat 5,800 Ontario homes, claim proponents of the scheme.

Ontario Environment Minister William Newman recently warned the soft drinks industry to cut down its production of non-refillable containers within six months.

"If the industry fails to meet this schedule, Ontario will enact legislation to ensure our objections are met," he told an environmental conference.

Bailey's hot bat paces Madoc win

By KAREN JONES

Jane Bailey connected for five hits - two home runs, a triple and two singles - in leading Madoc Purinaettes to a 30-4 victory over Lakeside Oxygen at the Alemite Park, Belleville, last week.

Sandra Fleming got two doubles and three singles and Bonnie Jones connected with two doubles, a triple and a single.

Pitcher Darlene Bedore took the win for Madoc, striking out nine Lakeside batters and giving up only four hits. Norma MacQuarrie took the loss for Lakeside, getting three strikeouts.

A home game Thursday night against Ellis Construction was cancelled due to a tournament at Belleville.

The locals take on Lakeside Oxygen at the Madoc Ball Park Thursday at 8 p.m.

Madoc surprises

Madoc Purinaettes proved to be a surprise in the ladies softball tournament at Alemite Park and Centennial Secondary School, Belleville, over the weekend. Rated as one of the teams to beat in the three-day competition, the locals bowed out early losing their first two games.

Belleville Yardmen downed the locals 11-3 Friday night and Newmarket clobbered them 12-1.

Sandra Fleming and Darlene Bedore shared the first game loss, giving up 13 hits.

Sheila Alexander connected for a home run and single, and Carol McFarlane three singles, in pacing the Yardmen.

Brenda Hay doubled and singled, while Jane Bailey connected for three singles, to lead Madoc's offensive.

Sandra Fleming took the second game loss, giving up 12 hits.

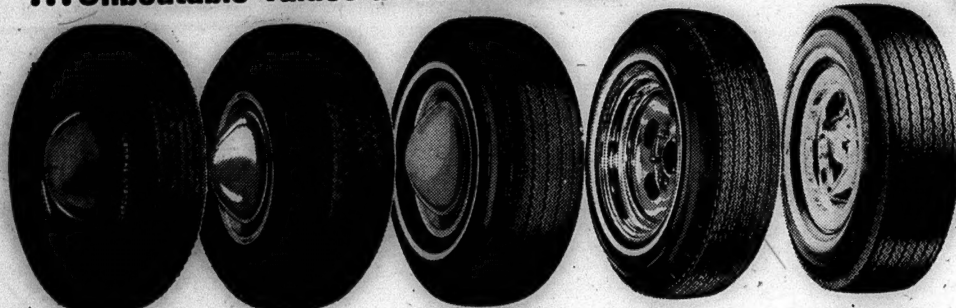

Madoc connected for only five, Bonnie Jones garnering two. Jane and Joan Bailey each connected for a double.

Oshawa McDonalds went on to win the affair, nipping the Yardmen 1-0 in the final game.

Teams participating were Belleville Yardmen, Madoc Purinaettes, Belleville Broadloom, Brighton, Oshawa, Newmarket, Kingston, Oakville, Ottawa and North Bendale.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, PO Box 267, Elms

People are born with a green thumb. Almost everything they touch will grow. My father was a grower for more than 40 years. As a greenhouse man, he grew some of the best cyclamen, snapdragon, stocks, geraniums — you name it — especially carnations, in Victoria County.

I did not inherit his abilities. Nor did anyone else in my family.

Everything we touch in the plant world tends to die. I have a box of begonias in the front garden. When we got them a month ago, they looked healthy enough to eat. Beautiful, delicate red blooms. Lush, dark green foliage. I followed the directions right to the letter. Dug the hole. Put a cupful of 20-20-20 fertilizer into the hole. Planted the begonias. Watered them.

In 10 days time, they looked like a cow had stepped on them.

Droopy. Off-color. Losing petals.

I even went out and talked to them a couple of times but they didn't like my voice.

Again, a sister-in-law gave us a couple of slips of ivy to brighten the house. Her vine has taken over the livingroom.

It winds around an archway, down the wall, across a chimney and up another wall. We thought the children of that vine would brighten our family room. We put them in a pot and they just sit there. They don't grow. They don't die. The just sit, green with envy as they look out the window at the grass.

I think the cat scared them. She — the cat — sat beside them in the window sill and nibbled at them now and again so they decided to remain almost hidden in the pot.

Vegetables are different. We can grow them. But not flowers.

I have a brother-in-law with a green thumb. Fact is, his whole hand is green. He talks to plants. He has them coming out his ears. He has a monstrous, ugly brute of a philodendron in his livingroom, a massive plant. No matter what my sister does to that plant, it continually grows out from the wall so that it can watch television.

Sometimes it hangs almost over the screen, especially during Mannix. Some shows, it doesn't bother watching. My sister has tied it to the wall with strong cord but it manages to hang over the screen for Mannix.

I don't know what will happen when that brute finds out that the Mannix shows have been cancelled by the network this year. I've never asked whether it likes re-runs.

That same brother-in-law has a garden that is lush and green throughout the growing season. He loves to go out and sing to them and he can't carry a tune in a locked suitcase. He takes an old kitchen broom out in the garden with him and strums it like a guitar. And he sings to those plants. They love it.

Some years ago, I took singing lessons and even if I do say so myself, I was Canada's answer to Enrico Caruso. Few people agreed with me, mind you, but I could at least carry a tune. All the plants at our place did wither and die when I sang to them.

A few years ago, we read an article in a gardening magazine about how to plant bulbs in pots at certain times of the year and have beautiful daffodils at Christmas time. We tried it. Followed all the directions. Nursed those things right from bulbs to puberty.

The green came up and then stopped. The flipping bulbs rotted in the soil until one day, my wife decided to scare them into growing.

She shouted Fire! Fire! Fire! Three times as loud as that.

To a stalk, those green shoots turned black and died. A fellow from the Madoc area has asked me where to buy fertilizer in a special mixture so he can follow the directions for his gardening efforts.

I'm sorry, sir. Taking gardening advice from me is like asking a child of three to explain Einstein's theory of relativity. Go to your closest farm supply store and let them guide you.

If you take my advice every plant in your garden will thumb its nose at you.

Expect sell-out for old time fiddlers contest

Some of Canada's top fiddlers and step dancers will be on hand for the seventh annual Old Time Fiddle Contest being sponsored by the Marmora Agricultural Society and Cross Country Jamboree, at the Marmora Arena on Saturday, July 5, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Headlining the show will be guest stars Harry and Harriett, sometimes known as Canada's own 'Sonny and Cher', and Canada's champion stepdancer, Donald Poirier from Chapeau, Quebec. Sean Ayre of Peterborough and Keith Tompkins of Marmora will emcee the show.

During the show a draw will be made for the winning ticket on a $100 bill or half a beef.

Last year's show was a sell-out and this year's promises to be also, so anyone wishing to get a good seat should be there early.

Something that is perhaps not generally known is that all the money collected from the $2 entry fees will be donated to some charity, to be chosen at a later date. Last year the money went to the Crippled Children's Society.

Insult to operators

"The cow-calf support program announced in the Legislature today by Eric Winkler, chairman of the Cabinet Management Board, is an insult to the cow-calf operators in Ontario."

This was the immediate reaction of Gordon Hill, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Hill said that a 50-cents-a-pound support price is unrealistic in the face of cost of production now running at 70-cents-a-pound.

"This is just another example of the Ontario government developing programs in isolation and then presenting their program as the last word in desirability and effectiveness," Hill commented.

"This government program will in no way assist cow-calf farmers who are desperately in need of ready cash right now to pay last year's bills.

"In fact, the government is callously saying that anyone who can survive to December, 1975, might receive a payment from the plan. Actually, survival will not be possible for many. Their operations will have to be liquidated to pay their current overdue bills.

"The government has turned a deaf ear to the appeals of the cow-calf farmers and of the OFA for a realistic, meaningful program, retroactive to April, 1974.

"The 50-cent program the government has offered is mere window dressing — a sham, a farce — and of no material benefit to those in greatest need."

New minister hopes to serve municipalities

Richard Beckett, 55, Ontario's new cabinet minister in charge of municipal affairs, says he hopes to be a troubleshooter for municipalities at Queen's Park. And 18 years of city politics - half of that as mayor of Brantford before entering the Legislature in 1971 - has given him a pretty good idea of the problems municipalities face.

Sworn in by Ontario Chief Justice G.A. Gale as minister without portfolio responsible for municipal affairs, he fills a post left vacant for more than eight months when Donald Irvine became housing minister.

Premier William Davis said the 27th member of this Cabinet will have "great flexibility" in making policy recommendations to the whole body.

But Beckett sees his new job as not much different from the work he has been doing. "The treasurer (Darcy McKeough) sets the policy and I will be assisting him in that," he told reporters.

"The one thing I'm particularly interested in is assisting the municipalities with their problems here such as legislation and any other troubleshooting it might be possible to do."

VIEWPOINT

"Honesty" is an old-fashioned word

By Garnet Pigden

One day last week a store clerk in Madoc who was counting out my change made the mistake of giving me 50 cents over the correct amount. I pointed out the error and returned the extra change. She smiled and said, "It's not often you find an honest fellow these days."

That reply stirred me to thinking about honesty and is it really difficult to find an honest person today? And, am I truly honest?

"Honesty" is an old-fashioned word that includes such admirable things as responsibility, duty and respect for values. Religiously speaking, it can be defined as a cardinal virtue, "Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness."

Honesty in perspective is very rarely studied. History and experience have taught us the benefit of being honest, but there are many who recognize an ideal and still fail to practise it.

Out of each individual's personal values and conceptions in perceiving what is right and wrong to do, honesty is born. What is "Right"? When we were pre-schoolers and grade-schoolers the "Golden Rule" was constantly being thrust upon us. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

If a person believes this and has qualities of sincerity, frankness, integrity and truthfulness, then he has the immovable foundations of an honest person. He who speaks with a closed mind, having not researched the facts nor listened to different opinions, is not practising honesty.

Perhaps, this person sounds a little too perfect. Maybe I am moralizing too much. If you are an honest person then you probably do not need to read this article, but wouldn't you like to learn just a bit more about it?

Honesty is the essential quality in building trust among friends, families, societies and nations. It would be difficult to imagine what life would be like if we were to give up such a fundamental rule of conduct.

In dealing with people honesty plays hand-in-hand with another virtue, justice. This not only means being faithful to contracts and laws, but also in our relationships with others, including the obligation to speak truthfully.

All too often we regard policemen, clergy and teachers as the models of honesty. Because we do not see ourselves as such classified idols, we rationalize when we commit small untruths, especially when our own self-interests prove too strong for our code of ethics.

Politicians many times break the code of democratic ethics by "pulling the wool over the eyes" of the voters. The recent Watergate scandal is still fresh in the minds of many people. This was just one of the probably many political wrong doings where a leader deliberately mislead the public.

Public servants ought to speak honestly, to help the nation and their represented constituency. Promises made by politicians or anyone in speeches, letters or advertisements should be fulfilled to the detail. There should be neither exceptions nor excuses.

If you say you're going to do something the do it, if it is possible. If it isn't, you shouldn't have promised your services. However, once you do vow, do not procrastinate, do as soon as possible that which you have promised.

The style in which we express our honesty will decide whether or not we are understood clearly. Our gracefulness or charm in the telling of facts will make them more pleasant to read or to hear, but we should not speak in a roundabout manner nor in flowery language. Simplicity and precision should be practised always if we wish to be frank and significant. Young people being interviewed for a job should be aware that if they speak simply, factually and clearly their chances of landing the job increases.

Even in writing letters, one should never mislead the reader, for in doing so the reader will lose respect for the sender.

To tell the truth should be natural and not something of which to boast. If it is merely living up to the insight into what is right and wrong, a quality developed a little differently in all persons. Everyone lives by his own set of morals and values and he is unique in his interpretation of honesty.

The value of truth is too clear to be questioned by intelligent people. Ignorant people may feel truth is a burden which they do not wish to carry; malicious people may distort it in the hope of doing harm; thieves may see it as a hindrance to their trade. Whether by purpose or negligence, dishonesty is a loser's game. And this game is often played with the ball of exaggeration.

Exaggeration, which is a form of ignorance or dishonesty, or both, weakens what we say and destroys confidence in our opinions. An educated man will have the impulse to exaggerate benefits and minimize drawbacks as will an ignorant man, but being intelligent he should be able to control them better.

Can there be circumstances where deliberately distorting the truth is acceptable? Yes. A doctor may have to practise deception in order to protect his patients; a lawyer and a minister may have to entertain secrecy and keep confidences under conditions where it might be a common citizen's duty to reveal them. Is a man who is captured as a spy during war time not free from sin when he chooses to lie?

Are there different ways of measuring honesty in different people? To determine the black from the white, is the responsibility of the individual. He must decide as to whether or not special degrees or rules of honesty are applicable in the situation.

In conclusion, honesty is not only the best policy, but is one of the most admirable of human attributes. In Shakespeare's Hamlet, Act II, Scene 2, Hamlet states: "Ay, sir, to be honest as this world goes is to be one man picked out of ten thousand." It is a shame that such men are hard to find.

Some people say that in this day and age chivalry is dead. But this is not true for honesty is among the chivalries and there are people in today's society who are chivalrous. They are the people who have the firmness and virtue to maintain the most enviable of all titles: the character of an honest man.

As we see it...

The budget! Ugh!

Mr. Average Joe Citizen is none too happy about the federal budget brought down by Finance Minister John Turner in the House of Commons last week.

The levelling of a 10 cents per gallon tax on gasoline hits virtually everyone in the pocketbook.

Many are bound to feel it.

Senior citizens are a prime example. While various levels of government are shelling out an added dollar or two here and there to help the oldest meet the ever-increasing cost of living, Mr. Turner takes a good portion of it back through the added gas tax.

Is this the 'just society' Prime Minister Trudeau talked about during his early years in office? If it is, it is little wonder we haven't been hearing much about a 'just society' lately.

Another phase about the budget that hits home is the federal government's decision to cut back on medical aid to the provinces; it (during the Pearson regime) pushed through a medicare program, and now that the provinces are all going along with it, it apparently wants to opt out.

Could it be that the feds are finding government social programs just too expensive to continue? We don't doubt it.

The energy tax introduced in the budget runs directly contrary to what the provincial Conservative Government is trying to do.

In the provincial budget, the retail sales tax was cut from seven to five percent, in a bid to stimulate the economy.

Outright housing grants, to first time home owners, were triple that being offered by the federal government, in an effort to prompt more housing starts.

And yet, the federal budget did little in the way to supplement the Ontario program.

It would appear as if Premier William Davis has, in the federal budget, an ideal issue on which to campaign in the next provincial election.

And if he calls it over the issue, we certainly wouldn't blame him.

The people of Ontario are behind him nearly 100 per cent in his dislike of the federal budget.

Unfortunately, the budget could override the real issues in the campaign...the issues of where the Davis government has been leading us over the past four years.

The Liberal and NDP opposition in this province have some good points in their criticisms of the Davis administration, and they should be weighed when deciding how to vote in the election.

But like it or not, the Liberal government in Ottawa is going to be a factor in the upcoming campaign.

And as Ontario Liberal Leader Robert Nixon is finding out, 'With friends like Trudeau, who needs enemies?'

Depression fever

At times one wonders if the media, press and radio are not intent upon thrusting the dreaded depression down the people's throats. They quote unemployment and depression percentages and talk stridently about the depression's threat to this western world's high standard of living. It sounds almost as if these so-called signs of economic crisis are for deserved faults we've committed against the sacred principles of that clay-footed god, our present economic set-up. Press and radio sound almost glad, if somewhat depressed, as if the world is getting something it eminently deserves. All these threats of doom are so strong and so all-knowing.

Let's take a look at one of these threatened evils - the lowering of this western civilization's present high standard of living. What's so wrong about lowering it? What would be lost? Certainly nothing that really matters. We would certainly learn to be more discriminatory - to judge by quality, rather than transient fads - to cut out those things we may have grown accustomed to, but don't really need.

Some are already doing this unconsciously. Note the number of people who pause nowadays to conscientiously read content labels, and compare ounces. How very empty the store shelves would become if all the products which are simply over-refinements of foods, and cleaning conveniences to save time and effort, were removed. The modern fast pace of living has made these products seem necessities.

With depression and work shortages, people would have more time and these so-called necessities would disappear. While none of these changes would work drastic differences in our standard of living, they would certainly reduce the sheer cost of living. Why not give it a try? Perhaps it may help to lower the inflationary cost of ordinary necessities, such as potatoes, eggs, milk and sugar.

Looking back

47 years ago

Mr. W. J. Nugent left this week for Blind River where he will open a new store for the government Liquor Control Board. Mr. Nugent, who has been for the past year General Inspector of Permits under the LCA has been promoted to Inspector of Government Stores for Eastern Ontario under General Manager Birmingham. For six years Mr. Nugent served as provincial officer and OTA Inspector with headquarters in Madoc. For convenience on handling the duties of his new office, he will reside in Trenton where he has taken a house and Mrs. Nugent and daughter are already installed.

Rev. N. R. Stout was unanimously elected as Rural Dean of Hastings at a Deanery meeting held here and last week received the confirmation of the same from the Bishop of the Diocese.

24 years ago

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Smith entertained for Robert McGhee on the occasion of his 90th birthday at their home Tuesday, June 26, 1951. Mr. McGhee was the recipient of many gifts and flowers for which he wished to thank his many friends, also to those who called to extend their good wishes.

Workmen have been busy these past few days installing metal posts on which will appear, neatly and attractively, the street names in Campbellford, at all intersections. This will complete the task of marking both houses and streets for the benefit particularly of strangers and those making deliveries within the town.

Canadian water skiing champions performed expertly though weather and water conditions did not meet with their approval. Hundreds lined the beach to see this exhibition of the top water skiers in Canada. Norma Gordon brought several of her pupils from the new water skiing school she opened up in the Kawartha District. They were in the pink of condition after teaching water skiing all winter at Nassau in the Bahamas. All in all, Crystal Beach enjoyed one of its largest crowds in history.

The hardball game between Norwood and Herman was a thriller and kept the crowd around the ball diamond most of the afternoon. The Herman team came out the victors and Ray Burris of Ray's Sport Shop presented the captain of the Herman team with the winning prize. It was just another of the successful events that have been held at Crystal Beach in the last few years.

15 years ago

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johnson recently sold their home and restaurant business on

with Karen Jones

Highway 7, west of Madoc village, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Timbell, of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who are well known in Madoc and district, built this property four years ago and previously operated restaurants at Eldorado and east of Actinolite on Highway 7. At one time they lived in Madoc village where Mr. Johnson was village policeman. The Johnsons have leased a small farm two miles west of Stirling where they intend making their home.

On Wednesday morning, June 22, 1950, at 9 a.m., Rev. J. E. Trainor offered a mass of thanksgiving for Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Riordan on the occasion of their Golden Anniversary. Following mass, a dinner was served to the family at The Log Cabin restaurant. In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. O'Riordan received their many friends and relatives who called at their home to offer congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. O'Riordan were married 50 years ago in St. Carthage's Church, Tweed, by Father Quinn. Mr. O'Riordan has operated a grocery business in Madoc for 44 years. A son, Robert, is now a partner in the business.

New easy transportation has potential

Executive spokesmen for Quinte Local Government, organized by Hastings MP Jack Ellis, had an on-the-spot opportunity recently to weight the potential of a new method of easy, inter-urban transportation.

The group examined in detail the possibilities of STOL, the industrial identity for Short Take-Off and Landing, both in the air and on the ground.

Mr. Ellis arranged a flight for elected and management heads of councils in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, including Belleville and Trenton, with DeHavilland Aircraft, a leading world manufacturer of STOL aircraft, from Trenton to Toronto.

"The objective," said Mr. Ellis, "was to demonstrate to Quinte Municipal spokesmen, the possibilities of STOL Air Services linking their small communities to the major urban centres."

"Because air facilities in this part of Canada are mainly designed for larger aircraft, the STOL innovation might fill a need for rapid centre-to-centre transportation," he said.

With its design drastically cutting take-offs and landings, DeHavilland's STOL needs only about 2,000 feet of runway, such an aircraft can land close to city centres.

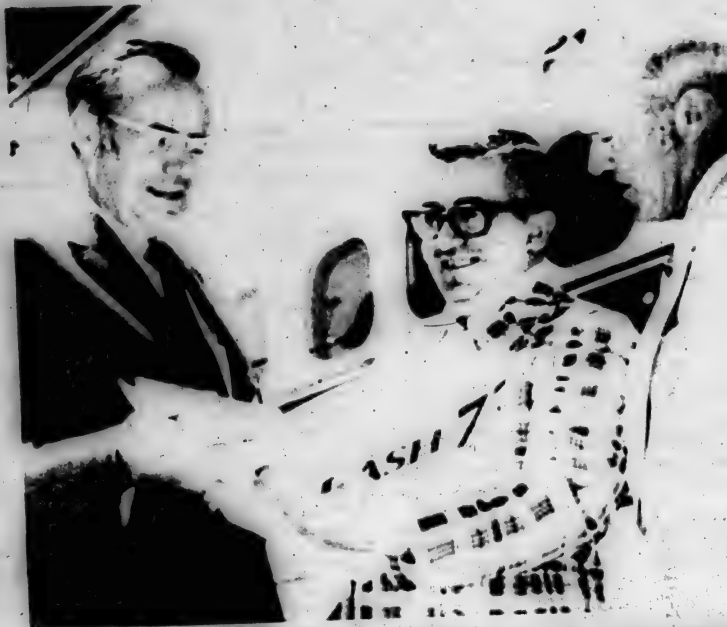

"By abolishing the time spent travelling between major airports and downtown centres, it thus becomes a form of rapid commuter service for those requiring it," said Mr. Ellis.

At present there are no smaller air services linking the Quinte District with major urban centres.

The airflight demonstrated what Mr. Ellis was endeavoring to emphasize.

The trip from CFB Trenton aboard a Twin Engine Otter took 41 minutes to Toronto Island Airport, only a few minutes ferry ride from downtown Toronto.

Later the group was flown out to DeHavilland's production facility at nearby Downsview. There they also had the chance to view DeHavilland's latest aircraft, the 50-seat Dash 7, still being test-flown and designed for STOL services.

The Dash 7, despite the fact it can carry almost triple the passenger load of the Otter, maintains the smaller aircraft's short take off and landing features and is extremely quiet.

"The Twin Otter already has sold well both in North America and overseas because of its STOL features," Gil Dunkin, DeHavilland's Market Division Co-ordinator told the municipal officials.

Decentralization of industry and urban living had seen a growing need for such air services, he said.

"In Canada STOL has been in daily use since July 1974 as a commuter aircraft between central Ottawa and Toronto, drastically cutting the time needed by use of other transportation to reach the same destinations," he said.

"However, the success of a similar service linking smaller Ontario communities to Toronto, depended on retaining Toronto Island Airport, just offshore from the Metropolis' downtown," he said.

It was suggested to the Quinte Local Government representatives that, if they had been satisfied with the STOL demonstration, they petition senior governments to retain the Island Airport.

Mr. Ellis said "the municipal representatives, as a result of the trip, might now 'seriously consider' how they might get a service such as shown to them operating between Belleville and the major centres of Toronto and Montreal.

This was the purpose of the whole day and I'm sure they were sufficiently impressed. Now they have to take the initiative if they wish to institute such a service."

Announce purchase for new church

NORWOOD - Rev. Robert Donnan, pastor of the Norwood Pentecostal Church, has announced the purchase of a parcel of land at Concession 8, Lot 20 in Asphodel township where the congregation plans to erect a new church to serve the needs of this area.

The 23-acre property was purchased from Phil Armstrong, of RR 1, Norwood. His present house on this property will become the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Donnan.

SHOULD BE THE YOUNGEST Today's Child

BY HELEN ALLEN

Ross has just turned eight. A slender youngster with light brown hair, dark eyes and fair skin, he is in good general health despite a tendency to colds and sore throats.

A systolic heart murmur has been checked but does not appear significant. It was suggested he be seen again in a couple of years and there is no restriction on his present activities. Ross is deaf in the right ear, but this does not cause problems for him even in class.

After some early problem in school, Ross did well this year in grade two. He likes school and his teacher said he was one of her favorite pupils.

Ross gets on well with children and is friendly with adults though cautious about bestowing his affections. His foster parents say he is a charming, lovable child.

Ross will be a fine son for parents who can combine warmth and firmness and give him time to believe he is really their son. He should be the youngest in the family.

To inquire about adopting Ross, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter please tell something of your present family and your way of life. For general adoption information consult your local Children's Aid Society.

Proposed Shrine

An artist's drawing shows the proposed Mother's Shrine and Tower of Hope at the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park on Highway 7 near Tweed.

The Mother's Shrine and Tower of Hope, to be built when funds are available, will provide shelter for visitors to the park and a magnificent view of the surrounding area.

When built the Shrine will be a tourist attraction in the district. An announcement will be made regarding this at the 9th annual festival Saturday, July 19.

College graduate

Debbie A. Declair, of 18 Livingston St., Madoc, was one of more than 1,300 students last week who received their diplomas or certificates during three separate convocations at Humber College's North Campus in Rexdale.

Debbie graduated from a Retail Floriculture course.

The graduating class represents one of the largest in the history of community colleges in Ontario.

Here 'n there around Madoc

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Holland, Doug and Kevin, of Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Boyle, of Orleans, spent a weekend recently camping on Silver Lake.

Mrs. P. Godfrey, of Chicago, Mrs. Richard K' Burg, of Guadalajara, Mexico, and John McGuire, of Toronto, spent a few days last week with their aunt Agnes Walsh and uncle Aloysius and Dr. J. L. Walsh.

Maurice Goulah reports having good luck fishing in the Claire River the past two weeks. He has had several muskies strike and has landed some good-sized pike and pickerel, the largest of which was an 8-pounder.

$800 damage in accident

A westbound car apparently went out of control Sunday afternoon, rolling over and sending its driver to hospital.

Gary Charles Adams, 18, of Consecon, was taken to Belleville General Hospital with possible fractures.

The accident occurred on the Bethel Road, 1 1/4 miles east of Highway 37. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $800.

Madoc teacher selected for workshop

Gary Gruhl, 303 St. Lawrence Street East, Madoc, a geography and geology teacher at Quinte Secondary School, Belleville, has been selected to attend the Shell Canada Earth Science Workshop at the University of Western Ontario in London this summer. The four-week course beginning July 7, will be conducted by the Geology Department of the University.

Mr. Gruhl obtained his B.A. (Hon.) in Geography and Geology from Brock University, St. Catharines, in 1970 and his B.Ed. from the University of Toronto in 1971. Before entering Brock University, Mr. Gruhl worked in production planning in industry and also in municipal planning. He is a native of Welland.

The objective of the workshops is to foster and improve the teaching of earth science in Canadian schools at pre-university levels in order to promote increased student interest and motivation to continue along the same line of study in universities.

Taken to hospital

Two Marmora area youths and two Scarborough youths were taken to Belleville General Hospital late Sunday following a single-car accident on the Cordova Road, 12 miles north of Highway 7 between Marmora and Havelock.

Wayne Joseph Lajoie, 16, of RR 2, Marmora, the driver of the car, and Russell Izzard, 19, of RR 1, Marmora, were admitted to hospital.

Two other passengers in the car, John Lafferton, 16, and Fred Lafferton, 19, were both treated and released.

According to police, the southbound car apparently went out of control and struck a concrete bridge abutment. The vehicle was considered a write-off, valued at $3,000.

The workshop was first held in 1970. It was financially supported on an annual basis until 1972 by various organizations, the Canadian Geological Foundation and the Geological Survey of Canada. Shell took over complete sponsorship in 1973 on a trial three-year basis at a cost of $42,000.

Shell has placed increased emphasis on Canadian content and has greatly expanded the program of field trips as a practical knowledge of geological work. The participants share in a learning situation with fellow teachers from other parts of Canada and are invited to contribute their own experience to the group.

The Shell grant covers all operating costs of the program and participants receive accommodation and meals, return travel allowance to London and living expenses on field trips.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: Hi there. My problem is a very common one! I have a Big Crush on one of my teachers. I don't think he knows it but it hurts me so much. I don't know why it hurts but it just does. And also, I'm not able to do classwork or homework 'cause all I can do is think about him. What should I do? Just wait until I don't have the crush anymore? Or something else?

OUR REPLY: As is usually the case your answer is inherent in the question. Or, in other words, you are more able to answer your own question than you might think. You could wait until you don't have the crush anymore—or, you could do something else. Do whatever you feel the best about doing. You are obviously an intelligent person, capable of managing your own affairs. Don't hesitate to share what's going on with you with your loved ones. Especially if the situation is upsetting you. If it's not, there's really nothing to worry about.

There are two types of yeast available: dry and compressed. During the manufacturing process of dry yeast, it is passed through a dryer which makes the yeast cells dormant and more durable. Thus this form of yeast may be stored at home several months in a dry, cool place.
Compressed yeast is different. It is a moist mixture and requires refrigeration to prevent spoilage. When it looks dried-out and dark you know it has become ineffective.

Five more charges, Madoc Summerfest brawl

Madoc provincial police this week reported charges laid against five more people following a brawl at Madoc's recent Summerfest.

Randy William Lowery, 19, of Marmora, has been charged with assaulting a police officer and causing a disturbance.

Debra Harris, 20, of Marmora, has been charged with causing a disturbance.

Randall Downey, 19, of Madoc, has been charged with causing a disturbance.

Phillip Allore, 29, of Belleville, has been charged with causing a disturbance.

The name of a 13th person being charged is being withheld by police.

All are due to appear in provincial court in Madoc September 9.

The charges now total: nine for causing a disturbance; six for assaulting a police officer; and two for obstructing police.

Damaged beyond recognition is the Toyota which was involved in Friday night's two-car collision on Hwy. 7 west of here.

Three people died in the crash. The other car involved in the accident is directly behind it.

Three killed, two hurt 'worst accident' seen

Three men were killed late Friday night and two more were seriously injured in what several provincial police officers described as the worst accident they had ever encountered since coming on the force.

Dead are Larry Dean Phillips, 26, of 39 Pearce St., Marmora; William Harold Murray, 26, of 29 Charlotte St., Belleville; and Kenneth Foreman, 19, of Kingston.

Injured are James Nobes, 28, of 16 North Hastings St., Marmora, and Michael Francis O'Connell, 70, of RR 4, Madoc.

Madoc provincial police said Phillips had been the driver of an eastbound compact car that collided in the east lane of Highway 7, near the Whispering Pines Restaurant, with a second vehicle, driven by O'Connell, who was alone in his car at the time of the accident.

The Phillips car came to rest in a mud-filled ditch beside the highway where police attempted to remove the occupants. Unable to open the door, they were forced to use a tractor and chain from a nearby resident to tear the door off.

Phillips and Murray were both pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. Foreman was taken to Belleville General Hospital and was later transferred to Kingston General Hospital where he died a short time later of head injuries.

Nobes was taken to Belleville General Hospital in serious condition and O'Connell was taken to the same hospital with serious chest injuries.

Both cars were completely destroyed in the accident.

Township taxes jump by 33-36 mills

An increase over last year of 33.37 mills for residential ratepayers, and 36.02 mills for business and commercial ratepayers was announced last week as the Madoc township council set their mill rates for 1975.

According to the council, the taxes will be considerably higher, due mainly to higher requisitions demanded by the County and School Board.

Taxes this year will be due September 30.

The mill rates for 1975 are:

	Residential	Commercial
Township	30.32	35.67
County	32.95	38.77
Public School	36.45	40.50
Separate School	47.48	52.76
Total Public	127.49	145.80
Total Separate	138.52	158.06

DIES AS RESULT

Dog saves master

An RR 1, Parham man had a close brush with a rabid wolf recently while walking in his fields.

Kenneth Bush, who raises Hereford cattle on a large spread five miles north of Parham, was walking with his herd's dog when the wolf attacked.

The animal got within three feet of Bush before the dog, a collie, intervened. In the ensuing fight, Mr. Bush escaped up a tree.

The wolf ran off but not before rearing off the dog's nose, forcing the animal to be destroyed.

When the wolf proved to be rabid, Mr. Bush and several neighbors formed a hunting party to try to track the animal but were without success.

Tax rebate new cars

Residents of the Madoc area, like other people throughout the province, will be able to save an estimated $175. on the purchase of most North American built new cars.

A supplement to the Province of Ontario's budget, introduced in Queen's Park this week, decrees that provincial sales tax on the new vehicles will be given back in cash rebates.

There was good news for wine drinkers too - the government has lowered markups on imported and domestic wines.

$750 damage in accident

Damage was estimated by police at $750 Sunday afternoon in a three-car accident on Highway 62, at the Bannockburn Roadside Park.

A southbound vehicle, driven by Joseph Lessard, 29, of Eldorado, was towing a second car, driven by Shayne Ray, of Bannockburn, when the two collided with a third vehicle, driven by Murray Leavitt, of Montreal, P. Q.

The Lessard vehicle, apparently out of control, struck 12 guide posts and two guide sticks, totalling $150 damage.

The Leavitt car escaped damage but repairs to the other two cars were estimated at $600.

Seek more senior citizens housing here

At Monday night's meeting of the Madoc Village council, a motion was made to request the Ministry of Housing to conduct a survey for the need and demand for additional rent-geared-to-income Senior Citizen Housing in Madoc as the recently-completed units on Wellington Street are nearly all occupied. It is expected that the Townships of Huntingdon, Madoc and Tudor and Cashel will participate with the Village in the proposed project.

It was also agreed at the meeting that permission be granted the Madoc Lawn Bowling Club to extend their building on Village property.

Madoc woman hurt in crash

An RR 4, Madoc woman was taken to Belleville General Hospital in fair condition Monday evening following a single-car accident on Highway 7, two miles east of Marmora.

Marion Bronson, 45, apparently lost control of her car, struck a guide post and entered the roadside ditch.

She was taken to hospital with knee and neck injuries.

Damage to her car was estimated at $1,000.

Cleaning up act

Davis Gov't in full gear

By Don Fredericks

The Davis government is in full gear these days trying to clean up its act to present its best face to Ontario voters.

The high-priced public relations flacks have been scurrying around in the background recommending special inquiries, sending Premier Bill on an endless round of speaking tours and assessing every government move in relation to votes.

So far, they have been picking up a few yards but some of them have been relatively costly. For instance, the announcement that Judy LaMarsh, a former Trudeau and Pearson cabinet minister, had been hired at $250 a day to investigate TV violence gained far more criticism than praise.

With nice-guy Globe & Mail columnist Scott Young hired at $180 a day to help her dress up the report in entertaining prose, the Davis flacks thought they couldn't lose. So much for the hucksters; criticism has been heavy.

The real question that emanates from this gimmickry is the need for a royal commission inquiry in Ontario to investigate the mounting power and cancerous growth of organized crime.

Gadfly millionaire socialist Morty Shulman, despite getting his facts snarled at times, probably knows more about the ins-and-outs of organized crime in this province than any member of an elected body.

In the Legislature one evening recently, the good Doctor Shulman urged Attorney-General John Clement to appoint an overall royal commission to probe the entire scene of organized crime.

"The Davis government might as well avoid waffling on the need for the inquiry -- they are going to be forced to appoint one sooner or later -- and it might as well be sooner," commented Shulman later.

"Evidence is piling up at Quebec's crime probe that organized crime does not stop at the Ontario border -- the tainted meat operation, the loansharking, the big-time frauds and drug operations go on here with the big guys making millions," he continued.

Clement did waffle. He did what his predecessors had done, of course. He said the government might "some day" appoint such an inquiry. "But I can't stand here tonight and say yes, I think that's good and we will have it right away," he said.

Then he gave a clue to one of the key reasons why an honest-to-goodness royal commission inquiry into mob crime draws much cold water.

"I wouldn't want to see a royal commission start if it was going to in fact impede certain matters that are at present under progress -- I can tell you that," said the A-G, who also is the solicitor-general in charge of the province's police forces.

What he didn't say but he certainly knows, is that most police chiefs and their top aides are by nature suspicious and jealous of public inquiries that they cannot control.

They live in a world of investigations, tips and information that they guard from the prying eyes of the press and the general public.

No one in top police posts would deny that the files of the Ontario police commission, the local police departments and the RCMP are bulging with detailed information on organized crime activities in Ontario.

Year after year, they've piled up the information. The disappointing thing is that few of the top leaders of organized crime in this province are ever charged, tried and convicted for the lucrative and destructive criminal conspiracies.

The trouble is that the organized boys have purposely designed operation -- often with high-priced legal and accountancy advice -- that separates them from being traced to the actual crimes.

But one thing the organized crime leaders cannot stand is the harsh glare of publicity. This is something that a public royal commission inquiry permits.

For instance, the Quebec crime probe has been shocking the nation as it unravels the tainted meat mess that has been operating there for years under the control of the Cotroni Mafia family and other elements of organized crime.

Another probe there showed the terrorist control that organized crime has had in the construction industry unions.

What makes Bill Davis and John Clement feel secure that Ontario is relatively free of the Mob's clutches?

Clement's views have been noted, but Toronto police commission chairman C.O. Bick was not enthusiastic about an Ontario probe. As almost a reaction to the demands for a probe, the Toronto police announced recently that the intelligence and morality branches were being brought under the direct control of Chief Harold Adamson.

The police just don't want the thing to get out of their direct control. But as Quebec and other U.S. jurisdictions have proven, public inquiries force the mob leaders to take the witness stand. Their names get mentioned, their answers get noted, and their various activities are publicized. Charges often follow; reforms do follow.

No matter how Premier Bill looks at the picture, the precedents and the results both here and elsewhere are overwhelming. If the government wants to convince the Ontario voters that they mean business, that they'll use every weapon to get at the big boys, then a full-fledged royal commission inquiry is the best answer.

Remarkable change in Premier Bill

In the past six months a most remarkable change has taken place in Premier Bill Davis' legislative performance.

It is no secret that the premier has never been very comfortable in the chamber and for many months his only appearance has been during the daily question period. There he used to give thoughtful replies to Opposition questions but since the Tories recent collapse in the polls he has become increasingly testy and ill tempered at any hostile questions.

Bob Nixon seems especially prone to arouse the Premier's ire and now just about any question from the Liberal leader brings a response which somehow manages to both ignore the question and berate the Liberals viewpoint and policies.

Nixon is the only member who regularly receives this type of response from the Premier but no one is immune.

Last week a report appeared in the New York Times pointing out that a political jurisdiction that runs a deficit two years in a row is in financial danger and that a deficit of five per cent considered a warning signal.

Inasmuch as Ontario has run a deficit for several years and that this year it is in excess of 20 per cent, one of the NDP members became very alarmed at our financial situation and asked the Premier to comment on the New York Times report.

The Premier replied: "Knowing the political philosophy that the party the member represents there is no way we should be influenced in any economic or cultural way by the United States. If it happened to be a news report, of course I would be delighted to have the basis for that news report; I would only say they should look to their own problems -- they don't need to worry about us -- we look after our own."

I think this province is in trouble.

Gas lower than most!

Motorists in Ontario will be able to enjoy lower gasoline prices longer than most Canadians -- likely until after a fall provincial election -- thanks to a 90-day price freeze by Premier William Davis.

The freeze, accompanied by a one-man royal commission, applies to the five-cent a gallon increases on gasoline and heating oil due to come into effect August 15, but not to the 10-cent-a-gallon hikes already in effect.

The price increases were imposed on Canadians in federal Finance Minister John Turner's June 23 budget and the Davis freeze will mean that the oil companies will have to pick up the extra nickel per gallon for Ontario consumers for as long as the freeze lasts.

The legislation introduced also contains provisions to extend the freeze beyond 90 days if the oil companies can't justify further increases.

It follows meetings Davis held with officials of the seven major oil companies during which he asked them to voluntarily hold back on price increases beyond the 45 days (from July 1) included in Turner's budget.

The federal budget raised the price of crude oil from $6.90 to $8 a barrel, an increase which would result in at least five cents more at the pumps.

Davis said he did not have the power to stop the 10-cent excise tax, but again attacked it as "unnecessary," and imposed for no other reason than "the propensity of the government of Canada to consumer money."

Davis said Ontario will not tolerate the increases until it feels they are justified, adding the companies will have to explain their position to the royal commissioner -- whom he did not name -- and the commissioner will then be able to recommend procedures to deal with further price hikes which the federal government "may attempt to impose upon the consumers of Ontario next year or in subsequent years."

Davis said the oil companies have some legitimate problems and he hoped they would not challenge his new legislation in the courts, adding: "I don't think they're going to accept it with enthusiasm."

The legislation surprised NDP leader Stephen Lewis because of Davis' long-standing opposition to interfering directly with oil company pricing policies.

When Davis announced the freeze, Lewis and his colleagues joined the Conservatives in thumping their desks in approval, while the Liberals, embarrassed by the unpopular actions on their federal counterparts, occupied themselves by hurling insults across the floor, trying to drown Davis out.

Afterwards, Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said the legislation was "an appropriate thing for the province to do." He said the freeze should be extended beyond the 90 days so it will help people out once the heating season starts.

Lewis said he was thrilled that the legislation "violates the most sacred of all Tory principles -- that being that you never fix a price, but you let the market take care of it."

Lewis said he would have liked to see Davis roll back the 10-cent excise tax, but added, "it's pretty tentative, but it's a start."

Meanwhile the major oil companies reacted with anger and disappointment to the 90-day freeze.

Jerry McAfee, president of Gulf Oil Canada Ltd., said the province's decision "may serve a short-term political purpose, but only to the detriment of the oil industry's ability to adequately provide for the future energy needs of Ontario and the rest of Canada."

He said Premier Davis forgot to pass a law "making it economic to buy $8 oil and sell it for $6.50."

McAfee said he told Davis that the 45-day delay proposed by the federal government would cost Gulf Oil at least $6 million as the company would have to replenish stocks in Ontario with higher-priced gas. He said the provincial government's decision, depending on how long the freeze lasts, will increase the company's cost in Ontario by two or three times that figure -- costs that will eventually be recovered in the marketplace.

George Bevan, vice-president of marketing for Shell Canada Ltd., said: "While appreciating the political circumstances in Ontario, we note with dismay that the Ontario Government has taken action in introducing yet another level of price control in uniquely-controlled industry."

Bevan said oil companies are in a "squeeze between a consuming province and the federal government."

Shell has about 80 days supply of oil purchased at the lower price. A spokesman for Texaco Canada said the firm has about 30 days supply of gasoline and the freeze "puts us in a position of having higher raw material and other increasing costs on the one hand and a freeze on product prices on the other."

J.A. Armstrong, chairman of Imperial Oil Ltd., said in a statement the freeze will cost the company an additional $70 million to finance inventory costs.

"This means that $70 million less is available to finance the rising costs for exploration and development at the very time when Canada is confronted with energy uncertainty."

"The Ontario Government's argument on energy policy is not with the oil industry but with other governments."

This bounty found money

Payment of the $25 wolf bounty to Jim Cuddy was authorized by Marmora and Lake Townships Council, even though Mr. Cuddy neither shot or trapped the animal, but found it dead on a road, a victim of a car accident, presumably.

Council okayed the bounty, when it was pointed out by Councillor Joe McGrath that Council had not specified that the bounty was contingent on the wolf being shot or trapped.

Service station didn't leave keys in car

A stolen car story which appeared in this newspaper last week indicated that the service station that had been repairing the vehicle had left the keys in it after returning same to its owner.

Such apparently was not the case. The keys were returned to the owner, the station reports, and then the owner used the vehicle, leaving the keys inside when he was finished. It was then the auto was stolen.

highway, apparently went out of control and struck the church and rectory damaging railings and some siding.

Danyi escaped injury but his car received an estimated $150 damage.

Madoc youth pull out of tourist bureau

The four young people operating the Marmora Tourist information Booth have run into a problem which has resulted in a decision to reduce the number of hours the booth will operate.

In reporting on the situation to Marmora village council Monday evening, Councillor Gordon Bennett said the two young people from Madoc had indicated they were unwilling or unable to come to Marmora to help in the operation of the booth because they needed the time to work on a history of Madoc. Preparation of a history of Madoc and Marmora and the operation of the booth were combined in the application the four made to the Opportunities For Youth program.

Marmora village donated about $600, Marmora and Lake townships gave $200 and the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Association chipped in with $100 to help the young people build the booth when the grant was approved.

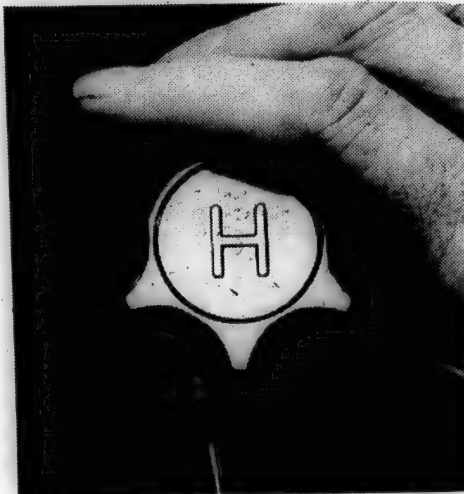

Mr. Bennett said he was asked to attend a meeting last Wednesday with the students and the OFY projects manager to discuss the situation and learned from him the booth was not mentioned in the contract the government had given him.

Mr. Bennett said he felt the young people had been misled somewhere along the line, adding the two projects shouldn't have been combined. It would be impossible for the two Marmora students to operate the booth themselves, he said, and so he had contacted Hastings MP Jack Ellis to see if he could arrange for a group of senior citizens to be paid for operating it, similar to a booth operated in Madoc last year. Mr. Ellis is looking into the possibility of this being done.

It was decided at last Wednesday's meeting that Jim Airhart and Anita Wisti would operate the booth on weekends. The new hours are from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and from noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Bennett indicated that the booth, to be effective, should be manned at least eight hours a day. A member of the Highlands of Tourist Association, Mr. Bennett said the organization had supplied brochures and a display rack for the booth, as well as the money, in order to encourage the tourist industry in the Marmora area.

Reeve Jack Reynolds commented "I'm very disappointed to hear of the shortened hours. It seems to me that the tourist booth will not be adequately serving the tourists who may need assistance."

Use hot water wisely Save energy...Save money

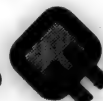

Apart from home heating, a family usually consumes the most energy in producing hot water. Here are just a few small things you can do, that can add up to a considerable energy saving. Turn off hot water taps so they don't drip, fill clothes washers to match the size of the load, wait until you have a full load before using a dishwasher and remember showers usually require less hot water than baths. Try not to use more hot water than you need.

Highest achievement

Bill Bateman receives General Motors honor

At 67 years of age, an active car salesman of Madoc, W. R. (Bill) Bateman reached the highest achievement of his lifetime. He was recently awarded the title, "Grand Salesmaster" by General Motors Corporation. This is an outstanding achievement, as the title is bestowed only upon those professional automotive salesmen who have accomplished personal sales achievements of the highest possible standard.

A man with many friends and lots of faithful customers, Mr. Bateman has an interesting life behind him, and sums it all up with, "Although I've had a few rough times in the hospital, I've had a good life".

His career in the automotive business started in the fall of 1927 when he started working for Walter Brett. Four years later, in 1931, he went to work for Percy Nayler. Mr. Bateman describes these two businessmen as "the finest gentlemen of Madoc". He remembers that at Nayler's there was an electric device used to lift cars up to the roof, where they were stored. This device is still in Nayler's building (now occupied by Ray Burris) on the corner of Elgin and Durham Streets. Mr. Bateman recalls selling Model T cars and he can remember when people brought horses in to trade on tractors. This was Mr. Bateman's introduction to the sale of horses, with which he has been associated for many years.

In September, 1932, Mr. Bateman married the former Daisy Miller, who was employed at the Review office at that time. A year later, he rented some land and buildings and went into farming, while still continuing on in the car sales. He later bought a farm and over the next few years, owned several different farms in the area, including the Ernie Lough place (now owned by Ross Clark) and the Caskey homestead. He suffered a back injury when he fell from a silo while on the Lough farm. Forced to take on lighter work as a result, he then leased the service station on St. Lawrence Street, which he operated until January, 1960. With fond memories, he talks about the help he hired while operating this business and mentioned the late Delbert Francis as "one of the best guys in the world". Other employees who came to mind were Eddie Burke, Sid Morgan and Grant Demill. During their school years, each of his children had worked there part time. He had also hired a student from Yugoslavia, Albert Gorian, who stayed at the Bateman home while getting his education in this country. All this time, Mr. Bateman continued to sell cars and tractors for Bretts. The business at the service station tripled during the time it was operated by Mr. Bateman. When he decided to give up the business, he went back to Bretts, as did Mr. Francis. (Mr. Bateman said he thought of Delbert as if he was one of his own boys, and he remembers that he took this job with Bretts only on the condition that they also hire Delbert.)

When Mr. Bateman left Bretts in August 1964, he went to work for Charlie Derry on Russell Street and has stayed there ever since, even though the business changed ownership a little over two years ago, when Bert Jones of Stirling took over.

Presenting the gold watch to Grand Salesmaster Bill Bateman, is Jim Ward, area representative of General Motors Corporation. Bill is also displaying the plaque he received.

During his car sales career, he said he knows at one time he had sold 97 cars for Bretts, and last year he made 247 deals. His career has had its exceptional days, too. He reports having sold as many as eight cars in one day!

All of his life, Mr. Bateman has shipped cows and he still owns a farm with his son Bob just north-west of Madoc on the O'Hara's Mills road. There he has 74 head of mature steers and cows and 24 calves. The herd is mostly Charolais, but he also has some Herefords.

A father of four, he has two sons and two daughters, Robert, Barbara, Ray and Arlene. Bob is married to the former Audrey Devolin, and they have three sons and three daughters. He is vice-principal of Centre Hastings Secondary School here, while Barbara is a successful bank manager in Toronto. Ray, who lives in Hampton, works at General Motors in Oshawa. His wife is the former Elizabeth Hamilton of Belleville. They have one girl and one boy. The youngest of the Bateman family, Arlene, is an assistant to a bank manager in Toronto, where the two girls share ownership of a house. Arlene is well known in the area for her interest in show horses. In her early days, she showed ponies at the Royal Winter fair for Norman Whytock of Madoc. She now owns her own horse, which she takes to shows at all the fairs in the area, including Napanee, Kingston, Lindsay, etc. The many prizes and ribbons she has collected speak highly for the horse.

In commenting on the difference he sees in car buyers today from when he first started his career, Mr. Bateman said that people trade more often now than they did then. Perhaps it's because cars rust out so quickly these days with the use of salt on the icy winter roads. People used to put their cars away for the winter before that. Then they would get out their horse and sleigh until the roads were clear in the spring.

He speaks sincerely in expressing appreciation of all the people who have done business with him over the years. With a chuckle, he comments, "I'm not hard to get along with as long as I get my own way".

Mr. Bateman was presented with a gold watch and a plaque by a representative of General Motors, Jim Ward, in recognition of his outstanding sales achievement.

Looking back

47 years ago

The brethren of Madoc L.O.L. No. 160, attended Divine Service in the Anglican Church of St. John the Baptist. The sermon was preached by Rev. W.G. Lansbury, Incumbent.

Fire destroyed the brick residence and store of Mr. James Long, at Cooper. It was believed the fire started in the attic from overheated stove pipes. Although the building was totally destroyed some of the contents of the house and store were saved. The loss was partially covered by insurance. As the fire got underway a phone call was sent into the Madoc Fire Brigade for help. The chemical engine was taken out and by its help, the school house, which caught fire several times, was saved.

The seven-mile road race, Deloro to Marmora and return, for the Kent Trophy run by the Deloro Athletic Club, took place, and was won for the second year by Charles Fairweather of Stirling. The winner covering the course comfortably in 58 minutes beating last year's record by one minute. Bert Girling of Belleville led for the first five miles, but had to drop out on account of sickness. James White of Belleville finished third.

24 years ago

The members of the Madoc Kiwanis Club were privileged to have as guest speakers, Miss Peggy Campbell and Bob Reid, of the Belleville Collegiate Institute. These students were among those who recently visited the United Nations Assembly at Lake Success and attended one of the sessions. The addresses were interesting and exceptionally well received. The speakers were introduced by Rev. Frank Harbeck, of Belleville, and appreciation was extended by Jack Kincaid. Seven members of interclub visited the Madoc Club and presented the Madoc members with the travelling eight ball. The speaker was Jack Walton, former Madoc Bank Manager, who gave a thought provoking address on "Inflation". He was introduced by Greg Murray and thanked by George Duffin.

The pupils of S.S. No. 3 Hart's, met at the school to say farewell to Mrs. Woods, who has been their teacher and companion for eleven years and six months. A fitting address was read by Margaret Anne McCaffrey. Mrs. Woods was presented with two beautiful china cups and saucers by Gail Baker and very feelingly replied, telling how she had enjoyed every minute of her stay among them, and that she would always cherish the memory of many years spent at Hart's School.

Coast and Alaska. They were accompanied as far as Vancouver by their mother, Mrs. Hugh McIntosh and Mrs. George Hill, who will visit relatives in British Columbia.

A very happy event took place when George and Reta Allore were "at home" to their friends and relatives on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Allore were married on June 26th, 1935, by Rev. Rivers of the Madoc United Church. A host of neighbours and friends called both in the afternoon and evening. Among the gifts were a dinette suite from George and Reta, a mirror and coffee table from daughter, Shirley, a pair of step up tables from the family, a pair of leather hassocks from a group of friends and many other beautiful gifts and cards.

Lee Saunders, President of Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, and Jack O'dette, Zone 4 Chairman of the Federation, announced that they will be in Madoc Legion Hall Friday night, July 22, 1960 for the purpose of forming an anglers' and hunters' club in Madoc. Because of the great number of people who are moving into our district to fish and hunt, and because it's becoming more popular every year for our citizenry, it is necessary for us to organize to protect our natural resources and to get Government aid in extending them by stocking of lakes and streams, and improving conditions for wildlife.

Flora Macdonald here July 19 for festival

Flora Macdonald, federal member for Kingston and the Islands, will head the list of women speakers at the 9th annual Peace Park Festival and Veteran's Memorial Service at the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park Saturday, July 19.

This being Women's International year, all the speakers are women. In addition to Miss Macdonald, also expected to be present are Mrs. Margaret Campbell, of St. George's riding, Toronto; and Mrs. Marian J. Laney, Q.C. of the World Peace Through Law Centre, Canada.

Other guests will be Jack Ellis, federal member for Hastings, and Clarke Rollins, MPP for Peterborough-Hastings. Harold Varty, former Hastings County warden, will represent the South-Eastern Senior Citizens. Jennie Broadworth, of the Madoc Club, will also be present. In the absence of Gladys Albert, president of the Tweed club, vice-president Charles McVillia will represent the club.

The Arts, Crafts, Rockhound and Hobby Show will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with a Memorial Service to be held at 2 p.m., conducted by Rev. J. H. Thompson.

Trudeau cabinet not consistent

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SF) — Two separate circumstances, apparently far apart, are connected in my mind to the discredit of the Trudeau Government.

In June the newspapers were full of the second trial of Dr. Henry Morgentaler. We all know how a jury acquitted him of performing an illegal abortion, and how for the second time, the Attorney General of Quebec appealed the jury verdict. All this while Dr. Morgentaler serves a sentence for the same charge, of which a previous jury had acquitted him.

Justice Minister Otto Lang, outspoken opponent of abortion, refused to intervene, saying that the law of the land must be upheld. Particularly, one would surmise, when Lang agrees with the law.

Lang's position is that abortion should only be allowed in the most extreme circumstances, when an expectant mother's health is endangered by her pregnancy to the point of death. Not all the hospital abortion boards use the same criteria for approving or denying abortion, and Lang thinks they should all be as strict as the law will allow.

Dr. Morgentaler, you remember, made no secret of the fact that he performed abortions without hospital board approval but then, many hospitals have never set up such a mechanism.

So on the abortion issue, the government stands firmly behind the existing law, and punishment at the legal scale.

The argument here is not whether abortion is right or wrong. The point registered is that the Trudeau cabinet does what it likes with the law. Jury acquittal of Morgentaler? Fine, the Quebec government can appeal, and if he gets off there, we've got plenty more charges to shoot at him.

Capital punishment for police killers? No, it runs against cabinet's collective conscience.

Cabinet's attitude, though, is damaging the cause of those who would see the death penalty abolished, because such flouting of the law increases the number of concerned Canadians who think police and prison guard killers should be hanged.

The Trudeau cabinet is not very good at being consistent.

It's great to get a suntan-but be careful

by David Woods

We who inhabit the northern countries don't worship the sun to the same extent as primitive peoples, who turned it into a god. But the Swedes still face it in adoration from their apartment balconies with the first sign of spring, and Canadians, who can afford to, chase it in winter, by going south.

Unlike the people of warmer lands who tend to shun it, Canadians are understandably apt to make the most of it during an all-too-brief summer. Like fire itself, however, the sun is a good servant and a poor master.

Here's how you can get it working for you:

- Don't try to get that gorgeous tan all on the first day — build up to it. A pamphlet from the Ontario Ministry of Health, entitled The Sun: Friend and Foe, suggests starting with about 20 minutes of sunbathing the first day and adding five minutes or so a day for the first four days. (This pamphlet is available from the Health Resource Centre, Communications Branch, Ministry of Health, Hepburn Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.)
- Fair-skinned people have less skin protection, so they should be extra careful. For them, special sun-screening lotions are available.
- Avoid the midday sun in the early stages of tanning, and also reflecting surfaces like water or sand, which can make the sun's rays more fierce and burning.
- Use a suntan cream or lotion, and, for long periods in the sun, protect the head and neck with suitable covering.
- Guard your eyes. Light rays can damage the retina, and sunglasses, besides cutting out glare, will afford some protection.
- Remember that while sun is a good source of vitamin D — the same vitamin that's found in egg yolk and many kinds of fish — too much sunshine can damage the skin, causing it to age prematurely.
- In hot weather you lose some of the body's liquids through perspiration. Replace them by drinking fruit juice or other liquids.
- If you do get sunburned, get out of the sun and into a cool, dark room. Apply a soothing cream to the sunburned area. If you should get heat stroke, call the doctor — and in the interim take steps to bring the body temperature down.

The secret of bringing some sunshine into your life is to do it gradually — to keep your cool, and enjoy the sunny days ahead.

Bill Smiley

Guard against 'progress people'

By BILL SMILEY

MANY people have a peculiar idea of "progress." They confuse it with change or growth for their own sakes. All too often, these things represent regress, rather than progress.

I try not to be bitter, but I have a perfect example of that kind of "progress" right outside my front door.

When we moved to this house, it was on a quiet, residential street, a leafy tunnel of voluptuous maples and stately oaks, with a green boulevard on each side of the street. It was gentle and pleasant and safe for children.

The town council, in the name of progress, tore out the boulevard, cut down some trees, and widened the street.

Results? We now have a speedway out front, and you can scarcely risk crossing the street to the mailbox. The squeal of tires makes the nights hideous, as the punks try to proclaim their dubious manhood. The remaining trees are dying because their natural environment has been disturbed and because they get a heavy dose of sprayed salt from the snowplow each winter.

Much beauty lost, and the only ugly things on the street, dead cedar poles for telephone and hydro, left standing in their nakedness.

Just to complete the picture, there has been a "development," which is synonymous with progress in many small minds, at the end of our street. What was once glorious bushland is now an asphalt wasteland inhabited by supermarkets, a gaggle of gas stations, and the inevitable hamburger joints and milk stores.

Because of the "development" and its accompanying "progress," traffic on our street has quintupled about five times, with the accompanying multiplication of stink and noise.

Tough luck, says you. Right, says I. But this is not just a private beef. I've seen this sort of thing happen so often on handsome old streets in pleasant small towns that it makes me sick.

First move of the progress-happy morons is usually to cut down the trees, some of them 70 years old, so that they can widen the road. Grace and shade and dignity are sacrificed to the number one god of North America — the car.

In the cities, the same process holds. Potential parklands are turned into instant parking lots. Thruways slaughter miles of greenery.

Ranking high among the villains are the "developers." In more enlightened cultures, they would be called ecological rapists. They take a section of beautiful bushland, fertile farmland, or lush fruitland. They send in their bulldozers to ensure that the property will look like no-man's-land. They then carve it into 50-foot lots and jam in the jerry-built houses, cheek by jowl, give the whole thing a fancy name, spend a fortune on advertising, and flog the swollen-priced abortions to poor suckers who are so desperate for a house of their own they shoulder a mortgage they can never possibly get out from under.

This, when Canada has more land that is useless for anything else but building than it can ever use. That is "progress."

Oh, "progress" has many faces, and many sounds, and not a few smells.

Far below the roar of the over-sized, over-priced cars burning up precious energy as they whoosh down the superhighways may be heard the whimper of starving children.

Behind the smiling face and honeyed words of the Public Relations Department can be seen something not unlike a mountain range — huge, ever-growing piles of non-returnable bottles, rusting cans, and indestructible plastic garbage.

And the stinks! "Progress" will take a cool, clean, sweet trout stream and poison it with chemicals and detergents and other toxic elements, because "We need the industry." And the big, belching smokestacks go right on belching their nauseous gases from their rotten stomachs, laughing hilariously when the government slaps them on the wrist with a staggering $25 fine.

"Progress" hoists, again and again, the taxes on booze, because governments would fall without that revenue, and sets up a cheap and panty-waist program barely hinting at the evils of drink.

"Progress" produces bigger cars that go faster and burn more fuel on bigger highways, the vehicles propelled, in many cases, by drivers who couldn't handle a crisis in a kiddie-car race.

"Progress" taxes everything but the living breath of the working stiff, but encourages the plumpies with the expense accounts and the credit cards to go out and live it up and lie and cheat on their taxes.

Medical "progress" means turning a great number of adult neurotics into drug addicts by socking the pills to them, and with the other hand giving a stiff arm in the face to the dirty, sick, frightened kids of the drug age.

A pretty dim view of progress? It is, as many people look on the word.

But surely there are enough of us left who believe in the real meaning of the word — moral, social and intellectual progress — to try to do something about the spreading sickness.

Same time next Sunday, please. In the meantime, on guard against the "progress" people.

ARIES: Temptations may be put in your path this week. Step carefully. Let your conscience guide you around them. Later, don't overlook your own assets. Something of value or use to you might be found right in your own backyard.

TAURUS: A disturbing conversation could set you on your ear as the week begins. Keep your cool and make no rash promises. Then, your thoughts turn to romance — all systems are GO. Quite a week, so take a day to rest up.

GEMINI: Financial matters highlighted this week. You may well spend money on something for the home. This is fine as long as you don't let yourself be talked into extravagance. Week comes to a sunny close with chance of unexpected love interest.

CANCER: This week may bring some problems unless you're willing to swallow your pride. Gulp! Hefty dose of good judgment settles your stomach. If you're feeling fenced in, use your head and you'll find the gate. A practical female may point the way.

LEO: You must face your duties and responsibilities squarely this week. Sorry, no ducking out. Extra work might be necessary — hang out your "do not disturb" sign. End of week brings a pleasant surprise.

VIRGO: You're often too willing to take on friends' problems. That's a Virgo for you! This week you're at it again. Please don't drown yourself in someone else's sorrows. Lend a hand, but don't get pulled overboard.

LIBRA: This week is strictly hard work to keep your head above water. Maybe nothing earth-shaking, but at least enough minor tremors to cope with to keep you quite busy. Time out with friends should prove a happy relief.

SCORPIO: You have the chance now to reap what you've sown. Hard work in the past brings its reward. New responsibilities may be given you. This week could also bring release from an old obligation. Good harvesting!

SAGITTARIUS: Possibility of more changes this week. Sag. There's not much you can do about them, so sit back, relax, and accept. Your lucky star shines on you, so you'll come out in good shape. Later, practicality gets you farther than way-out schemes.

CAPRICORN: Cooperation is the word for this week. Relationships with others could prove difficult unless you'll give as well as take. Heed this and you'll come through with flying colors.

AQUARIUS: This would be a good week to play turtle — pull in your head and sit quietly in your little shell. If that's not possible, at least do yourself the favor of proceeding with caution. Week ends with promise.

PISCES: A good week is in store for you. Don't get lazy though; get out there and make the most of these fine aspects. This is a good time to start new projects or responsibilities. You may have a well-meaning meddler to deal with. Hear her out, but make up your own

Watercolours trace lake history

By Georgina Rodden

H. Fred Craig's expression watercolour pieces, some 50 in all, will be featured at this weekend's Eastern Ontario Steam and Antique Association's show in Norwood July 11, 12, 13.

A collection depicting the history of steam transportation on Stony Lake from the mid-1880s to the mid-1940s, the showing is closely allied with the book on which he and his cousin, John Craig, collaborated, "By the Sound of Her Whistle", now in its third printing.

The history of steam transportation on Stony Lake, as told by the book, and beautifully captured by Mr. Craig's skill and perceptiveness, is most impressive, especially to a younger generation unaccustomed to even realizing that at the turn of the century, there were millions of passengers who travelled on the steamers and in private steam launches up and down Stony Lake almost daily, for more than 70 years.

Author and illustrator of the book have both been intimately associated with Stony Lake in their own time, following a family tradition of three other generations. These scenes, available to an appreciate art-buying public as well as to the viewing, show the costumes, customs and holiday happenings of a bygone era.

Born and raised in Peterborough, but more closely associated with his family's island haven in Stony Lake, Mr. Craig followed a stint during World War II in the RCNVR with free-lancing in Peterborough, and Vancouver, as well as several years with the Vancouver Sun and Province, handling black-and-white advertising graphics for major accounts. Then, he joined the Ontario Hydro, where for some 18 years he produced for their personnel and safety section the posters, pamphlets and safety admonitions the public is accustomed to associating with Hydro, but perhaps not with their creator. His watercolours are delicate, moody and nostalgic. He admits to having come through distinct "periods", "three at least", and viewers will be able to distinguish at least two in the showing.

Where do TV stars get their wardrobes

BY CATHY POST FIELD

Where does the wardrobe for TV shows come from? Do the networks provide it or do the stars? D. Lyons, Dagmar, Mont.

Angeline Jones, head of NBC-TV's wardrobe department tells me that actresses are luckiest in this respect. They are supplied with all their clothes. But as long as a man appears in a contemporary show, he is required to wear his own. Angie's biggest headache is dressing panelists on "The Hollywood Squares," since they shoot the whole week's shows in one day and must change so that it appears they have played the game on five consecutive days. Her easiest job is "Sanford and Son." She simply buys shirts and pants from thrift stores.

Would you ask Sir John Gielgud who his favorite actress is and also the one he most enjoyed directing. L. Mines, Indian, Va.

Sir John has two favorites, Maggie Smith, whom he directed in "Private Lives" and Ingrid Bergman, whom he directed in "The Constant Wife." But Ms. B wins out. Of her he says: "She is a marvelous lady. I adore her."

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, PO Box 267, Elmira

Politics is a strange business.

At the university, the eggheads in those hallowed halls of higher learning call it political science. Maybe it is the way they look at it. But out in the cold, cruel world it's a dog-eat-dog and the devil-take-the-hindmost existence.

A week ago, the provincial government's subsidy plan for cow-calf producers was unveiled. The minister of agriculture and food, Bill Stewart, allowed his assistant to introduce the bill.

It has been labelled an insult by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. Gordon Hill, president of the OFA, said it was mere window-dressing by the province. "a sham and a farce" because the province's cost-of-production formula is unacceptable. He cited the province allowing $2.10 an hour for labor, yet the province's minimum wage is $2.40 an hour.

Some of what Mr. Hill says makes sense. The cow-calf program allows only $180 an acre for land yet current prices even up in Grey and Bruce Counties is $300 an acre. And $1,000 an acre for land in some areas is still a steal.

Ten years ago, we bought land for $1,000 an acre. A parcel of raw land near us is listed at $7,500 an acre today.

And where was Bill Stewart when all this spleen was being vented on his department? In hospital, recuperating from a heart attack.

Which is why politics is a strange business.

Mr. Stewart has been agriculture minister in this province for more than a decade. He has been a power in the provincial cabinet and one of the most effective cabinet members. He is not the flamboyant type. He has a job to do and goes about his business quietly, firmly and doggedly. Under his steady hand, farmers in Ontario have come a long way.

I know of no other politician in Ontario who is capable of filling his shoes. He is a beef farmer himself and knows whereof he speaks.

Rumors were rampant a few months ago that he would not be a candidate in the next provincial election. The last time I talked with him he would not commit himself.

If proof of his abilities is needed, take a look at the recent appointments by Premier Davis. Bill Stewart is to be as assistant to the premier in the next election campaign.

Whether the agriculture minister's illness will curtail his activities in the campaign, expected this fall—I'm predicting a mid-October election—remains to be seen. If he decides to step out of the picture entirely because of his health, Ontario will have lost an honest, upright cabinet minister.

And if his city friends are like mine, they are asking pointed questions such as why do farmers need an income stabilization plan at all?

I spent a week in Hogtown one day recently and most people I talked with couldn't care less whether the province's cow-calf program makes sense. In fact, many of them don't even know what a cow-calf operation is.

"Why should farmers get better treatment than anyone else?" said one of my writer friends who has the mistaken idea that all farmers are doing this time of year is sitting on their back porches listening to the corn grow.

"Why should they get a guaranteed wage? They're chronic bitches. They want to be paid for doing nothing."

He wouldn't accept my challenge. I asked him to come home with me this week for our brief haying season. We put up about 300 bales of hay. That's all: 300, not 3,000. By the end of the day I'm so pooped, scratched, stiff, sore, dried out and bone weary that climbing the stairs to the shower takes a monumental amount of effort. I'd like to see him haul bales of hay for a day. They weigh about 40-45 pounds at 10 a.m. By three, they are beginning to weigh 90 pounds.

The only pounding he does is on a typewriter. His idea of exercise is to open two bottles of beer. His conception of a balanced diet is a beer in one hand and a sandwich in the other.

I gently reminded him that he wouldn't have that beer in his refrigerator or that sandwich in his hand if farmers refused to grow the produce.

The loss of his beer and his bottle of rye every weekend made him look apprehensive when I said that farmers must be kept on the land or these amenities of life might be lost to him.

Some tips about lawn care!

It's lawn watering time again, and the hiss of the faucet and rhythmic clunk of the sprinkler are heard over the land. The age old when-to-do-it controversy has cropped up again and we wish to remain neutral. We do have a few tips about lawns, the care and feeding of, however.

Come dusk, millions of happy householders emerge, take nozzle in hand and begin watering the grass. It's a pleasant sight, relaxing for Dad as he contemplates the verdant green. The crux of the controversy is whether his timing is right.

Proponents of evening watering say the turf grows faster and more evenly when irrigated after sunset. A lot of mowing takes place at this time, too; right after the head of the household gets home and finds that Junior has again failed to perform the chore. The post-sunset crowd is adamant in their belief that their timing helps keep America green.

Others are just as positive about early-morning watering. They claim the ideal is to irrigate when the sun is full on the grass, causing it to wilt. Sunshine waters lean towards sprinklers for deep moisture penetration. They argue morning or midday watering prevents fungus and root rot that can grow when grass is damp overnight.

We say water whenever it suits you as long as the lawn stays verdant. If it's beginning to look seedy, try a different time. One idea we do endorse is keeping grass at an even-length. Mowing right down to the soil line might look neat, but it can cause weak root systems. Grass absorbs food through the blades and when these are close cropped, under-nourishment results.

If you are lucky, the wrong way to build a patio or walk may work for you. More than likely, however, your property's drainage is not ideal, so if you simply remove the sod to lay your wald or patio you will end up with an uneven surface caused by winter heaving.

"For a maintenance-free, long-lasting effect, the sand and gravel-based patio or walk is best," advises Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, D.B. McNeill.

Mark out the size of the patio or walk with string. Carefully remove the sod and soil to a depth of six inches. Spread two or three inches of gravel or crushed stone in the depression, followed by two inches of sand. Level this well and lay the patio slabs, sidewalk stone, or brick. Fill the cracks between the stones or slabs with sand or mortar. Holes in other parts of the lawn can be repaired with the sod you removed.

"By using a sand and gravel base you will stop grass and weeds from growing between the stones, as well as prevent heaving," says Mr. McNeill. "Your patio or walk, built the right way, will last a lifetime."

Express concern over hydro

Marmora Village Council has concurred with a resolution passed by the Association of Municipalities of Ontario, that the municipalities of Ontario register their concern with Ontario Hydro and the Provincial Government regarding the excessive rates projected for hydro customers in the Province.

The resolution also calls for the municipalities to urge the consumers in their jurisdiction to register their concern with Ontario Hydro, the Minister of Energy and their local M.P.P.

Ontario Hydro is proposing rate increases amounting to 30 per cent for municipal customers in 1976, followed by further increases of 25 per cent in 1977, and 20 per cent in 1978, for a cumulative increase totalling 95 per cent over the three year span. The proposed increases are intended to generate $14 billion for Ontario Hydro capital expansion.

The A.M.O. letter stated that while such a huge expansion may be necessary, it is incumbent upon Ontario Hydro to thoroughly justify their plans before an Ontario Energy Board hearing. The effect of those costs will be to double hydro rates for municipal customers, thus adding substantially to the inflationary spiral, A.M.O. pointed out.

Councillor Gordon Bennett commented that he couldn't understand why Ontario Hydro needed such a large amount for capital expenditure, for generally, the new users who benefit from such expansion would pay for it.

Council doubted if endorsing the resolution would do any good, but decided to add Marmora's name to the list of objectors.

Mother's day gift destroyed in storm

A mother's day present was destroyed in the big wind storm that hit the Marmora area last week.

A beautiful new picnic table, given Mrs. Dermont Bedore, of R. R. 2, Marmora, was crushed when a large tree on the property split and fell on top of it.

But the Bedores were lucky.

The tree could have toppled on the house. Mr. Bedore was standing in the living room, watching the storm, when he saw the tree fall.

Of course, he admitted, 'I was scared'. A bird's nest toppled to the ground with the tree, but was picked up and replaced in a portion of the tree that wasn't toppled. Work crews were called to clear the highway and the lawn.

Unfortunately, an old dead elm tree, located on the other side of the property, escaped almost untouched.

"It will have to come down soon," Mr. Bedore noted....wondering why the wind couldn't have taken it, instead of the beautiful shade tree he had in his front yard.

Not necessary

Marmora Village Council has learned from the Ontario Municipal Board, that approval by Marmora and Lake Township is not necessary in order for the Village to annex the properties on Maloney Street S. and the property owned by Bob Drummond, which he proposed to develop as a subdivision.

Andre Philpott, the village's legal advisor, has advised that the signature of all the residents involved is required and offered to complete this portion of the annexation procedure, if Clerk William Shannon would supply him with a list of names, which he (Mr. Shannon) said he would do.

Mopeds operators will face stiffer regulations - eventually!

Transportation Minister John Rhodes introduced legislation which will treat operators of mopeds -- motorized bicycles -- the same as motorcycle owners.

The bill amends the Highway Traffic Act so that moped riders will now have to have insurance and a licence or driving permit and be at least 16.

Drivers of mopeds will still not be required to wear a helmet. Rhodes said many women complained they did not want to be forced to wear one.

It means dealers selling new mopeds will have to certify that every buyer complies with the new regulations. Mopeds will have to be fitted with bicycle-styled pedals, weight 120 pounds or less and be incapable of doing more than 30 miles an hour on level ground.

Since the new laws for mopeds won't take effect until mid or late summer, that means thousands of people will be using the mopeds under the old rules.

That means anyone 14 or over can operate them without insurance, registration and licence. That means they can carry passengers, too, a dangerous thing on moped as well as a bike since they become harder to handle.

Coroner's jury recommends changes in gun control laws

A coroner's jury recommended several changes in Canada's gun control laws and at the same time criticized the federal solicitor-general's office for not co-operating in the inquest.

The inquest was called after Michael Slobodian, 16, fatally shot a teacher, a student, wounded 13 other students and then killed himself on May 28 at Brampton Centennial Secondary School.

The proceedings came to an unexpected end when Dr. H.B. Cotnam, Ontario's chief coroner, announced a representative from Solicitor-General Warren Allmand's office wouldn't be testifying. Dr. Cotnam said he had been negotiating for two days to get someone from Ottawa but they "simply refused to come."

"They don't have a monopoly on brains in Ottawa," he said. "They certainly could listen to the average citizen once in a while and learn something."

When charging the jury, Dr. Cotnam indicated it wasn't the first time the federal government had refused to co-operate in an Ontario inquest.

"They should be a little more responsive to what's going on," the coroner said.

After four and a half hours deliberation, the five man jury brought back eight recommendations, seven dealing with guns and the other with a system to record absences in schools.

They are: The Ministry of Education examine the possibility of developing an attendance recording system whereby excessive absences would be quickly made apparent and problems exposed.

The age for hunting licences be raised

So the accidents and deaths should keep coming. There are an estimated 20,000 mopeds buzzing up and down Ontario's roads now and with some dealers reporting they sell their stock as fast as they are getting it.

If you believe the propaganda distributed by the industry, mopeds are safer than motorcycles and cars. But then, you would expect them to be since they're slower and lighter.

In 1973, 100 people were killed and 1,681 injured in moped accidents in Sweden. But then there are 425,000 machines in that country, exceeded only by France and Holland in use of the machine. France had 2,666 moped accidents in 1971. Quebec had three fatalities and 156 injuries last year. There are 30,000 machines registered in the province.

The statistics are dated and somewhat confusing. There's no doubt that the increase in gasoline prices in all countries probably has sent moped use up in other countries and the accident and death figures have climbed, too.

But one thing is clear. The machines can kill and injure. And the fatalities just rather sadly make the point there's nothing magical about how mopeds will be operated here.

from 16 to 18 years. A minor's permit from 14 to 16 and to be used only with someone holding an adult licence.

Purchases of guns and ammunition can only be made if someone is holding a valid gun licence, including rifles and shotguns. The licence would be issued by the local police department after a thorough background check is made on the applicant.

All sales of guns and ammunition be recorded by the vendor. Guns in homes be securely locked when not in use and that all firearm offences should be dealt with severely by courts.

The jury also praised the professional manner in which the shooting tragedy was handled by local officials.

Cotnam said later he would send the results of the inquest to Ottawa and would demand an answer from them.

"I won't accept a polite reply," the coroner said.

I don't see what's stopping the government from starting some of the rules immediately, not in a month or two. Rhodes has said it will take time for his ministry to prepare and distribute the necessary licence plates and registration forms and then insurance premiums have to be decided.

Still what's stopping him from saying that the age limit is increased to 16 immediately, no passengers are allowed and drivers must have a licence or learner's permit? Surely that's something that doesn't require a lengthy gestation period for a bureaucracy.

51st annual

Holmes reunion attracts over 90

The fifty-first Holmes Reunion was held on Saturday, June 21st, in the Women's Institute Hall in Queensboro, with an attendance of over 90.

The bountiful pot-luck dinner started off the event, after which Wayne Holmes called the meeting to order and the minutes of last year's reunion were read. Ross Fleming read the slate of officers for next year. These were all approved.

One minute of silence was observed in memory of Ernest Manchester and Mrs. Will (Isabella) Holmes, who had passed away since the last reunion. Percy Manchester rendered a prayer.

Garnet Holmes had charge of two elimination contests, which added humour to the afternoon. The women's prize was won by Karen Holmes while the men's prize went to Bob Lynn. The prizes awarded were provincial coat-of-arms coin sets.

The door prizes went to Mrs. Arthur (Goldie) Holmes and Mr. Derwood Holmes. Their prizes were wall plaques. Miss Roberta Sagen had charge of the program for adults. The oldest married couple present was Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmes. The youngest great-grandmother was Goldie Holmes; the woman with the largest feet was Mrs. Garnet Holmes; the prize for the father with the most children present went to Peter LaBlanc; the prize for having initials which form a word went to Peter LaBlanc Jr. and Margaret Anne Lancelove. Leonard and Bev Holmes were in charge of the family portraits, which were taken to be put in the reunion book donated by Jack and Jean Fitzgerald after last year's reunion in memory of Jack's parents, John and Martha Fitzgerald. Ross Fleming had the chart of Holmes family tree on display, which is of great interest. The adults spent a social time after the program, while the children had their sports outside. Gene Cassidy, Carol and Bob Lynn looked after this.

Karen Holmes volunteered to help her husband Bill in looking after sports equipment for next year.

Next year's reunion is to be the third Saturday in June again in the Queensboro W.I. Hall.

There has been the promise of a set of swings for the children, so this will add to the young one's enjoyment.

Reeve is fed up with stray dog calls

Reeve Ritchie Wells is fed up with calls regarding stray dogs and feels Marmora and Lake Townships Council should take some action on the matter.

According to Ontario statutes, any dog straying from the owner's property, or not under the control of the owner, may be considered a stray dog and may be shot if found bothering farm animals, Clerk Mabel Gawley explained.

Council considered several ideas for holding stray dogs until they could be claimed, but settled temporarily for asking the public to co-operate by controlling their pets, or suffer the consequences.

Students honor bus driver with Olympic coins

Four students made the presentation: Brenda Bronson, Kim Sokell, Chris Lee and Kathy Lee.

Dan is retiring after 25 years of accident-free service, beginning with only three passengers in 1950 to a high of 64 in 1973.

One the first pupils to ride on the bus was Bill Love, and now Bill's two children, Tracy and Alex, ride with Dan each school day.

Family physician

BY DR. JAMES G. PRICE

Q. How can a woman tell if she's really started her change of life?

A. There is no absolute dividing line which enables us to say that one day a person isn't menopausal and the next day she is. The physical changes which accompany the decrease in the production of female hormones by the ovaries, such as hot flashes, unusual nervousness, or failure to menstruate may all be signs that the change has begun. This usually occurs between the ages of 45 and 50, but these figures are just averages so they won't apply to all women.

Q. Would it be possible for a woman to begin her change in her early thirties?

A. It is possible, but quite unusual — unless her ovaries have been surgically removed. The symptoms of nervousness, insomnia, wide emotional swings, and depression may all occur without any relationship whatsoever to the menopause, so we can't depend on them as marking the beginning of the change. There are even reasons other than the menopause (and pregnancy) why periods may stop. Your family doctor should be consulted if you think you're beginning an early change.

Q. Does the change mean the end of an active sex life for a woman?

A. Certainly not! As a matter of fact some women enjoy sex more than ever after they've gone through the menopause. With the children raised and gone, most women have more time to rest and to devote to themselves, so it isn't unusual for them to become more active sexually than they have been in the preceding years. It should be emphasized that loss of the reproductive powers does not mean that femininity or desirability are decreased at all.

Q. Can anything be done to lessen the problem of hot flashes and nervousness?

A. Most women with these symptoms are helped a lot by oral or injectable hormones. Many gynecologists recommend that women take some form of female hormones for the rest of their lives in order to stabilize the calcium content of their bones.

THE GOOD WORD from the Bible

Many seek the favor of a ruler, but from the Lord a man gets justice. An unjust man is an abomination to the righteous, but he whose way is straight is an abomination to the wicked.

Proverbs 30: 26, 27

Educate children electrical dangers

Parents and Ontario Hydro should make a stronger effort to educate children about the dangers of electrical wires, a coroner's jury at the inquest of an electrocuted teen-ager recommended yesterday.

The jury said that hydro danger signs should be prominently displayed on public property, that Hydro should "embark on a more active program of safety education" and that parents should be encouraged "to impress on their children the dangers of electricity."

Behind the seams

BY PEGGY BENDEL

Q. I'm making a pair of slacks from brushed denim. In which direction should the nap run — up or down?

A. Cut the fabric so the nap runs down, that is, toward the hem of the slacks. To determine the direction of the nap on brushed denim or similar fabrics, rub your palm lengthwise on the fabric. The direction which feels smoother is the "down" direction of the nap.

Q. Can I use an uneven plaid to make a skirt which is cut on the bias?

A. An uneven plaid will look unbalanced and will be difficult to match when cut on the bias. For best results, use an even plaid for bias-cut styles.

To differentiate even from uneven plaids, study the most prominent bars of the plaid. An even plaid will be the same on both the crosswise and lengthwise sides of the prominent bars. An uneven plaid will vary only in the crosswise direction, or just in the lengthwise direction, or in both.

Q. How can I tell which is the right side of nylon tricot fabric?

A. When in doubt which is the right side of nylon tricot, a type of double knit used for lingerie and sportswear, stretch the crosswise edge. The fabric will curl to the right side.

Q. How can I create a chevron effect when making a skirt from striped fabric?

A. Chevrons, which look like inverted V's, are made by cutting stripes on the bias. To get this effect in a skirt, try to use a pattern which is illustrated with this effect, because the layout and grain markings will be designed to help you. There must be bias seams, usually at centers front and back. Match the stripes carefully at these seams. If the stripe is an uneven one, the fabric must be reversible to match at the seams successfully.

Is there anything about sewing that has you stumped? Send your questions to "Behind the Seams," c/o this newspaper, and watch for the answer in a future edition.

May force more money into Ontario housing mortgages

Housing Minister Donald Irvine says Ontario is considering legislation to force banks, trust companies and insurance companies into putting more money into mortgage for housing in Ontario.

Irvine told the Legislature he and Treasurer Darcy McKeough held a series of meetings with the lending institutions and were told those institutions are not prepared to sink any more money into housing.

He said the lending institutions are not putting enough money into housing, but added he is not sure what Ontario can do about it because they come under federal jurisdiction.

"That is certainly something we're looking into," he said. Irvine said Ontario needs at least $750,000 from the lending companies this year, but if the current rates of lending continue, "we'll be far short of that."

Without adequate mortgage money, interest rates get even higher that they are already, resulting in fewer starts and higher carrying charges.

Irvine said he is not prepared to accept the lending company's position that money isn't available for housing mainly because they can get better returns on other things — and added that he has asked federal Urban Affairs Minister Barney Danson to act, but so far, Ottawa has refused.

In fact, Danson had asked for $600 or $700 million for housing in the federal budget and the budget only came up with $200 million for the entire country, far short of Ontario's needs alone.

CARDS OF THANKS

THE FAMILY of the late Mrs. Lena Carman would like to thank all who were so kind: the Rev. Mr. W. Sedgwick, Madoc L.O.B.A. for lovely memorial service, ladies of Eldorado United Church for serving lunch, relatives and friends.DURLAND AND MABEL Adams would like to take this opportunity to thank our relatives, neighbours and friends for their best wishes, lovely cards, chocolates, crystal and money on the occasion of Durland's retirement on June 13th. Words can't express all the thanks for the lovely gifts of silver and flowers. Many thanks to our children and all who worked to make it a very enjoyable evening, and to Dr. E.
Dixon for the very good cakes decorated for the occasion.I WOULD LIKE to take this opportunity to thank my many friends, relatives and the Norwood Lions' Club for their cards, flowers and visits, and acts of kindness during my recent stay in the hospital. -
Mrs. Allan Baker.WE WISH TO thank the ladies of Springbrook UCW for the great meal prepared for our first family reunion. It was really enjoyed by all. - Herb and Elsie Coffey.

CARDS OF THANKS

to the nurses and staff on Connell Seven.
May God bless you all. - Mrs. Darolyn Miksa.WE WISH TO thank our friends and neighbours for gifts received from St.
Andrew's choir at Queensboro, also the Unit 1 of the U.C.W. and a special thanks to the community for their gift of a lovely lamp. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wannamaker.I WISH TO express my thanks for the visits, cards, flowers and treats while I was a patient in Belleville General Hospital. A special thanks to the Drs. Derry, Dosaj and Kuebler, Rev.
Heard, Rev. Thompson, and also the nurses in Intensive Care Unit and 6th and 7th levels. - Arthur Brady.I WOULD LIKE to express my sincere thank you to everyone who sent cards and flowers, and thanks to those who visited me during my stay in the Queen's Self Care Unit. Special thanks to Rev. Hawkes,
Dr. Parkin and the Staff at Q.S.C.U. -
Mary Baker.WE WISH TO thank our many friends, neighbours and relatives for the beautiful gifts, flowers and cards we received for our 40th wedding anniversary. Our most sincere appreciation to our daughter,
Shirley, and family and also to Gloria Baunter and family, and all those who helped in any way with the wonderful party. - George and Rita Allore.

Double ring ceremony for Griffin-Howard

A double ring ceremony was performed May 31 by Rev. W. Sedgwick at St. Andrew's United Church, Queensboro, when Darlene Barbara Griffin, daughter of Mrs. George Griffin and the late George Griffin, of Tweed, was united in marriage with Eugene Manly Howard, of RR 1, Picton, formerly of Madoc, and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, of Madoc.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Don Sedore, of Tweed.

She wore a floor-length white gown of poly-organza featuring an illusion sweet-heart neckline. It was tailored in the Princessline falling into an attached train encircled by a ruffle. The neckline, waistband and cuffs were trimmed in blue daisies. Her three-tier veil was held in place by white petaled leaves and seed pearls. She carried white roses, blue tinted carnations and baby's breath.

Her only attendant was Marilyn Moorcroft, of Belleville, formerly of Madoc, dresses in a long gown of blue polyester with pink trim. She carried pink roses and white daisies.

The music was provided by Mrs. Jim Wilson, of Tweed. "O Perfect Love" was played during the signing of the register.

Ken Miller, of Madoc, was the best man. Ted Brady, brother-in-law of the groom, ushered the guests and was master of ceremonies.

Dinner was served to the immediate families at Mother's Restaurant. The wedding cake centered the head table, trimmed in blue, topped by a bride and groom with doves and wedding rings, red and white carnations and bridal bouquets.

The mother of the bride greeted the guests in a floor-length gown of pink floral chiffon. She wore pink rosebuds in her hair. Her corsage was pink roses and white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a long gown of beige figured polyester. Her corsage was pink roses and white carnations. The bride's grandmother wore a long yellow gown with a lace jacket and an orchid corsage.

The bride and groom left on a short trip through Algonquin Park. The bride wore a short pink polyester dress with a corsage of white roses and pink carnations.

The couple are now residing at RR 1, Picton.

Prior to the wedding, a bridal shower was held in Madoc, given by Marilyn Moorcroft and Dina Brady, while a joint shower was held in Tweed at the Salvation Army Citadel by the ladies of the church and Mrs. Jim Wilson, a friend of the bride.

People, places in the news

Mrs. Mary E. Lowe, of Tacoma, Wash., and William McCoy, of Toronto, visited with their aunt and uncle, Annie Holmes and John Holmes, of Stirling, last week.

The Hill and Valley Riders, joined by the Hastings County Riders, set out Sunday on their second trail ride of the year.

Twenty-seven riders began the excursion, stopping first at an area restaurant for lunch.

Following the afternoon's ride, the club members were treated to doughnuts and drinks by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Franks.

John J. Savigny, real estate operator, has been named acting president of the Land O' Lakes Tourist Association for 1975.

Directors are Beaver Lake hotel operator Wayne McLean; Hay Bay tourist operator Jack Weese; Don Hogarth; and motel operator Jack Scott.

CARDS OF THANKS

THE FAMILY OF the late Thomas Bronson wish to express their sincere thanks to relatives, friends and neighbours, for floral tributes, sympathy cards and contributions to the Cancer Society; to those who remembered him with cards in the hospital during his illness, and the many kindnesses shown in the passing of a dear husband, father and grandfather. Special thanks to the Country Unit of the U.C.W. and the ladies of the L.O.B.A. for serving lunch after the funeral, to the I.O.O.F. for their memorial service, Reverend I.E. Munro and Pastor Paul Willoughby for their words of comfort and prayers, Dr. Allen and Dr. Berry and the McConnell Funeral Home for their efficient service. — Alice Bronson and family.

★ PROCLAMATION ★

Whereas there is a need for peace in the world;

Whereas there is in Hastings County in the Province of Ontario near Madoc the only Peace Park in Canada, named after Canada's only Nobel Peace Prize winner and former Prime Minister of Canada, and

Whereas each year since the Park was dedicated as part of Canada's Centennial on July 1st, 1967, an annual Peace Festival and Veteran's Memorial Service in honor of Canada's war dead is held the third Saturday in July;

Whereas this year the Peace Festival and Memorial Services will be held on Saturday, July 19th, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with the Memorial Service at 2 p.m.,

It is hereby declared that the week of July 12th to 19th be declared as in the Village of Madoc, Ontario.

"PEACE WEEK"

T.C. Barton, Reeve,

TOURIST INFORMATION BUREAU OPEN

The Madoc Tourist Information Booth is now open for the holiday season. The booth, operated by the Madoc Senior Citizens, has been quite busy in its first week.

Alvin Devolin displayed the new sign that now adorns the booth, located on St. Lawrence St. W., across from the Co-Op.

Surprise shower honors recent bride

A number of community relatives and friends gathered at the Queensboro W.I. Hall on Friday evening, June 4th, for a surprise miscellaneous shower in honour of a recent bride, Mrs. Allan Ramsay (nee Roberta Sager).

A beautiful corsage made by Mrs. W. J. Lynn was pinned on the bride and then she was seated at a nicely decorated table under a pink umbrella with pink and white streamers.

Two very appropriate poems were read entitled, "The New Beginning", by Mrs. Leslie Holmes, and "May Your Love Always Be" by Miss Hazel Thompson.

Miss Katherine Burnside, the bride's maid of honour, along with Miss Janice Rollins and her sisters, Mrs. Donald Martin and Mrs. Kenneth Cassidy, assisted her as she opened her many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Ramsay very capably thanked everyone for their lovely gifts and made some very amusing remarks about marriage later in life. "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was then sung.

The bride was presented with a bride's book, compiled by Mrs. Harold Tokley and Mrs. Fred Bosley, with some assistants and the beautiful white and pink cover was made by Mrs. Allan Thompson. It was passed around and was autographed by everyone present.

A dainty lunch was served by a number of the bride's friends and neighbours.

Well known resident dies at the age of 66

One of the Tweed area's highly respected and well-known residents, Thomas P. Bronson, of RR 1, Tweed, died June 24 at Kingston General Hospital at the age of 66.

He was the son of the late Rancil Bronson and the former Mary Peacock.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Montgomery. Also surviving are children Mrs. Glenn (Donna) Franks, of Tweed; Ivan Bronson, of Madoc; Mrs. John (Marilyn) LaMorre, of Belleville; Wayne, of Tweed; Kenneth, of Scarborough; and Mrs. William (Barbara) Preston, of Madoc.

Also surviving are brothers and sisters: Mrs. Morley (Edna) Phillips, of Belleville; Mrs. Joseph (Mary) Darrab, of Marmora; Mrs. Carman (Martha) Fitchett, of Stirling; Mrs. George (Lottie) Cotton, of Belleville; Mrs. William (Norma) Wright, of Brampton; Mrs. Oliver (Josephine) Willis, of Campbellford; Walter Bronson, of Crookston; and Robert Bronson, of Tweed.

He was predeceased by brother Delbert Bronson and sister Mrs. E. Strebe. Mr. Bronson was educated in Madoc township and later worked as a independent construction worker and bulldozer operator. He was a member of St. John's United Church, Tweed, where he had served in the office of Steward for 12 years. He was also a member of Madoc IOOF Lodge #179.

He had also engaged in farming at his residence where they lived for the past 30 years. Prior to that, they resided in Hamilton.

Know for his versatile musical talents, he concentrated on the violin and appeared at many social events and church gatherings.

An IOOF memorial service was held June 26 by officers and members of that lodge. Services were held June 27 from the McConnell Funeral Home, Tweed, with Rev. I. E. Munro, of St. John's United Church, officiating.

Pallbearers were Leo Coveney, Ken Yarrow, Carl Fitzgerald, Thomas Ross, Ken Adams and Cecil Hagerman.

Honorary pall bearers were Arthur Morgan, Percy Keller, Patrick Cassibo, Wilbur Bateman, Elmer Holmes and Leonard Jones.

Mr. Bronson was a member of the Tweed Senior Citizens' Club, #399, and a minute's silence was observed at the most recent meeting of the club in his memory.

Mr. Bronson is also survived by 13 grandchildren.

40 brave the heat to attend Sr. Citizens

In spite Wednesday's extreme heat, 40 members turned out for the last regular summer meeting of the Madoc and District Senior Citizens Club.

A minute of silence opened the meeting for Mrs. Lena Carman.

A reading on hospitality was then given by president, Mrs. Jennie Broadworth.

The members were asked to remember those in hospital: Mrs. Mary Ann Holmes, Grace Raney and Mrs. Ken Bateman. Mrs. Mel Johnson and Mrs. George Palmer have recently returned from hospital.

The members were also asked to co-operate in helping at the village Information Booth.

A schedule has been made for guides at O'Hara Mills on Sunday afternoons through July and August and by now all members should have their letter advising them which Sunday they are to be on duty.

Mr. Cadwell was in attendance and extended an invitation for the club to attend the annual service and picnic at the Peace Park July 19.

The members will be taking the Stoney Lake Boat Cruise July 16, from Young's Point through the Kawartha. The bus is leaving the United Church at 8 a.m.

One of the new members later proved to be champion at bingo and also won a draw in the social time that followed the business session.

Lunch was prepared by Mrs. O'Rourke. "Bless Be the Tie That Binds" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" were sung by the club.

A total of 11 new members joined the club at the meeting.

"What's your beef?" roll call at W.I.

A June meeting on "Resolutions" was held recently by the Madoc Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. William Raynsford.

The roll call, "What is your beef?" was answered by 16 members and two visitors.

Mrs. E. Gates and Mrs. George Alloré gave the report of the district annual which was held at Marmora.

Mrs. S. R. Beatty, convener for resolutions, gave the motto, "What is a Resolution."

During the business section, it was voted to have the fair booth again this year, the conveners to be Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. A. Bailey, Mrs. D. Phillips, Mrs. R. Woods, Mrs. W. Forestill and Mrs. D. Bronson.

Mrs. Phillips offered to look into a community project to which the organization could be of some assistance.

Mrs. Beatty conducted a panel discussion on resolutions. Others taking part were Mrs. D. Carman, Mrs. A. Bailey, and Mrs. E. Wannamaker.

Television programs were discussed and the ladies thought there was too much violence in a lot of the shows.

A skit was presented by Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Wannamaker. Miss L. Connor read a piece emphasizing that members should wear their pin at all times to attract new members.

The September meeting was announced for the home of Mrs. Emil Wannamaker on September 9.

Broke but happy theme Land O' Lakes Lions

"Broke but happy" was the theme of the Land O' Lakes Lions Club as members held their last meeting before the summer recess.

With Lion Rene Leroux president elect chairing the meeting it was reported that Land O' Lakes Lions Club (a hard working club of only 17 members) had returned all trust account monies ($5,250.85) being the profits made from bingos and millionaires nights to the different communities in the area of community betterment and other worthwhile projects.

The Land O' Lakes Lionr areas are from Denbigh on the North to Kaladar on the South and Plevna on the East to Flinton on the West. This is the area, noted members, that "we serve".

The following is a partial list of the projects the Lions have sponsored:

- (a) Eye Glasses $741.85
- (b) Marble Lake Swimming Program $500.
- (c) Transportations for patients to Hospitals $200.
- (d) Quinte St. Lawrence Hall $200.
- (e) Transportation for students for overseas flight $161.
- (f) Land O' Lakes Scout troop (life jackets) $200.
- (g) Lions International Foundation $300.
- (h) Care program $200.
- (i) Rink lighting N.A.E.C. $1,000.
- (j) Harlow Hockey Club (sweaters) $273.

- (k) Christmas baskets for the needy $500.
  - (l) Denbigh, Abinger and Ashby volunteer fire Dept. $300.
  - (m) N.A.E.C. Cloyne, Public speaking $25.
  - (n) Land O' Lakes Volunteer Fire Dept. (resuscitator) $650.
- The club is open for membership and suggestions when it reconvenes in September 1975.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I am 14 years old and this girl that I'm going to tell you about makes me very mad. Every time I go with a guy she finds some way to break us up. Sometimes I just feel like I could kill her. This guy I was going with was very generous. Now she likes this guy. He and I are real good friends. He doesn't like her. Should I ask him to play a joke on her? I told her he liked her. Should I pay her back or should I just let it be?

OUR REPLY: You know the answer to that last question. There is little time in this world for revenge, so get off that one. And it looks as if you've already played the "joke," though it's on you. You see, the truth is he does like her. And he likes you too. Who said people could just like one other person? That's why she liked him in the first place. And if you think about it, you like more than one person don't you? Be clear that she's the one finding the ways to break up your romances. It could be you're just looking for someone to blame that on. Communicate what you really feel about the situation to the girl that makes you mad. Share the truth with her and together you'll find out the way things are.

Because of the volume of letters to this column, requests for personal replies cannot be accommodated. Editorial panel selects for weekly use, letters which best represent questions and/or comments from readers. FOR & ABOUT TEENAGERS, BOX 639, FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY 40601

THE POWER OF JESUS

And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain and sat down there. And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them. Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see, and they glorified the God of Israel.

MADOC REVIEW

THE VOICE OF MADOC AND CENTRE HASTINGS
HASTINGS COUNTY'S OLDEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Vol. 98, No. 28

Madoc, Ont., Wednesday, July 16, 1975

Second Class Mail Registration
No. 1016

20¢ Single Copy

RECEIVES FACE LIFT

Madoc Frigid Lockers took on a new look this summer. Completely done over on the outside with white siding, decorative black trim and a new sign, the building has an attractive appearance, which adds to the other recent improvements to places of business about town.

COMPLAINTS!

Development Road to be kept safe

Huntingdon township council last week voted that the Development Road be kept in a safe driving condition and that the consulting engineer be informed that there have been complaints regarding the work done by the machine operators and the lack of safety signs and a dust layer.

Council reached the decision after Messrs. Bunn and Hicks approached the members to complain of the road's condition.

In other business at the meeting, Gordon Preston met with council concerning the duties required of a poundkeeper. Mr. Preston then agreed to take on the position.

Mrs. Pauline Thompson, president of the Maira Community Centre, appeared before council regarding an offer by an individual to purchase the pews from the community centre.

Mrs. Thompson stated that due to the short notice she has not been able to call a meeting of the committee, however her impression was that the persons she had been able to contact were not in favor of the sale.

Council felt that the pews belonged to the community and that the decision was entirely up to the committee.

Patrick Bradley, township building inspector, reported on the inspection of a complaint that two trailers were situated on a lakeshore lot.

Council voted that the clerk should notify Messrs. Moyer and Norris that the two trailers placed on their lot contravenes bylaw No. 1012.

Ken Tompkins, road superintendent, reported to council.

General accounts in the amount of $73,776.77 were approved for payment.

Hold onto your hat! dance around corner

Summer is here and with it comes all the annual vacation fun. The coming of the end of July has a special meaning to young and old alike in Madoc. It's time for the big Kiwanis street dance.

This year's event features the Fidler Mills Jamboree, starring T.V. and recording star from Oshawa, Lance Younger, Wendy and Dale Youngs, "Kawartha Clear Waters", a five-piece country band, and Roger Snider, Madoc's own gift to country music. Other great artists scheduled to appear are Sherry Struthers, the pretty little Miss from Hartingdon; Sid McCauley, fiddlin' for your toe tappin' pleasure; Dorothy and Jack McCaughen, the singing oldtimers from Stirling and stars of CJOH T.V.; Canada's great new echo yodelling champion, Gordon Struthers; Sandra Blakely, a Jamboree favourite from Foxboro; and Ellwood Hamilton and his brother, Ole Harry the Woodchopper. What an exciting list of entertainers.

After the Jamboree, there will be oldtime dancing for all with Uncle Jimmy Mitts as caller.

American man falls 60 feet at Bon Echo

An American climber, scaling a 400 foot rock in Bon Echo Provincial Park Sunday, fell 60 feet after a ledge he was resting on gave way.

Edward Moores, 30, of Ely, Minnesota, was treated by a camp doctor and was later taken to Belleville General Hospital where he was reported under observation. His injuries were confined to multiple abrasions to the upper portion of his body.

Provincial police said Moores, along with two other climbers, was scaling a rock near the narrows of the Upper and Lower Mazinaw Lakes when the accident occurred. They said Moores was about 90 feet up the rock and had attempted to reach a higher ledge when the rock gave way, causing him to fall to a ledge below.

Police said the man had climbed before in the area and although clad in regular shorts and shirt was wearing mountain boots. He was carrying no other climbing equipment at the time of the accident.

Kaladar provincial police, called to the scene, used a back stretcher to bring the climber down from the ledge. He was then treated by doctor Peter Rechnitzer before being taken to hospital.

Bon Echo Provincial Park is approximately six miles north of Cloncyne, off Highway 41.

Governor-General named "Man of the Year" winner

Jules Leger, Governor-general and career diplomat was elected as this year's winner of the annual "Man of the Year" Peace Award granted by the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park Committee to the Canadian citizen who, in the previous years, has made the most outstanding contribution to world peace and, or unity. The award is ordinarily presented at the Memorial Service at 2:00 p.m. on July 19th, but because of Mr. Leger's high office, it will be sent to him at Ottawa.

Previous award winners have been Robert Kohaly, Q.C., Dominion President of the Royal Canadian Legion, Judge J. C. Anderson, Pierre Juneau, Chairman of the Canadian Radio-Television commission, John Robarts, former Premier of Ontario, Stanley Knowles, M.P. and last year's winner, Pierre Burton.

The nominees are selected by the editors of Canada's leading newspapers, the CBC and McLeans. Mr. Leger's name was selected by I Norman Smith, former editor of the Ottawa Journal. Mr. Leger, in addition to being Governor-General of Canada, is the Grand Patron of the Royal Canadian Legion. Mr. Leger, a career diplomat, has been in the Department of External Affairs since 1940 and became Governor-General on January 14th last year.

The arts, crafts and hobby show will be from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. with the 2:00 p.m. Memorial Service conducted by Rev. Capt. J. H. Thompson, Rector, St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Madoc, assisted by Rev. Paul Willoughby, Pastor, Pentecostal Church, Tweed. Miss Flora Macdonald, Federal Member for Kingston, is the guest speaker, as part of International Women's Year. A colour party from the Belleville Legion and Ladies Auxiliary will be present.

Water shortage

The hot, dry and humid weather of late has taken its toll on the water supply serving the Village of Madoc.

Due to the conditions, municipal water consumers have been requested to refrain from watering lawns and gardens, or any waste of water, until further notice.

The official request appears in an advertisement elsewhere in today's Review.

The neighboring Village of Marmora asked residents to curtail water consumption last week.

Just walked out of woods

Four persons berrypicking in North Hastings Sunday morning were the object of a provincial police search when they failed to return by the evening.

Kaladar and Madoc OPP detachments were called in to the search for Harold Press, 33, of RR 1, Corbyville, Mrs. Thelma Goodfellow, of Roslin, and her two children, Kathy, 13, and Roy, 10.

The four finally emerged from the bush Monday morning, tired and confused, but unhurt.

$1,500 damage in mishap

A Belleville man escaped injury Sunday but his car received an estimated $1,500 damage after it left the road, four miles east of the intersection of Highway 7 and 37.

Ernest Cronkright, 26, told police he was driving along Highway 7 when the car apparently went out of control, crossing the centre line and striking a rock. The vehicle spun around and came to rest on the south shoulder of the highway.

Relief and dismay at Shulman's decision

By Don Fredericks

The fact that Morty Shulman has decided to hang up his political boxing gloves will fill many ordinary people with dismay and many rival politicians with relief.

Even in his own party, the NDP, Morty often seems a burr. Yet it is difficult to imagine the Legislature without him — a sort of Whirling Dervish of an MPP, a personification of the Tasmanian Devil in perpetual motion biting into controversies. An erratic, irreplaceable knight without armor.

Stephen Lewis himself drove the final nail by refusing to promise him the solicitor-general's job if he ran against Premier Davis in Brampton and won — and if (a big "if") the NDP formed the next government. Cynics see it all as an orchestrated plot between Lewis and Shulman to win a few headlines.

Not really! Morty would love to be solicitor-general and would be an avenging angel, impossible to control, contain, suppress. He'd be into everything and obviously no premier wants a solicitor-general that runs amok without concern for political consequences.

That's one reason why Davis wouldn't have wanted Morty as ombudsman, though it would have been politically expedient.

Lewis' stand that he'd make no deals in advance for his cabinet, was responsible (though if he thought Morty should be solicitor-general, there is no reason why he shouldn't say so in advance). Even though NDP hopes of winning are slim, it was an act of principle.

Stephen Lewis looks better and better — low-key, restrained, mature, which complement his knowledge skill as a politician.

Morty is simply too hot for any party to handle. He's not even a conventional socialist and has become an ardent law and order man. Sure he fires off the hip, but he's a good shot.

Ontario needs a Shulman (one's enough). It'd be a loss were he to vanish from the scene. So what beckons indefatigable, incorrigible, improbable Morty Quixote?

We don't know, but whatever he does, it'll be done with flair and controversy.

About once a week Morty strides into Lewis's office just a few minutes before the legislative question period and shouts dramatically: "Today we bring down the government."

It hasn't happened yet. But that hasn't stopped the effervescent Morty from continually repeating the little ritual. Lewis admits with a sad smile, that will be one thing he'll certainly miss when the pepperpot retires as MPP.

It will soon be necessary to wear helmets on mopeds

The Ontario Legislature approved legislation regarding the operation of motor-assisted bicycles (mopeds), including a change making helmets mandatory.

Immediate use of helmets won't be necessary, however, Transportation Minister John Rhodes said outside the Legislature.

"As soon as an appropriate form of headgear is developed we will insist that all moped operators wear it."

The legislation amends the Highway Traffic Act to require moped drivers to carry a driver's or beginner's licence and obtain registration certificates.

Carrying passengers will be forbidden.

The legislation originally omitted use of helmets, but after listening to MPPs stress their need, Rhodes offered an amendment.

Bee couldn't care less

Whether you smell as sweet as a rose or as strong as ripe cheese makes a big difference to other people. But a bee that's bent on stinging, couldn't care less.

To bee brains any perfume means a flower, even if its source is a person and not a petunia. The buzzers are equally turned on by perspiration, often finding a prime target underneath a sweaty watchband.

This is the time bees start buzzing around your bare spots. However, you can save yourself hours of misery by thwarting the stingers before they outsmart you.

A few simple rules, offered by the Ministry of Natural Resources, could save your hide.

WEAR LIGHT-COLORED, SMOOTH-FINISHED CLOTHING. Beekeepers, (although they do get stung on occasion), wear white coveralls or khaki pants and shirts for protection.

DON'T USE HAIR OIL, POMADES, OR PERFUMES. Stinging insects love 'em. They think perfume, whether behind an ear or in a flower, is a source of food. If a bee lands on you and you slap it, it may sting in self defence.

TAKE DAILY BATHS AND SHOWERS and wear clean clothing. Sweat stirs bees up.

COVER UP. Bikinis look good on the beach but not near bees. Wear ankle high shoes, white cotton socks, when walking in fields. Keep bees out of your hair by wearing a straw hat or light-colored kerchief.

KEEP AWAY FROM WILDFLOWERS. Plants need pollination and bees need food. They go together.

DEATHS

MRS. CORA HELM, [formerly Storrington] of 110 Howard Ave., Hamilton, passed away at Oakville, Sunday, July 13th, 1975 in her 87th year. Mrs. Helm was formerly of Crookston and area and is survived by four children, Mrs. Art Hennings (Grace) of Stoney Creek, Mrs. George Worley (Edith) of Oakville, Mrs. John Harrington (Jean) of Hamilton with whom she resided, and Mrs. Thomas Colontino (Marie) of Binbrook. She is also survived by 12 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held from the M.A. Clark Funeral Home, Hamilton on Wednesday July 16, 1975 at 1:30 p.m. Interment, White Chapel Memorial Gardens, Hamilton.

BRINTNELL, KATHLEEN - Suddenly at her home in Millbridge, Kathleen [Dendey] Brintnell in her 52nd year, beloved wife of Joseph Brintnell. Dear daughter of Mrs. Amelia Dendey, Susan of Toronto, and Vincent at home, dear sister of Frances Ray of Millbridge, dear sister-in-law of Harold Brintnell of Madoc. Mrs. Brintnell resided at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc. Funeral Mass was held at Sacred Heart of Mary Roman Catholic Church, Madoc on Monday July 14, 1975 at 10 a.m. Father P. Murphy offered the mass. Interment took place at Sacred Heart of Mary Roman Catholic Cemetery, Madoc. Pallbearers were John Murphy, Brian Armstrong, Larry Laverder, Ralph McLeod, Mike Hogan and Martin Fitzgibbon.

RUN IF ATTACKED. Bees chase you if their nest is disturbed. Find cover fast. Indoors is best.

IF ONE BEE BOTHERS YOU. Lie on the ground, if possible, face down. Bees often sting around the eyes and head.

WHEN DRIVING and a bee flies through the window, SLOW DOWN and pull over to the shoulder of the road. The bee is looking for an escape hatch and will be gone soon if you open all windows.

As the height of the holiday season approaches, and many families go camping in our forests or along the water, the incidents of people being stung by bees and wasps will rise. It's best to be careful at all times when in the vicinity of stinging insects.

Some people are extremely allergic to bee stings and need medical help fast. Others have a milder reaction.

A simple first aid treatment prior to getting medical help is to remove the stinger, if the insect has not withdrawn it, by scraping it out with a sterilized knife. To ease the pain use a compress of common baking soda, slightly moistened with cold water.

Licence issuing office hours

Need the services of a licence-issuing office? Well here's where to find one if you are in Tweed, Madoc or Marmora. Cartha Cassidy is the official agent in Tweed. He is located on front street at the Tweed Radio and Electric with the G.E. sign out front, on the west side of the street. Office hours there are from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday to Friday, closed Saturdays. These hours are the same through June, July and August. The rest of the year, they are closed Mondays.

In Madoc, Pres Nickle at Nickle's Jewellery Store at the north end of front street is there to serve you Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., and is closed every Monday.

Jack Golden is the man to see in Marmora. He is located at 2 McGill Street, at the north end of front street, right on the corner. He is there every day from 9:00 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., except Saturday.

In memoriams....

LAHEY - In memory of a loving wife and mother, Catherine Lahey, who passed away July 16th, 1974.

YOU'RE MY GUEST IN THOUGHT

Once a day, and sometimes more, ou knock upon my daydream door, And I say warmly, "Come right in, I'm glad you're here with me again!" Then we sit down and have a chat, Recalling this, discussing that, Until some task that I must do Forces me away from you - Reluctantly, I say good-bye, Smiling with a little sigh, For though my daydreams bring you near I wish that you were really here; But what reality can't change My dreams and wishes can arrange. And through my wishing you'll be brought To me each day, a guest in thought.

Lovingly remembered by Jim.

LAHEY - In loving remembrance of our dear mother, Catherine Lahey.

I REMEMBER MAMMA

I said "My Mother is dead". They say, "But she was suffering". Could these four words dismiss the love of a lifetime.

I remember Mamma young..... Laughing and living, loving and giving. Towelling seven small wet bodies Freshly bathed.

I remember Mamma busy..... Early on Saturday mornings Washing our school and barn clothes, Baking cookies and birthday cakes Celebrating our family's important dates.

I remember Mamma..... Tending us when we were sick, Teaching us small prayers and listening to them.

I remember Mamma..... At First Communion and Confirmation And then at our Graduations, Always there - always the gift that said, "I care".

I remember Mamma..... Rushed mornings leaving for school And late nights preparing her class's next day's lesson.

I remember Mamma..... Sitting around the table with Dad Laughing at their six girls and boy, caring for us all.

I remember Mamma..... Aging with pain, Becoming so weak, yet just in her prime.

Yes, I remember Mamma..... Our link with eternal life Her hand in the hand of God Waiting to enfold us, as together they open Heaven's door.

With treasured memories of you, Mom. Lovingly, Cathie, Anne, Teresa, Margi, Maureen, Michelle and Jamie.

LAHEY (nee Murphy) - In memory of my sister Catherine, who passed away July 16th, 1974.

Her life was one lone sacrifice, Her heart was true and tender; She toiled so hard for those she loved, Then left us to remember.

Quietly remembered by sister Margaret and brother-in-law Harry.

Provincial police launch school coloring contest

The Ontario Provincial Police this summer are sponsoring a province-wide coloring contest for elementary school students. Three winners will receive two days with the OPP in Toronto.

The contest, which began last Wednesday, requires entrants to color a construction safety cartoon.

The three winners will be guests from August 26-28 of a Toronto motor hotel. A tour of the city will include a trip to the top of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Ontario's parliament buildings, Ontario Place and the OPP headquarters and training centre.

All elementary school children during 1975 are eligible for the contest which closes Wednesday, August 13, 1975. The winning draw will be made Saturday, August 16, 1975.

Expenses for the winners and one parent or guardian will be paid by the Ontario Road Builders Association, to whom entries are to be mailed.

The cartoons to be colored are available at all provincial police detachments.

Truck hits pole, snaps it off

A tractor-trailer driver, attempting to back into position to unload some cement blocks, struck a hydro pole Thursday snapping it off five feet above the base. The driver of the vehicle was John Lake, of Belleville.

The incident occurred on private property along Highway 7, one mile east of Havelock.

All about people

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Paul of Calgary, Alberta, spent the past five weeks visiting around Madoc, while at the home of Bonnie's mother, Mrs. Betty Stevens.

15 years ago

William Rollins of Cooper, a member of the Allen Settlement Orange Lodge, had a record of attending sixty-one consecutive July 12th Orange celebrations. At the age of 18 years he joined the Orange Order and had attended every year since, and had marched at all but two of these. Ill health prevented him from marching on those two occasions. In addition to perfect attendance since joining the lodge, he attended eleven or twelve celebrations before. We believe this to be a record for regular attendance at Orange celebrations.

Moir-Shuster Limited of Belleville announced the appointment of C. "Buck" Carswell as distributing agent for their "Red Flame" Furnace and Stove oil. The company had leased property from Sam Danford and intended to install tanks on that property. "Buck" had had seven years experience in the fuel oil business and said he was prepared to give his customers 24-hours a day service.

24 years ago

A speeding doe which attempted to cross No. 37 Highway north of Tweed, at the same time as a truck, came off slightly second best. Cecil O'Connor of Belleville, driver for Finkle Electric, was driving north of Tweed with a cement mixer hitched to the rear of his truck, when the doe darted out into the roadway and attempted to pass between his truck and the cement mixer. The mixer struck the deer and dazed the animal, but she quickly recovered and leaping to her feet bounded away.

Theft of two Durham beef type calves from the farm of Ferma O'Coin, Hungerford Twp., had been reported to Madoc O.P.P. Police had been asked to check with livestock sales in an effort to determine the parties responsible for the theft.

At the close of the prayer meeting in the Eldorado Standard Church, Rev. and Mrs. Burch were presented with a purse of money as a parting gift from the congregation. M. Stevenson gave a short speech stating how sorry they were that their pastor and wife were moving away so soon. Mr. and Mrs. Burch thanked the congregation for their remembrance. Rev. Burch and family took up the pastorate at Bloomfield, and Rev. J.R. Walsh, who is now at Bloomfield, took the pastorate here.

The Barnett Brothers Circus and Trained Animal Shows, the world's largest motorized show known in the World, pitched its big city of tents on the fair grounds. The Grand Tree street parade took place through the principal streets on the day of the Exhibition.

The village of Madoc and the surrounding community were shocked when the news was spread that Thomas Bird had passed away in Kingston General Hospital, where he had undergone an operation a few days previously. He had been apparently in good health until the day before his operation and had been about his work as usual. He had been engaged in the livery and mail business since moving to Madoc, and was widely known even beyond the vicinity of Madoc, when he threshed for a number of years.

Soon be close to $1. a gallon

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SF) — With so many of us rolling along the highways for holidays, you can hear nasty language directed at the federal government at every filling station, as motorists shell out that extra 10 cents a gallon for gasoline.

The excise tax is roughly a 16 per cent increase on the price of gasoline, and by the time another 5 to 7 cents gets tacked onto the price in mid-August, we'll be paying within spitting distance of a dollar a gallon.

The gasoline tax created the most public flak over Finance Minister John Turner's June 23rd budget, but really it was something which had to be done in the long term national interest, and I don't fault the government for doing it. There is, however, that nagging worry which makes you feel the fact that we'll never get rid of the new tax.

Once governments move into a taxation field, they seldom leave it, even if the rationale for imposing the tax initially disappears. As the price of crude oil climbs higher internationally, we'll get hit with additional price increases, bringing wholesale prices of Canadian petroleum products closer to the world price.

John Turner said he needed the ten-cent-a-gallon excise tax to pay the subsidy for foreign oil used in Eastern Canada. Once we hit world prices, the need for such revenue is removed, but I doubt very much that the tax will also disappear. Those fellows in the Trudeau cabinet will find some other place to spend it.

Meanwhile, the gasoline tax and the higher price for natural gas and home heating oil will likely have a desired salutary affect on Canadian lifestyles. We'll be driving a bit slower and abandoning jackrabbit starts. We'll be buying smaller cars and walking a bit more, perhaps.

And this winter, around our house, there's going to be a strong campaign against leaving the front door open for farewell chats with evening guests. I'm also going to tape the thermostat permanently at 68 degrees.

Bill Smiley

Guard against 'progress people'

By BILL SMILEY

WELL, Canada's in good shape for a long, hot summer, it looks like.

Don't be surprised, even in these days of women's liberation, if you hear some time this summer that a member of the male sex has given birth to a child.

The figurative father would be Mayor Drapeau of Montreal, one of the great con artists of the 20th century.

Asked near the beginning of the fiasco whether there was any chance of the Canadian Olympics being a financial disaster, His Worship replied something like this: There is as much chance of the Olympics losing money as there is of a man having a baby.

Well, hi there, Dad! The 1976 Olympics, to be held in the Canadian city with the worst slums, the worst schools, the worst sewage problems, and the biggest crime rate in Canada, is now approaching $300 million over estimates.

But don't sell M. Drapeau short. He's pulled so many rabbits out of so many hats in the last decade, baffling his audience in the proceedings, that it's not at all impossible that he will prevail upon one of his stooges to produce.

I can see the headlines now: Drapeau Aide Bears Baby; Medics Baffled. The kid will be born with an Olympic coin in his mouth, and he'll be hustling lottery tickets from his cradle.

But you and I will still be stuck with a tax bill that would have made the Fathers of Confederation have a simultaneous group stroke. The whole country wasn't worth that!

Don't be surprised if M. Drapeau starts a completely new lottery, with the winner (men only) chosen as the first man in Canada to have a baby. I know a lot of women who would buy tickets.

However, that's peanuts, only something like one tenth of the national debt.

There's the very serious problem of the increase in the price of gas. Dear me, if they keep putting up the price of gas, it will soon be more than a pack of cigarettes. It has already soared past the cost of a bottle of beer. What is this country coming to?

Fearless John Turner, with about as much choice as a lady who is eight months pregnant, has produced again, with a budget that will go down in history with the same impact as the 50th anniversary of Joey Crack and Flossie Snail.

So the price of gas has gone up. So, what's new? Did we all expect it to go down?

And these stern, new prices are going to cut away back on our mis-use of one of our natural resources. My foot!

Did you stop smoking when fags went up to 80 cents a package? Did you stop drinking when beer crept up from about 12 cents a bottle to 30 cents?

Are you going to stop driving and get off your lazy tail and walk down to the store for a pack of cigarettes or a pack of beer?

Those, of course, are rhetorical questions. We're smoking more than ever, drinking more than ever, and we'll probably burn more gas than ever, just to prove how irrational we are.

There is only one thing that is going to cut away back on our wastage of fuel. That is when some politicians (they'd have to do it in concert, because no individual would have the guts to do it) decree that the speed limit will promptly be reduced to 40 miles an hour, in Canada.

If we did that, and at the same time cut by two-thirds the amounts spent on superhighways, we'd almost pick up the amount M. Drapeau is flushing down the drain.

I can see that you're wondering why Smiley isn't Minister of Finance, if he has all the answers.

Well, I can tell you. I have the big, broad concepts well in hand, but sometimes the niggling little details escape me.

Recently, for example, I had my wife convinced that if I paid up for my war service, and taught for another year, I could retire at a pretty good pension.

Not that she was in favor of it. She wants me to work until I'm so old and sick and tired and stupid and useless that nobody will have me, except her. Then she plans to cart me off to Golden Glow Haven or such. One of those awful places where couples can retire together.

My idea is that we should split when we finally decide we are mature. She can have the house, the car (1987 Dodge), the piano, rugs, the $147 in stocks and bonds, the lawnmower and the snow shovel. I won't need any of that.

I'll just take my grand-baby, Pokey, and we'll go off somewhere and make a good life for ourselves, with no women.

My calculations were out about 400 per cent on the pension deal, so I have to work for another 20 or 30 years.

And perhaps that is the reason I am a very astute financial critic in the big world, and a complete failure in my own.

On the other hand, there are not many guys still driving a '67 Dodge that runs like a well-oiled rabbit. And there are not many guys left who still have 12 shares of Elder Mines. And there are not many guys my age who could still make a good living in a pool room.

So, watch it, John Turner. The Argyle Syndicate Ltd.

ARIES (3/21-4/19): Outside influences may make the difference this week. You may find yourself reacting instead of acting. Don't let this bother you; even if you're not self-starting now, you're self-propelled. Cupid is at it again with that bow and arrow of love. May well feel the arrow of love. May be a bullseye.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): Decide your priorities early. You can be either an industrious ant or a silly kitten chasing its tail. It's up to you. Romantically speaking, they say love is blind — you may get the chance to check it out this week. Make a real effort to get your own love-vision up to 20-20 and you'll really be in focus.

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): This week the stars say you should do a very difficult thing — clam up! We realize that's like telling you to stop breathing, but a careless word could land you in a very messy mud puddle. So don't gossip and do try to stay off the phone. Hopefully, week comes to a quiet end.

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): That idea in the back of your mind could well crystallize this week. Your own ingenuity will tell the tale. Don't get misled into thinking something is automatically a snap; only if you approach it seriously and with elbow grease will it become so.

LEO (7/23-8/22): The sun begins its trek through your sign this week, warming you with its glow, adding an extra burst of energy and well-being, and enhancing your beautiful Leo characteristics. One note of caution: keep sales resistance high or you'll own a white elephant. Enjoy your sunbath!

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): Listen to your intuition, but don't go out on a limb to play a hunch. A possible psychic short circuit this week could land you on the ground. Then, you may be offered both wise counsel and brainless static. Discrimination is vital.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): Your week begins with flair and the chance of amour. You can do someone a good turn now. Keep your own feelings dry because potentially this is an emotional powder keg. Week comes to a vigorous close.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): Jump into your track suit — there are a few hurdles to get over at home and work. You have a helpful coach on the field, so there's no problem. Later, change into your court-ting clothes to be ready for candlelight and roses.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): You can be a magician this week. Pick the right bit of knowledge from your hat and you'll pull off a coup. Family matters may be a little tricky. Can you tell the illusion from the reality? Week comes to great finish.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): Finances and resources (yours and others) spotlighted as week begins. Expect a change. A message from a lady brings good news; this could be Lady Luck for you. Then, take your stand and make ideas known; don't hide away.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/18): How you handle others will determine the success of your week. Exercise tact and make no sudden moves — you could scare someone off. Your sixth sense may be trying to tell you something. Listen well. Peppy end to your week.

PISCES (2/19-3/20): You have quite a bit of vitality right now. Take good care of it (and yourself) by getting proper rest and diet. Otherwise, it will be like trying to hold gold dust in a sieve. Heed this and it's a 24 carat week.

Why do stars like Yul Brynner, Julie Andrews and Mia Farrow adopt Vietnamese orphans when there are so many parentless children available in this country, especially those of mixed heritage? T. Carmichael, Washington, D.C.

Perhaps they never realized the plight of our stateless youngsters. The problem of the homeless Vietnamese children was headlined. Then again, there's always the possibility that some of those adopting the Vietnamese did so for the publicity and to attain a reputation for "noble deeds" so they can influence others.

I've seen several photos lately of Raquel Welch and in all of them she's worn tailored dress and had glasses on. What gives with her? T. Carroll, Gretna, La.

Women's Lib has found a strong recruit in Raquel who refused a large role in "The Fan Club" because it was "too sexy." Raquel says she consulted her old friend Henry Kissinger when she decided to shed her sex kitten image and he said, "Hit 'em right between the eyes." So that's what she's doing in the high-necked dresses. She and Kissinger have a great rapport because, says Raquel: "We're both public people dealing with egos and images, with short moments of glory."

Is it true that Jacqueline Bisset and Ryan O'Neal are "an item"? S. Demers, Aaronsburg, Pa.

Definitely not. Ryan is strictly determined to remain single after two bad marriages. And Jacqueline is very much "tuned in" to her long-time boy friend, Victor Dani, who even accompanied her on her recent trip to Paris.

What is Lady Bird Johnson doing these days? Is she going to keep the ranch in Texas? Also, will she campaign for the Democrats? C.D. Charles, Corpus Christi, Tex.

The widow of President Johnson says she will never part with the family home. "My roots are there," she points out. "The best years of my life were spent there. As for campaigning, I'll do whatever I can. However, I don't really want to be in the public view because I don't have any great wisdom to share or solutions to give. But I must say I do like people and I have no intention to hide away."

Ellen Burstyn, I hear, is a women's libber. Is this true? M. Stone, Las Vegas, Nev.

To a degree, yes. She does feel very strongly about the feminist movement. In fact, she bought the story "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore" because she felt it would further the cause. Also, after selling it to Warner's she made requests that women be hired to do the editing and designing of the production.

Was Dustin Hoffman, who played the role of "Lenny," ever a fan of the late comedian? T. Charles, Burnsville, Minn.

Says Dustin: "I never saw Lenny Bruce but I had heard and admired his records. My favorite comedian was always Jonathan Winters. Bruce played night clubs in the sixties when he was around and as a struggling hero, I could never afford to go see him."

Everything getting set for annual "Summerfest"

Members of the Marmora District Lions' Club have been burning the midnight oil for the last two weeks preparing for their Second Annual "Summerfest" Saturday, July 19 at the Marmora Arena.

Several work parties have left their mark on the site, in the form of many gallons of paint in the washrooms and dressing rooms needed for the event. New plumbing and fixtures have been installed, and fresh rubber matting put down on the floors in some of the rooms.

The arena, which is currently being given a new lease on life by the installation of a cable support system, will take on the atmosphere of a huge 'Bavarian Festival', complete with authentic Austrian Alpine Folk dancers and entertainers, Oom-pah band and gayly colored decorations.

The most popular "fest" in the area as a result of its well-run and well-prepared organization, the Marmora Summerfest had the distinction of being named as the best event of its kind, and the most Authentic Bavarian Festival in Eastern Ontario last year.

With the Manfred Hecke 'Continental' as the featured dance band again this year, this most popular group will assure the audience of the same rousing sounds that have won them acclaim at the Kitchener "Oktoberfest" and many other centres throughout Ontario.

Highlighting the fun-filled evening will be the first Marmora appearance of 'The Boys from the Austrian Alps' a group of entertainers who will be featured throughout the evening at various times, presenting performances well worth the price of admission alone. Highly praised as the best European dance group in their coast-to-coast tours, their versatility is shown as they bring authentic Alpine Folk Dances to our area on this special occasion.

The Lions have assured all advance ticket holders that they will receive a special souvenir from them on that evening. A large 12oz. monogrammed stein, specially prepared for this event, will be presented to all persons purchasing these advance tickets from any of the Lions members.

The area inside the freshly painted boards of the ice surface will provide ample room for dancers and onlookers to enjoy themselves without a worry or care, with their safety and security under a 35-man group on hand to prevent any acts of destruction, violence or vandalism on the site.

"We have no intention of losing the fine reputation we have enjoyed in the past," said a representative of the Lions Club.

Anyone interested in camping overnight will be directed to the nearby campsites available in the area.

Also available will be the infield of the race-track just east of the arena, where campers will be welcome from noon Saturday to noon Sunday at no charge. With water available at all sites, these areas would be a convenient home away from home for campers wishing to enjoy the day in Marmora.

Proceeds from the Summerfest will enable the local service club to continue their many community service projects, with a large portion being earmarked for further equipment for the Emergency Rescue Vehicle.

Further entertainment on that day will be provided by the Marmora Trent Valley League Old-Timers Baseball Tournament being held at the Legion Park from 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. With teams on hand from Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville, Tweed, Campbellford and Marmora competing for the Labatts Trophy, this promises to be one of the outstanding sporting events of the summer.

The T.V.L. Old-Timers represented Marmora in the Dominion-wide Old-Timers Hockey Tournament held in Peterborough last winter. It is hoped that the proceeds from the Ball Tournament will enable these sportsmen to again represent the area at the Second Old-Timers Hockey Tournament being held in Lethbridge, Alberta early next year. With the entry fee already paid, these dedicated men must raise close to $7,000 over the next few months to enable them to honor the area with their team in Lethbridge.

SHEEP HERDING IN THE 70'S

The most recent census, taken in 1971, reported only 4400 flocks of sheep in the province, most of these in central Ontario. Tighter markets, the scattered, relatively small number of producers, and problems facing these producers are some of the reasons for the small sheep population.

Ontario's production of lamb and mutton is as yet below the demand per capita in Canada. Consumption of both lamb and mutton decreased slightly in 1973 to 3.7 pounds, despite a strong demand for fresh lamb in the large population centers.

An Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food sheep specialist indicates that sheep make better use of roughage than other classes of livestock. They will do well on rough and rocky acreages where cattle would starve.

Research into breeding, nutrition, housing, confinement rearing and sheep breeds may help bring about a resurgence in the growth of Ontario's sheep population in the not-too-distant future.

HOGS HAVE 4 TOES ON EACH FOOT. HOGS ARE RANKED 9th IN ANIMAL INTELLIGENCE. PIGS ARE HOGS LESS THAN 10 WEEKS OLD. HOGS DO NOT OVEREAT. THEY HAVE POOR EYESIGHT.

ABOUT 90 MILLION HOGS

are raised in the U.S. yearly. Hogs provide a third of the meat eaten in America. There are an estimated 600 million hogs in the World. China has about 35 per cent of the total. ...U.S. one fifth. Hogs haven't any sweat glands so they wallow in mud to keep cool.

LOOK FOR 'ONTARIO APPROVED'

Wholesale meat products — that's the criterion that must be met before a carcass receives the stamp "Ontario Approved".

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food licenses 265 meat packing plants in the province. The Ontario-approved plants provide custom-kill services, cutting, wrapping and fast-freezing for the home freezer, and retail outlets. Most of the plants are small compared to the large well-known packers, but they processed more than 450,000 red meat carcasses and over 200,000 rabbits in 1974.

Inspection and approval of the meat starts while the animal is still alive, continues through the packing process and concludes only when the meat leaves the packing house.

The meat is inspected by meat inspectors under veterinary supervision for wholesomeness, sanitary handling and proper cooling and storage. Only then can the meat receive the legend stamp "Ontario Approved".

This city townhouse became a mini-farm

It seems that one day Mr. Olkowski looked at Mrs. Olkowski and said, "the world is in bad shape." Not exactly a hot news flash, but out of the statement grew their decision to grow their own food. A good idea, but tough for the Olkowskis, who live in a town house near San Francisco.

Helga and Bill dug in, and their experiences resulted in "The City People's Book of Raising Food," a new release from the Rodale Press.

The Olkowskis started four years ago with a tiny plot, poorly lighted and jammed between tall buildings. By the end of the year, they were raising an amazing variety of vegetables and much of their own meat. You heard it right — meat. No wonder they say if you have a rooftop, windowsill, patio or balcony, you ought to get in the game.

The Olkowski's chapters on how to raise chickens and rabbits in the city for food consumption are fascinating. Bill, an entomologist, raised bees and the couple also cultivated their own earthworms. Their townhouse became a mini-farm, sans livestock, of course. The authors say their food bill went down and the quality of their meals went up.

Exurbanites who yearn to cut food costs by getting into the growing game will enjoy "The City People's Book of Raising Food." It's in hard or soft cover at bookstores and garden centers.

G. ARNOLD CREASER

Welcome minister to pastoral charge

A special church service was held in St. Andrew's United Church in Queensboro on Wednesday evening, July 9th, to welcome G. Arnold Creaser to the Pastoral Charge there.

Although not an induction, the service had certain similarities to an induction. It was a service in which the Presbytery formally acknowledged and recognized the ministry about to begin.

Five representatives of the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church of Canada were present to conduct the service. Also in attendance were members of the Eldorado United Church, which will be served by Mr. Creaser, as it is part of the Charge.

Reverend Clare Kellogg, Chairman of the Presbytery, gave the Call to Worship immediately after the organ prelude. Scripture reading was given by the Rev. Roy Vessey, Presbytery Secretary, who read I Peter, 5:1-4 and John 21:15-17. The offering collected will go towards the work of the Belleville Presbytery.

The Reverend John Peters of Marmora gave the sermon. At the conclusion of the service, the new minister pronounced the Benediction.

A social hour followed the service, during which a lovely lunch was served.

$6,500 grant to be given for arena repairs

A grant of $6,500 towards the cost of renovating the Marmora Arena should be received within six weeks, Hastings M.P.P. Clarke Rollins has advised the Marmora Village Council. A second application for $15,000 will have to wait until the actual expenditures take place and the bills are submitted to recover the monies, Mr. Rollins added.

Library service now free

Library services are now free to everyone in Huntingdon and Madoc townships. On Tuesday, July 15th, a Puppet Show will be presented at the Madoc Public Library by "The Deck Hands" at 1:00 p.m. All children are welcome.

Bannockburn banter

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Donly and family, Stirling, called on Mrs. Donly recently, prior to their departure for their trip to the East Coast.

Several ladies from the village attended a Tupperware party sponsored by Miss Pamela Wood last week.

Mrs. McEwen and Gloria spent Sunday in Ottawa and attended the Kathryn Kuhlman services.

Miss Kathleen Sandford of Oshawa spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Burton Sandford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Judges, Madoc, were guests of Mrs. Davidson and Mr. John Wilson one evening last week.

Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Nicol of Belleville were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harris at their summer cottage in Steenburg.

One of the guest speakers from Gunter Lake Camp spoke in the Tabernacle Sunday morning and was very much enjoyed.

Misses Colleen Donly and Ellen Mawson, Belleville, were weekend guests with Mrs. Donly.

Madoc 4-H Calf Club judges calves at meeting

On Monday, July 11th, the Madoc 4-H Calf Club held their third meeting of the year at Mr. and Mrs. Don McKinnon's farm. There, the members held a judging competition of several cows, after which they gave their reasons for the order in which they placed the cows.

Lunch was served by Mrs. McKinnon at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be held on July 16th at the Marmora school.

Around the Huntingdon area

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bronson returned July 7th from a three-week vacation in Ireland and England. They attended the wedding of Mr. Austin Hynes of Dublin, with whom a number of people in the Madoc area are acquainted.

During Mr. and Mrs. Bronson's stay, they covered 2600 miles by car, following the grand tour route, making various stopovers at friends in Donegal, Mayo, Cork and Wicklow counties. The summer weather has been the best in ten years in Ireland and Great Britain, with no rain in ten weeks, so the rural communities are looking for the rain for which the country is noted and the vacationers are making the best of the fine weather.

Mrs. Percy Keller is home, after spending a week in Queen's Self-care Unit.

Greg and Steven Alderton of Niagara Falls are spending a few weeks holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tebworth. Other weekend guests there were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Williams and Linda of Gravenhurst.

Mrs. Lucy Phillips and Harry, Coppercliffe, Cliffe, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Keller and attended the 12th of July celebration.

A number of people from this area attended the 12th of July celebrations in Belleville.

Mrs. Marion Hie and son, Jimmy, of Cobourg spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Ormerod.

Congratulations to the Madoc Pee Wees (with whom a number of our community boys play). They played Earnstown and came up with a "B" Championship.

Queensboro area highlights

Mrs. Arthur Holmes - 473-2140

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Devolin and family, Oshawa were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon.

Miss Annette Foley, Madoc Township spent a few days last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Johnston and family, Renfrew, were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Holmes and Dean, Trenton, and Mrs. Claude Keene, Cooper, visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmes and Mrs. Ash on Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Barry and Miss Rose Laffin were weekend guests, of Mrs. Gil Bulger at her cottage near Eganville.

Mrs. Allan Ramsay was hostess for a miscellaneous shower on Thursday evening for Miss Katherine Burnside, a bride-to-be.

An Induction Service to welcome G. Arnold Creaser to Queensboro Pastoral Charge was held on Wednesday evening in St. Andrew's United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, Peterborough, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson.

A miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Valerie Nanson (nee Valerie Gordon), St. Catharines, was on Monday evening in W.I. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Holmes spent last week touring the Eastern Provinces.

Local players are involved

Marmora and Madoc players dominate the area entry in the men's softball tournament taking place at Marmora this weekend.

The squad, one of 12 teams entered in a three day tourney, plays Tweed in opening round action at 7 p.m. Friday.

Games continue Saturday and Sunday. Madoc players on the squad include Brian Smith, Darrell Cramp and Tom Burnside.

Marmora area players are Joe Barrons, Keith Fenton, Gord Donaldson, Rick Nobes, Harold Maloney, Norm Barrons, AND Fred Fenton.

The squad played an exhibition game against Peterborough Lift Lock Golfers recently, and came through with a hardfought 3-1 victory.

Kerr, back in saddle, plans gun control laws

George Kerr was returned as Ontario's solicitor-general and immediately called for a meeting with federal officials to sort out a system of gun control laws.

Kerr, 51, a lawyer who resigned last February after he was implicated in a preliminary hearing in the Hamilton harbor scandal, said the last few months have been "the toughest of my political... but today is at the other end of the scale." He was publicly cleared of any wrongdoing in the Hamilton trial and Premier William Davis, as he had promised, offered Kerr his old job back.

Kerr said he favors a system of licensing for anyone who wants to buy a gun or ammunition. In order to get a licence, a person would have to pass a test showing knowledge of fire-arms, be either 16 or 18 years olds and likely without a criminal back-ground. Kerr said under the plan, a retailer could not sell an unlicensed person a gun or ammunition.

He said it would be preferable if Ottawa brought in federal legislation governing guns because the federal government can control imports of weapons into the country but added if Ottawa doesn't act, Ontario will go it alone.

Kerr said his scheme would also allow legitimate sportsmen who use guns for hunting or skeet shooting to buy weapons and ammunition.

Thankyou...

To the people of Madoc and district:

We would like to thank you for the wonderful support and encouragement you gave us during opening week.

Also it is proper at this time to thank all those that have assisted us with advice, supplies and workmanship to make the store a reality.

The patronage the store enjoyed in these first days is an endorsement to the need for this type of store in our community.

Special mention should be given to the following: Earl Wartman, Bud Palmer, Fred Bailey, Ron Treverton, Don Reid and their respective crews for the excellent performance they did to fix up the old wreck of a building.

Special mention also to Madoc Pro and Madoc Cash and Carry for supplying us with needed materials at the right time.

To all of you, we wish to say "thanks".

We wish to apologize for running short in supplies during the sale and with our increased knowledge gained from that experience we shall endeavour to cover our future promotions with sufficient supplies to meet your overwhelming demand.

Our specialty shall be to supply you with bread, milk and ice-cream at competitive prices, and of a fresh quality. We will have to apologize that we are not able to sponsor too many promotions at reduced prices in these lines due to the fact that our everyday price shall be held at reasonable profit levels. However, in these lines, we shall never be undersold.

Our pledge to you from this day on shall be that save for Mondays, when we have no bread delivery, all bread sold at regular price will be baked on date of sale. All bread held from the business day before shall immediately be reduced to a lower price when the fresh shipment arrives.

Yours very truly,
CONNIE AND KEN

Purinaettes win & tie

In the past week's action, the Purinaettes came up with a tie and a win.

On Thursday, July 10th, here at Madoc Ball Park, the Purinaettes battled with Belleville Broadloom to a 7-7 draw. Sandra Fleming pitched the game for the Purinaettes, allowing 11 hits, giving up one walk and striking out five batters. Susan Fobert of Broadloom gave up 14 hits, a walk and struck out one. Jane Bailey counted for a home run, entitling her to her 8th free Red Barn barnbuster of the season and she also had a triple. Bonnie Jones had a triple, Bonnie Thompson had two singles and a triple and Roseanne Chapman and Darlene Bedore each had three singles. Cathy Smith received the Madoc Dairy voucher for Purinaettes MVP and Janet Smith received the Kramp's Happy Hut voucher as MVP for Belleville Broadloom.

On Sunday, July 13th, at the Alemite Park in Belleville, the Purinaettes shut out Mobil Chemicals, 9-0. Darlene Bedore took the win, giving up six hits and two walks and struck out six batters. Joanne Garvin took the loss for Mobil, going the whole game. The Bailey girls led the Purinaettes with Jane getting a triple and a single and Joan hitting two doubles and a single. Bonnie Thompson also doubled and had two singles to round off the scoring.

In this week's action the Purinaettes visit the Belleville Yardmen tonight at the Alemite Park in Belleville at 7:00 p.m. This is a big game, as these two teams battle for first place.

On Thursday, July 17th, Madoc hosts Ellis Construction in an 8:00 p.m. contest here at the ball park.

This weekend the Purinaettes travel to Waterford for a tournament.

Reserve Saturday, July 28th, at 8:00 p.m. for the All-star game to be played here in Madoc between the Belleville All-stars and our 1974 Champion Purinaettes. Admission will be 50 cents.

Couple mark 40th wedding anniversary

Around 150 friends and relatives of George and Reta Allore gathered at Madoc Orange Hall to offer congratulations on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Their daughter, Shirley Beal, and cousin, Gloria Daunter, were hostesses to the happy event. The hall was beautifully decorated in ruby and white with a very attractive anniversary cake centering the table at the front of the hall. A beautiful arrangement of flowers was on the table at the back of the hall, where many lovely gifts were displayed with a rack of 40th anniversary cards. The flower arrangement was given by Mrs. Roy Ketcheson from Niagara Falls in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. Wm. (Shirley) Beal is the only child of the Allores. They have three grandchildren, Allan, Douglas and Donna Beal.

George has three sisters, Mrs. Mae Kaiser, Mrs. Ruby Belch and Mrs. Pearl Lyons, who assisted in serving the delicious lunch.

Reta has two sisters, Mrs. Alice Wood and Mrs. Vada Downey, who also assisted and two brothers, Percy and Lloyd Fleming.

Reta, who was formerly Reta Fleming, daughter of Richard and Mary Fleming, was married on June 26, 1935, at Madoc Parsonage by Rev. Rivers.

About 50 relatives and friends sat down to a beautiful supper at 5:30.

Showerers honor bride to Miss Katherine Burnside, an August bride-to-be was honored at two bridal showers this month.

On Saturday, July 5th, a lovely kitchen shower was held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Winnifred Ketcheson in the afternoon. Approximately 30 ladies were present to shower the bride with many useful kitchen items. Each guest also brought along a copy of her favourite recipe, attached to one ingredient from it. The shower, sponsored by Mrs. Dinie Brady, Mrs. Ria Gratton and Mrs. Beverly Holmes, included some very interesting contests and a reading by Mrs. Holmes. An address was given by Miss Minnie Moorcroft. A lovely lunch was served at the close of the program.

Mrs. Roberta Ramsay was hostess to a miscellaneous shower on Thursday evening, July 10th for Katherine. The program consisted of two contests and the reading of two poems. Lunch was served after the many lovely gifts were opened.

The bride expressed her appreciation to all after she had opened the gifts at both of these showers.

Family physician

BY DR. JAMES G. PRICE

I just finished making my morning rounds at the hospital and one of the outpatients I saw was suffering from a classical case of a very common ailment — bursitis of the shoulder. The patient is a perfectly well 40-year-old man who played catch a couple of days ago with his son. He felt a few twinges in his shoulder that night, and his discomfort has grown steadily worse until last night the pain was so severe that he walked the floor for three hours. This morning he's still in pain and refuses to lift his arm away from his body simply because it hurts too much to do so.

My patient has typical shoulder bursitis due to swelling and irritation of the bursa, or sac, which encloses the shoulder joint. It was triggered off by the unaccustomed activity of throwing the baseball, and in the normal course of events, it may be several days before he can raise the affected arm high enough to comb his hair.

Most people with this problem seem to suffer their worst pain at night. They often go to sleep as usual only to be awakened at 2 or 3 o'clock by such severe pain that they can't stay in bed. The pain, which is present even with the arm at rest, is made much worse by any effort to move the shoulder joint, and nothing short of strong pain killers provides relief.

This condition is quite similar to "tendonitis" of the shoulder, in which the swelling and irritation is in a tendon which passes through a groove at the point of the shoulder.

Treatment for bursitis (or tendonitis) is initially aimed at relieving the pain and inflammation. In my experience narcotics are often required to make a person comfortable enough to sleep. These are given in the minimal dose which does the trick, and I warn the patient to keep his prescription bottle in some place where an inquisitive child isn't likely to find it and sample the medicine.

There are several medicines used for treating the inflammation. Some derivative of cortisone is often quite effective as are the non-cortisone anti-inflammatory agents. Stomach ulcers, diabetes and several other conditions are contraindications to cortisone, and before prescribing it, we always inquire about possible conditions which might be aggravated by the drug.

Darcy's package of goodies

Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough reached deep into his political bag of tricks and pulled out a $178 million package of goodies which he says won't cost the tax-payers a nickel.

McKeough, introducing a pre-election mini-budget, promised to sink an extra $30 million into housing and eliminate the retail sales tax on most North American cars purchased between now and the end of the year.

To pay for it, McKeough said, the province will cut $96 million from such programs as buying up park land and future highway rights-of-way and chop another $82 million through an immediate freeze on civil service hiring, a 10 per cent cut in government operating costs and consolidation of regional offices.

The mini-budget, coming just three months after McKeough's record $1.7 million deficit budget, was an obvious political response to federal Finance Minister John Turner's June budget.

Both McKeough and Premier William Davis spiced their comments on the budget with direct attacks on Turner and the federal Liberals, obviously hoping some of the hostility caused by Ottawa will spill over to the provincial Liberals.

McKeough called on all government boards and agencies to cut their spending, especially Ontario Hydro, which he says will cut its costs by 10 per cent this year and shave $1 billion from its long-range investment program.

The mini-budget increases the provincial deficit by $100,000,000 all of which McKeough says is attributable to a loss of provincial revenue caused by Turner's budget.

That budget slapped a 10-cent-a-gallon excise tax plus another nickel at the pumps on gasoline and heating fuel. Davis announced a 90-day freeze on the nickel, but the mini-budget took no further action on gasoline or heating oil costs.

McKeough says the housing measures will mean an additional 19,000 units this year — 4,000 for senior citizens, 6,000 for low-income rental housing and the rest under an expanded Ontario Housing Action Program for low-cost ownership units.

The five per cent savings on new cars will save the average buyer $175. It applies to all new North American cars seating up to 10 people, with engines of less than 460 cubic inches — that means most cars, but not luxury cars like Cadillacs and Lincolns — and also to North American station-wagons. The sales tax rebates will be mailed by the government to the car buyer.

McKeough also announced that Ontario wants out of all future federal-provincial cost-sharing programs, particularly medicare. He wants Ottawa to give Ontario the $1.1 billion which it receives in transfer payments from Ottawa, so that this province can run its own health scheme.

Dancers highlight Peace Park observance

The Kingston fold dance group, which were a hit at last year's Lester B. Pearson Peace Park festival with their Highland, Irish and other national dances will be at the 1975 Peace Park Festival on No. 7 Highway July 19.

Entries are coming in for the arts, crafts, rockband and hobby show which will be featured from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with the memorial service at 2 p.m.

Miss Flora Macdonald who is seriously considering running for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party and if successful would become the leader of the Opposition and a potential prime minister of Canada, will be the main speaker.

Hastings County's largest watermelon eating contest will provide a prize for the boy or girl who can eat a quarter watermelon the fastest with their hands behind their backs. All school children are invited to enter. They can also join the egg tossing contest with a prize to the couple that can toss an egg the farthest without breaking it.

A Centennial Medallion will be given to all children on the grounds.

There will be an attendance prize, a prize for the oldest person on the grounds and a prize for the oldest veteran present. The biggest prize of all will go to the holder of the winning raffle ticket, a cash prize of $50.

There is no admission charge.

Swims Crowe Lake

A 10-year-old American boy could well be looking toward a marathon swimming hobby.

Jody Woodman, of Maryland, swam the two and one-half mile distance in one hour and 15 minutes.

His father took him to the starting point at Camp Wanda and he swam unassisted to the east shore where he landed at the Morse cottage.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Marjorie Woodman.

CARDS OF THANKS

I WOULD LIKE to express my sincere thanks to Reverend T.G. Scanlan and Dr.
Parkin. Also, my family, relatives and friends for their masses, prayers, visits, gifts, cards, flowers and telephone calls during my recent illness. -- Sincerely,
Mrs. Theresa Jamieson.

CARDS OF THANKS

THANK YOU to all my friends, neighbours and relatives for their cards, visits, flowers and treats while I was a patient in Belleville General Hospital and since my return home. Special thanks to my room mates in 503, the nurses and staff on level five, Rev. Peters and Rev.
Thompson for their visits and to Dr. Peter Scott and Drs. Allen and Berry. -- Shirley McCoy.

I WISH TO THANK attending doctors, the nurses and staff of Civic Hospital for their care and consideration while a patient.

My thanks are also extended to Rev.
Neilson, the Presbyterian Church and other visiting clergymen, Havelock Masonic Lodge No. 435, Norwood Minor Sports, my friends, neighbours and relatives for cards and gifts, also their kindness shown to my wife, Ruth, during and since my recent illness. -- Bill Buchanan.

I WOULD LIKE to express my thanks to my friends and relatives for their cards, flowers and visits. And a special thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff while I was a patient in Belleville General Hospital. -- Iva Baker.

I WOULD LIKE to thank Drs. Scott and Derry, also Revs. Petters and Stevenson, and to all my friends and neighbours for gifts, cards and letters during my stay in Belleville Hospital. -- Mrs. D. (Laura) McNabb.

I WOULD LIKE to thank family, friends and neighbours for cards, flowers, visits and phone calls while I was a patient at Kingston General Hospital. A special thank you to Drs. Vancott, Armstrong, Lynn, Reid, Boston, Reddy, Delahaye and to the nurses and staff on Connell Seven.
May God bless you all. -- Mrs. Carolyn Miksa.

WE WOULD LIKE to express our sincere thanks to friends, neighbours and relatives for the lovely floral tributes and all other acts of kindness shown during our recent loss of a dear son. We also want to thank Allen Fluke who so kindly did so much for us at that time, also the fellow workers at Avco Finances in Belleville and Tweed. Also, all the pall-bearers.
Special thanks to Rev. Peters and the Howden Funeral Home and the ladies who so kindly served lunch after the funeral. A special thanks to them all. -- Mr. and Mrs.
Donald Phillips and family.

THE FAMILY OF the late Driscilla Dainard wish to express their sincere thanks to their friends, neighbours and relatives for floral tributes, messages of sympathy and contributions to the heart and cancer funds. Also, the kindness of the ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at the time of the loss of a dear sister and aunt. Our special thanks to the Milroy Funeral Home and to Rev. J.
Neilson for his comforting message.

GRADUATION

Carole A. Cassidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cassidy, received her nursing diploma on June 28th from St. Lawrence College of Applied Arts and Technology, Kingston, Ontario.

Carole is a graduate of Centre Hastings Secondary School.

Area ponds included in stocking

The Norwood and Havelock ponds were two of 12 locations slated to receive ten thousand brook trout and four thousand rainbow trout, the ministry of natural resources has reported.

Other sites ranged from the ponds in the city of Peterborough, to Grafton Creek, Baltimore Creek, and the Ouse River.

Musky populations have increased in the Kawartha Lakes, including Belmont, Round, Crowe and Cordova Lakes with the planting of approximately 150,000 musky fry from the Deer Lake Provincial Fish Hatchery.

The Kawartha Lakes can also expect approximately 14,000 musky fingerlings by mid-August.

Streams flowing into Lake Ontario in the Region of Durham and the county of Northumberland will receive 100,000 rainbow trout fry this summer.

Want more police surveillance

Sgt. Wilkinson of Madoc Detachment O.P.P. will be invited to meet with Marmora Village Council soon, to discuss more surveillance for Marmora, particularly on Friday and Saturday nights. Councillor Dave McLelland said he expects someone to be killed while speeding down Madoc Street beside the hotel.

Hoard first head

Gordon Hoard was elected president of the new Rawdon-Stirling Provincial Liberal Association as the group held its founding meeting at the Rawdon Township Hall in Harold last week.

Burton Sharpe was elected past-president and Ken Cough and Mrs. Roy LaChapelle vice-presidents. The treasurer is Howard Wallace.

David Hobson, Liberal candidate for Hastings-Peterborough in the provincial general election expected this October, was guest speaker.

A teacher at the high school in Bancroft, who owns and lives on a farm near Apsley, Mr. Hobson said he had gone house to house in a canvass of the Stirling area on Saturday and had a pretty good reception.

"All that is really needed is some hard work and dedication from members," he contended.

Mr. Hobson said the present Davis government has fallen down in many areas; one of them being money management. The present government has borrowed money at such a rate that it will take years, possibly generations, to pay it all back.

Madoc Village - Does it have quality?

By Garnet Pigden

During the past few weeks I have been delving into the history of Madoc Village and Madoc Township. I have arrived at the realization that Madoc was and is a community of admirable quality. Similarly, the communities in the township of Madoc are giants of community spirit and action. Next to the family, the community is the most important centre of the activities that make life what it is. No other environment plays a more productive part in fostering the moral values of life.

Many politicians and lecturers are trying to bury the community spirit under tons of words, in praise of political take-over, with management by computers, statistics and experts. But a community is not made by impersonal forces. Governments on all levels are beginning to learn this through their efforts to enforce redevelopment programs without consulting the people who live in the area concerned.

Citizens are involved in community work for many reasons. It is a shield against a domineering government; it satisfies the desire to contribute something to humanity; it enhances experiences and the mind; it gives a person something to do that is worthwhile.

The good citizen is not a romantic idealist. He improves his community by employing concrete plans and by working with others to build a firm foundation.

People living in the same neighbourhood may vary greatly but they do have things in common. They must cope with an environment that is the same for all of them, as they are in pursuit of happiness.

Many people who have positive aspirations fail to undertake remedial action or constructive effort. They are citizens who take that satisfied stroll through a quaint, clean, little village and yet are apathetic about improving the street on which they live.

The community of individuals, in hamlet, village, town or city, are endowed with limited political autonomy which supports such primary institutions as churches and schools, and organizes secondary institutions like businessmen's associations, fraternal societies, and centres for recreational and artistic activities.

The quality of a community cannot be expressed in any single phase. It is the collective name for a great number of different things, every one of which is beneficial in developing the essential values of life. The community is the background, foreground and setting of a person's home. If we are proud of Canadian democracy, then we should maintain it by practicing it. The greatest opportunity to take part in the democratic process is in our communities.

Broadly speaking, there are two sorts of well-meaning people working toward the same objective. There are those who believe that community problems can be solved through persuasion, negotiation, and compromise. That is the democratic way. Others think that the problems can be solved only by implementing and enforcing laws. That is the fascist way.

Democracy is a system of values. For the upholding of personal freedoms it relies on sympathy, understanding, mutual aid and the warm appreciation of personality.

In the community there are many conflicts of interest - spiritual, cultural, political, civic, economic, educational and social. Explosive problems naturally arise, but if a persistent effort is applied to achieve harmony, then we shall be aware of a successful community which is establishing a civilized way of life.

People do not become part of a community by living within the same region, but by sharing interests, and engaging in activities to better the standard of living within the community. The strongest bond people can have is the feeling of having common problems, common values, and common hopes.

To be in a community is to be in partnership. The community will grow and prosper as long as it has partners who plan, work, play and act together.

Community work is self-developing work. Through helping others, citizens can learn to help themselves. They establish a sense of worth by assisting the elderly, the young, the disabled and the misguided. They can develop a well-rounded personality by practicing their strong points and improving their weak qualities. Governor General Vanier said in an address: "Many people have a strong and inborn need to give generously of themselves. To satisfy this need they require to do more than merely reach for their cheque books."

If a person is to have dignity - to hold his head high - he must make his contribution to life. Shakespeare said in Hamlet, "We know what we are, but we know not what we may be." It is in the community that man feels what he is and has a chance to become what he can be.

The individual can obtain a sense of status and a sense of social acceptance and support through association with others in church, school, club and recreation.

A community of quality must listen to the young people. They want to be an effective part of a community. They are excited by the idea that they can make a contribution.

They are emotional about causes and issues, and are more likely to join enthusiastically in a thorough-going reform than in a half-way measure which only cures on facet of the disease.

Young people have needs. It is not an efficient answer to today's street-corner culture to keep a child under house-arrest. The community must provide out-of-school activities and healthful outlets for creative energies. The citizens should encourage young people to spend less time in the pool room and more time doing something anything for their community.

If the young people wanted a voice in community projects and activities, they could organize their own councils. They might even be given the space, the opportunity, and the tools to make their own games, places and sports fields.

When people campaign for funds to erect a community building or to make a park, they are selling not only a little building or patch of vegetation but these things as symbols of a worthy purpose.

When we proceed from discussion and planning to action we should not allow the group's finished plan to be pulled to pieces by pessimists. We should not give in when someone wishes to shift the proposal into established channels, which frequently flow slowly. Sir Christopher Wren made plans to build a new London on the ashes left by the great fire, a city in which men and women would live healthier and better lives. It was a chance that destiny offered, but as Wren's biographer writes, then came "the slow, bitter realization that petty officialdom, personal greed, stupidity, obstinacy, prejudice and sentimentality were massing their dead and deadening weight against him until finally his dream city was utterly lost."

Membership in the community derives from a sense of "belonging". People are not a faceless group, but neighbours and friends.

The good citizen will take the fate of his community into his own hands and will shape its destiny by collaborating with other citizens. Then things happen. Problems get solved. Wrong things are made right. The beauty and spirit of the community are enhanced.

History of Village, Twp will be published soon

In the fall of 1975 a book on the history of Madoc Village and Madoc Township will be published by Mr. Maurice Goulah at the Madoc Review. The book will be printed from the findings of two area students who are working on a Opportunities For Youth (OFY) project.

Last week, at a meeting of the OFY students who are involved in writing a history of the Madoc and Marmora area, it was resolved that two history books, one on each area, will be published.

The students who are writing the history of the Madoc area are Ardith McKinnon and Garnet Pigden. They have completed three chapters of a ten chapter history and are asking area residents to contribute further information.

If you have any pictures, written matter or suggestions concerning the history of Madoc Village and Madoc Township please mail your material to Garnet Pigden at R.R. #2, Madoc, or leave it at the Madoc Review in care of Mr. Goulah.

Chops & Pears

Drain 1 can (16 or 29 ounces) pear halves; reserve 2 tablespoons syrup and combine with 1/4 cup orange marmalade, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 2 teaspoons prepared mustard. Place 6 smoked pork chops (1-inch thick) on broiler rack so tops are 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil 10 minutes. Turn and broil second side 10 minutes. Brush chops with marmalade mixture and continue broiling 10 to 15 minutes, brushing and turning occasionally. Brush cut side pears with remaining mixture, place cut side up on rack, complete broiling for 5 minutes.

Over 80 fires reported this year

Midway through the year, a total of 83 fires, burning an average of 1,132 acres, have been reported in the Tweed district.

The 1974 fire season resulted in a total of 63 fires burning over 260 acres.

The recent heat wave and the lack of rain throughout the area has kept the forest fire hazard thermometer ranging from high to extreme. Last week six fires were burning, with unit fire crews on a 24-hour alert.

An important part of fire suppression today is the use of aircraft. One blaze last week, burning over 55 acres in an accessible area, was brought under control by airlifting men and equipment into the area by helicopter. This fire was spotted by the regular aerial detection patrol which reports "smokes" in their early stages and make fire suppression more effective.

The breakdown of the 83 fires so far this year—are: 24 per cent caused through recreation; 24 per cent by residents; four per cent by lighting; and 48 per cent by railway, industry, incendiary or miscellaneous causes.

A fire permit, which can be obtained from the ministry of natural resources or a township fire warden is required for all fires other than those required for cooking or warmth. At this time, however, all permits have been cancelled due to high fire hazard conditions. Anyone spotting a fire is required to report it immediately to the ministry of natural resources or to the Ontario Provincial Police, giving as accurate a location as possible and an approximate size.

Madoc man critical after accident on Highway 7

A 20-year-old Madoc man remains in Kingston General Hospital today as a result of injuries received in a single-vehicle accident early Sunday morning on Highway 7.

First listed in serious condition, but now described as critical, is Richard P. Carswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. (Buck) Carswell, of 205 St. Lawrence St., Madoc. Alone at the time, Mr. Carswell was travelling west when the accident occurred. He apparently lost control of the car, which rolled over. He suffered a laceration to his arm and severe head injuries.

Taken by ambulance to Belleville General Hospital, he was transferred almost immediately to Kingston General Hospital. The mishap occurred at 2:45 a.m. on Sunday, July 20.

Damage to the vehicles is estimated at $2,000. Constable Bonter of the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police was the investigating officer.

Flinton woman knocked unconscious robbed of $500

A woman in a Flinton home Thursday evening, was knocked unconscious and robbed of $500 from an as yet unknown intruder.

The woman, who has not been identified, told police she had heard a knock on the door about 9 p.m. Answering the door, a young man asked her if her husband was home. She replied he wasn't and the man forced his way into the home, striking the woman on the head.

The owners of the home returned about 10 p.m. to find the woman still unconscious. She was not seriously injured and described her assailant as about 5 feet 9 inches tall, medium built, medium length hair, wearing a t-shirt and something on his head which he pulled down over his eyes.

Kaladar provincial police are investigating the incident.

Failed to negotiate turn, strikes posts

An RR 3, Madoc man failed to negotiate a curve early Sunday morning, left the road and struck five guideposts.

Eric Clifford Bailey, 19, was driving along County Road 12, about 5½ miles north of Highway 7 when the accident occurred.

He escaped with only a bump on his head but damage to the car was estimated at $2,000, with a further $75 to the guideposts.

Injured

A 16-year-old Ajax youth was treated and released from Belleville General Hospital Sunday afternoon following a collision on Highway 7, three miles west of Marmora.

Terry G. Allen was the driver of a van that struck a second vehicle, parked on the shoulder facing east.

Owner of the second vehicle was Robert Rodine, 66, of Cameron St., Marmora.

Damage was estimated by police at $800 to the front end of the van and $300 to the left front of the Rodine car.

Tudor and Cashel council votes to approve tender

The township of Tudor and Cashel has accepted a tender of the Belleville Truck Centre to supply a new truck providing it can be delivered in January 1976, subject to the approval of the ministry of transportation and communications.

The decision was made at the monthly meeting of the council, held July 4.

Council also requested the ministry of transportation and communication to approve speed limits in specified areas in the townships.

Rain moves Peace Festival inside

The 9th Annual Peace Park Festival at the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park on No. 7 Highway near Madoc, Ontario, on Saturday, July 19th, was transferred to the Kiwanis Centre in Madoc due to the rain.

There, the 300 visitors to the park filled the Centre, among which was a bus load of Senior Citizens from Corbyville, Ontario.

"There should be a moratorium on nuclear weapons", stated Miss Flora Macdonald, Federal Member for Kingston, who was the guest speaker. "Florence Nightingale was the first woman who tried to reduce the horrors of war. Our children should have the opportunity of living in peace without war". Miss Macdonald received a standing ovation.

The Memorial Service was conducted by Rev. Capt. J. H. Thompson, assisted by Pastor Paul Willoughby and Rev. Edmund McColl. Oscar Thurston was the Sergeant-At-Arms, with members of the Tweed and Madoc Legion Branches.

Entertainment was provided by the Kingston Folk Dance Art Council. Roy Cadwell, Chairman of the Park, presented the "Friends of the Peace Park" awards to the following: Irene Allaway, Toronto; Priscilla Cadwell, Secretary of the Park, Tweed; Beatrice Holmes, Harrowsmith; Earl L. Lutes, Toronto; Mary Macdonald, Former Secretary to Mr. Pearson, Ottawa; Lloyd Price, Actinolite; Fred Rogers, Havelock; Oscar Thurston, Sergeant-At-Arms, Tweed; Johan Wetlesen, Toronto. Mr. Cadwell, in his remarks, referred to the fact that this was "Peace Week" in Madoc, as declared by the municipality of Madoc; the first time in Canada that any municipality had made such a declaration.

Jules Leger, Governor-General, this year's winner of the "Man of the Year" Peace Award, expressed regret at not being able to be present in a letter from his secretary, due to official duties in Prince Edward Island. The award will be delivered to him at Government House in Ottawa.

Platform guests were: Jack Ellis, M.P. Hastings; Harold Vinch, Vice-President, Moira River Conservation Authority; V. A. McMurray, Secretary-Manager, Hastings Tourist Association and Mrs. Percy Broadworth, President of the Madoc Senior Citizens.

Priscilla Cadwell read a peace message from Pierre Elliott Trudeau, Prime Minister. Heather Kirkwood attended, with representatives of the Madoc Cubs and Boy Scouts.

P. S. Roff, of the Gateway Restaurant, Tweed, was the winner of the $50 cash prize in the draw. Jennie Broadworth of Madoc won the attendance prize and Robert Peacock, 91, won the prize for being the oldest person present. The whole program was televised live by C.K.W.S. Kingston.

United Church lay minister seeking NDP nomination

A lay minister with the United Church of Canada has announced his intentions of seeking the New Democratic Party nomination to contest the new provincial riding of Hastings-Peterborough in the provincial general election expected this fall.

Bob Thompson, presently of Desoronto and a native of Belleville, will seek the nomination at the NDP's nomination convention at the Centre Hastings Secondary School, Madoc, Wednesday, July 30, at 8:30 p.m.

He is the only declared candidate.

George Samis, MPP Stormont, will be guest speaker.

Mr. Thompson, along with his wife Bev, serves as minister for the United Churches of Desoronto and Melrose.

A graduate of Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, Bob attended Trent University and Queen's University, where he received his B.A. He is continuing his studies at Queen's and expects to receive his M. Div. in the Spring of 1976.

Mr. Thompson feels his keen interest in Canadian History and Politics, combined with his deep concern for the welfare of people, qualify him to understand and represent the needs of people in this area. Throughout his life, he has continually dedicated himself to helping people.

Besides having served in the mission fields of Northern Saskatchewan, and in Nova Scotia, Bob is executive secretary of Caravans, a community service sponsored by the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Thompson told this newspaper there is a need in the province for politicians to have more concern for people and their life style.

"The neglect by politicians of people problems is contributing to the decline of the small farm and the erosion of the community spirit which once made this area an exciting place to live."

Back-to-school allowances not across-the-board

There will be no across-the-board back to school allowances paid the people of Ontario this year.

But there will be a back-to-school benefit paid to all family benefits dependent children and foster children.

Clarke T. Rollins, MPP Hastings, advised this newspaper that he thought everything was quite clear in the newsletter he had sent out to the people of the riding.

This newspaper discovered, however, that some people were confused by it and thought the allowances would apply to everybody.

Mr. Rollins notes that the benefits to those eligible will be $25 for each dependent child who attains the age of 4-12 years in the calendar year in which the amount is paid, and $50 for each dependent child who attains the age of 13 years or more in the calendar year in which the amount is paid.

The payment will be by a separate benefit cheque, issued during the month of August.

Cheques will be sent automatically; no application is required.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO Request for Submission of Briefs from the Public to the SPECIAL PROGRAM REVIEW

The Government of Ontario has established a Special Program Review to enquire into ways and means of reducing the costs of Government and public sector expenditures.

The Special Program review will welcome the views of the public on various courses of action which the Government might take to reduce public expenditures. Therefore, they will receive written briefs from any individual, group, organization or association which can provide suggestions to:

- (1) operate the existing programs of government more efficiently and economically;
- (2) deliver the desired public services in a different way to give better service at reduced cost;
- (3) reduce the level of service of programs whose benefits no longer have as high a priority as they once had;
- (4) phase out programs which have outlived their usefulness.

Briefs are requested by September 15, 1975.
The mailing address is:

Government of Ontario,
Special Program Review,

BOWMAN-CRAWFORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Willfred Crawford of R.R. 2, Marmora, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Joyce, to Leslie R. Bowman of 189a Cedarvale Cres., Waterloo, Ontario. The marriage will take place August 30th, at 3:00 p.m. at International Gospel Centre, Charles Street, Kitchener, Ontario.

Jim McCann, son of Clayton and Mary McCann and grandson of the late Mary McCann, of Eldorado and Margaret Boyce, of Belleville, graduated from Trent University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology. Jim previously attended Kenner Collegiate Vocational Institute, Peterborough.

Nature walk Sunday

The Moira River Conservation Authority will be conducting an enterprise nature walk Sunday, July 27 at the O'Hara Conservation Area near Madoc.

The walk will be guided by Judy Robinson of the Authority's Experience '75 program. Those interested should meet at the O'Hara House at either 1 p.m. or 2:30 p.m.

The hour-long walk will feature a discussion of the park's flora and fauna and some interesting natural history of native plants.

Police seek hit and run car

Madoc provincial police this week are searching for a hit and run suspect after an unattended car parked by the Stoco Hotel, five miles east of Tweed, was damaged to the extent of $400 early Sunday morning. Driver of the damaged vehicle was Brenda Calvert, of Thomasburg.

HOLMES / Mary Ann - At the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday, July 19, 1975, Mary Anne Holmes, of Madoc, in her 81st year, dear daughter of the late John Lynn and Margaret Wright, beloved wife of the late Fred Holmes, dear mother of Hilda [Mrs. G. Devolin] of Madoc, Verna [Mrs. L. Empey] of Madoc, Vera [Mrs. E. Wannamaker] of Lindsay, Lynn, of RR 3, Madoc, Hattie [Mrs. M. Bronson] of Madoc, Geneva [Mrs. R. Armstrong] of Cobourg, June [Mrs. V. Bronson] of Peterborough, Phyllis [Mrs. B. Quesnel] of Peterborough. Dear sister of Mrs. Emma Henry, of Cobourg, Arthur Lynn, of Perth, Mrs. Jessie Holmes, of Queensboro, Thomas Lynn, of Tweed, Walter Lynn, of Queensboro. Dearly loved by her 24 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Holmes rested at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, where services were conducted by Rev. J. Peters on Monday, July 21, 1975, at 1 p.m.

Interment took place at Hazzard's Cemetery. Six of her grandchildren acted as pallbearers: Douglas Devolin, David Holmes, Wendell Empey, Wayne Bronson, Michael Bronson and Stephen Quesnel. The Madoc Senior Citizen Club formed an honor guard at the funeral home to show the great respect both the club and the community held for Mrs. Holmes.

Swims Deer Lake

The third person to swim across Deer Lake this year was Randy Rowe on July 20 at 12 noon. It took him 36 minutes to swim from Cordova Beach across the lake and back to the beach. Accompanied by his cousin Rob Bertrand and Maryella Scollick in a boat. Randy is the third person to swim this year, the other two swam across two weeks ago.

Terrorism - Yes or No?

By Garnet Pigden

Do we condone terrorism? Do we recognize organizations which are merely trying to gain attention, recognition and their desired ends through acts of violence? Is it right for a group who is inspired by a 'worthy cause' to take the lives of innocent children and adults?

Very soon Canada will have to reveal her decision on these questions. She will have to state whether or not she will allow the Palestine Liberation Organizations (PLO) to attend the United Nations' International Crime Conference to be held in Toronto. Perhaps Canada should allow the PLO to come, for they are the greatest offenders in world crime. However, if Canada refused to permit their presence then she would be saying to all the world, that she disapproves of the PLO's terrorist actions.

Let's take a look at terrorism for a minute.

It might be said that the modern day movements promote acts of terrorism. This has been quite apparent in very recent history. Look at the Negro movement in the United States, the horror of the FLQ in Canada, the crimes of the Symbionese Liberation Army, the bombings connected with the Irish Republican Army and the atrocities of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Ask yourself if these acts are justified. I hope that you have arrived at the only moral conclusion which is "NO", dissenting minority groups do not have the right to kill, maim and place honest, peace-loving people under fear.

However, history has shown us that many leaders of radical movements and revolutions have become immortalized. In Canada, William Lyon MacKenzie was the hero of the 1837 rebellion. In Russia, Lenin, and in Cuba, Castro, became the leaders and heroes of revolutions.

Terrorism arouses horror precisely because it appears blind, exceptional and uncontrollable. But terrorism loses all its magic when it takes on a human face. The arm that strikes with the knife is guided by a 'noble ideal', and when we are exposed to the person who committed the murderous act, or led the terrorists, we despise his actions, but admire him as fighting for that in which he believes.

It is easy for one to say that terrorism is created by communists or foreigners, but in truth it is inflicted by persons much like ourselves who have become frustrated and angered at society's refusal to listen to their proposals. They are people who have been touched deeply by something or someone and they want to right the wrongs in their society, their town or their government. They resort to violence when they are unable to enter into meaningful dialogue with those in authority. The violence usually only serves to widen the gap between the rebels and the 'establishment' and intensifies the hostility between them.

Here we are, then, set before the brutal fact: the terrorists could be ourselves. In the future we may become so moved by a worthy cause and a charismatic orator that we follow the drive even if it leads to violent ends. Therefore, we could be the terrorists of the future, and perhaps, through our acts of sabotage, kidnapping and murder we might become the heroes of tomorrow. The terrorism of yesterday has in some way become part of us, monstrous it may be, but we have conceived it and brought it into the world.

Even if we deplore the kind of acts carried out by the PLO we sometimes show our permissiveness as a nation by not protesting. I would not suggest that the PLO does not have a right to existence, but if it does have the right, then its goals should not be gained through terrorism. We should boast some backbone and show our abhorrence towards terrorism by refusing the PLO permission to visit Canada.

When talking about terrorism, we should look upon whom the blame should rest. Perhaps the guilt of the crime should rest upon the shoulders of the leaders, those men who incite other men into committing acts of violence, those great orators who stir the emotions of an audience to a frenzy resulting in bloodshed, chaos, and sometimes even eventual dictatorship under a socialist or fascist regime.

Take a look at Hitler, that shabby little corporal who rose to the champion title of "Der Fuehrer". It is because of men like him that many atrocities were carried out. He violated the civil and human rights of individuals. He gave the people of Germany a corrupt conscience that led to the deaths of six million Jews. Perhaps, if MacKenzie had succeeded in his rebellion, he might have become a tyrant, for it is amazing what a position of power can do to a man's personality and behaviour.

As we go forth let us not create a climate in which those terrorists are labelled as heroes or martyrs. If this climate existed we would see a gradual suppression of resistance against violence and arising around our freedoms the infernal circle of terrorist activities.

It is time to get tough with terrorists. Bombing, hijacking and assassination will increase all over the world, unless we take effective countermeasures.

Western governments do realize the threats of terrorism in a modern democratic society. We are very vulnerable to the daring and fanaticism of the man who is willing to die for a 'worthy cause'. We must learn to combat the threat or we shall suffer in its wake. The Canadian government must not overlook the sophisticated and ruthless tactics employed by the "Fedayeen", which is part of the militant Palestine Liberation Organization. The Canadian government must show firmness and strength of character in deciding not to invite the PLO to the Crime Conference.

We should realize that terrorists try to provoke a breakdown of society and government so that they can take power. They aim at disrupting law and order to shake the citizen's faith in a system based on freedom and tolerance. They murder, rob, kidnap, and dynamite until authorities are forced to curtail civil freedoms and suppress the attacks. By these measures, the authorities alienate ordinary citizens, who then turn against the government - or at least that is what the terrorists hope will happen.

We Canadians should not forget that the urban-guerrilla Front de Liberation du Quebec kidnapped and murdered a provincial minister just a few years ago. With the 1976 Olympics approaching, Canada should be wary of the threats of terrorism and she should show that she shall not tolerate terrorism by refusing to recognize the PLO, until it ceases to commit violent atrocities.

Crowe Lake meet Saturday

Mrs. Kathleen Eng, president of the Crowe Lake Property Owners Association, hopes that everyone who is concerned about the water quality of Crowe Lake will turn out for the annual meeting at the Marmora town hall July 26 at 2 p.m.

Arrangements have been made to have Paul Moore, of the ministry of the environment, on hand to answer any questions people might have. Election of officers for the coming year will also take place.

"We want everyone interested in the lake to come to the meeting and present their problems. We would like them to become members, for by working together we can improve our lake for everyone's enjoyment."

15 years ago

Wednesday, July 20, 1960, was the occasion of a happy and enjoyable family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ab Moon at Marmora. Those in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ward, of Madoc, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Ward's father, Mr. Hubert L. West, whose 73rd birthday fell on the same day. The hostess, Mrs. Moon, another daughter, celebrated her birthday the previous day. Following a buffet luncheon served by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Ward were presented with a silver tray and silver coffee spoons to mark their silver anniversary.

Gail Wartman, of Madoc, has joined the staff of the Ontario Hydro office in Tweed as stenographer-clerk.

On Sunday, July 5, the annual Lee reunion was held at Tweed Park. There were over 100 descendants of George and Francis Lee present. There were prizes given for the oldest lady, Mrs. Wm. Davidson, of Marmora; the youngest child, son of Don Yearwood, of Belleville; farthest away, Bob Yearwood, of Simcoe; most recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Quinn, of Campbellford; largest family present, family of Mrs. George Lee. Treats were served and an enjoyable afternoon was spent by all.

24 years ago

Two residences in Madoc village changed ownership. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miles have sold their brick home on St. Lawrence St. to Mr. and Mrs. M. McCann, of Eldorado. The double brick house on St. Peter's St., owned by Mr. and Mrs. George White, has been sold to Mr. Charles Nicholson, of Trenton.

The many Rawdon friends who remembered the family of the late Rev. J. E. Beckel, who was minister on Rawdon Circuit for eight years, will be interested to know that his youngest son, Rev. Carman Beckel, was inducted at his first charge on Friday evening, July 13, 1951, at Milford United Church. Rev. Boyd Beckel, of Ivanhoe Circuit, is a brother. Rev. A. Poulter conducted the service with Rev. Stephen Sputtett and Rev. A. E. McCutcheon assisting.

Struck by a truck as he was walking along Highway 7, John McCracken, 70, of Marmora, was instantly killed shortly before midnight Monday. The accident occurred inside the village of Marmora at the east end of the bridge. The half-ton truck which struck Mr. McCracken was driven by Carl Simpson, a Marmora garage operator. McCracken, who lived one mile west of Marmora, along Highway 7, was believed to have been walking home when the accident occurred. He suffered multiple fractures of the arms, legs and his neck was broken. Coroner Dr. S. R. Beatty, of Madoc, said there would be an inquest. Provincial Const. Jack Hatch investigated.

47 years ago

The Madoc-Belleville train on its afternoon run left the rails and tore up several hundred yards of track. A wrecking crew from Belleville was sent up and after working all Monday night and Tuesday the train was able to return to Madoc late Tuesday night. It is believed the accident was caused by a heavy load. The train consisted of two cars of talc, two of livestock and two of gravel, in addition to the regular cars.

Rev. Father O'Riordan leaves this week for his new parish in Tweed. He received many tokens and testimonials expressing the sentiments of parishioners of Madoc and Queensboro.

On July 1, 1928, Peter Conley, who lives on the east end of St. Lawrence St., counted the autos that went by his house from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and they numbered 400.

On Sunday morning, July 28, Ivanhoe's new United Church building will be dedicated, Rev. T. Albert Moore, D. D. secretary of the General Council of the United Church being the special preacher of the day and in charge of the dedicatory ceremony. Rev. J. N. Lovelace is the pastor. Rev. L. S. Wight, chairman of the Presbytery, will assist in the service. The former church at Ivanhoe was destroyed by fire last autumn.

OBITUARY

Patrick O'Neill dies at 86

A retired employee of Deloro Smelting and Refining, Patrick Joseph O'Neill, of RR 1, Marmora, died July 18 at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, at the age of 86.

Born in Marmora, he was the son of William O'Neill and Bridget Maloney, and the husband of Sadie L. Haire.

He is survived by children Pat, of Toronto, Frances (Mrs. R. Gamble), of Mississauga, and Bill, also of Toronto.

He also leaves brothers Joe, of Toronto, Charles, of Marmora, and sisters Mary Stephens, of Marmora, and Laura Walsh, of Edmonton.

Services were held July 21 from the Cassidy Funeral Home, Marmora, with interment in the Sacred Heart Cemetery. Father R. T. Scanlon officiated.

Pallbearers were Jim Hughes, John Shannon, Ed Shannon, Fred O'Neil, Steven Harrigan and Tom O'Connor.

Time to pay attention to the ants!

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SF) — Last week I registered grudging approval for the government's new tax on gasoline, and said there were other things in the budget which alarmed me more.

The financial policy put forward in the June 23 budget seems almost designed to allowed increases in unemployment, coupled with another burst of inflation, and the blame must be laid bleeding at the feet of the government.

Finance Minister John Turner talks about the government setting a restraint example, and calmly tells us Federal spending will only be up 17 per cent from last year. He talked about reducing the growth of the civil service, when he should actually be cutting the numbers back. He estimated we'll have a deficit for 1975-76 of $3.7 billion, and that scares heck out of you, when you examine where the money is going.

Largest drain on Federal coffers is the unemployment insurance fund, which was designed with the Prime Minister's philosophy in mind. Remember how Pierre Trudeau told us that not only should people not have to work if they so chose, but that the state should support them?

Well, damn it, that may be fine if we can afford it, but obviously we can't. In many places in Canada there are jobs begging for people to fill them, while we're sitting on an unemployment rate of more than seven percent. By late in the year, according to the government's own figures, we'll be suffering more than eight percent unemployment, and that means pockets of up to 30 per cent in the disadvantaged maritimes.

The budget tinkered with our unemployment insurance program to tighten it up slightly, but payments this year will still cost us nearly $4 billion.

There are still people ripping the system off, and there are people legitimately taking advantage of payment rules which are far too soft. Unless abuses are stopped and rules tightened, there won't be enough resources in the country to help those who genuinely want to work and can't find a job. It's the government's responsibility to pay more attention to the ants than it does to the grasshoppers, who ride on the backs of others.

Alcohol abuse costs taxpayers millions

by David Woods

The facts about alcohol-related illness in Ontario are pretty sobering in themselves. They don't need to be dramatized by any old-fashioned hellfire preaching.

To start with, alcohol is extremely expensive, but relatively speaking it is not expensive to buy. For although some would argue that $7.00 for a bottle of spirits is pretty steep, the true cost of "booze" has actually declined as a percentage of disposable income over the past couple of decades.

No, the really staggering costs of alcohol can be seen in our health care bill.

As Ontario's Minister of Health, Frank Miller, put it in a speech recently: "The Ontario taxpayer forked out $89 million through general public hospitals in 1971 for illnesses related to alcohol... that, plus another $17 million through the mental hospital system; about $9 million through the Family Benefits Act, and more than $11 million through Children's Aid Societies, for alcohol-related problems."

Those are some of the visible costs. If you add to them physicians' fees, the fact that alcohol plays a part in half of all traffic accidents in Ontario, and the enormous losses to industry of alcohol-related absenteeism, the price we're paying for alcohol is truly astronomical.

On the issue of productivity — or the lack of it — alone, the Addiction Research Foundation estimates that 14 million person hours are lost each year in Ontario because of alcohol. Even if you total that up at the minimum hourly wage, it would add up to a large amount.

But behind all those dollar figures there are some disturbing personal statistics. In Ontario today, close to 300,000 people drink enough alcohol to endanger their health. Of these, more than 145,000 have reached a stage of alcoholic illness.

The solution isn't to ban "booze" or to tax it out of reach of the average person; rather it is simply to emphasize that alcohol is a chemical that, if it is not used sensibly and in moderation, can very easily become addictive and harmful. The step between regular or heavy social drinking and total dependence really isn't very great.

As the Ministry of Health's recently-introduced alcohol information program points out: "Mix a little thinking with your drinking. Ask yourself why you drink, when, how much — and on how many more occasions than you did, say, a year ago." That way, you may be able to head off a very costly problem.

Who says summer is changing?

By BILL SMILEY

WELL, that big heat wave through the end of June and into July puts the lie to all those pessimists who claim our summers are changing, getting cooler and damper. That was a real, old-fashioned scorcher.

Even our big, old, high-ceilinged house, surrounded by shade trees, warmed up to the almost-uncomfortable point after a week of high blue skies and hot yellow sun.

Farmers were worried, and a lot of people who had to work through the heat were suffering, and I had room for a lot of sympathy for both as I lay on the beach and wondered whether I should go in for another duck to cool off.

I have lots of sympathy, but no feeling of guilt, because I have paid my dues, slugging it out in the heat many a summer when other people were cooling off outside and inside.

There were several years of working as a serf on one of the big passenger boats that used to ply the Great Lakes. We worked 12 hours a day, seven days a week. That was in the days when a long weekend was just a long weekend, with no holidays for the working stiff.

Most of the summer I enjoyed thoroughly, when we were "up the Lakes," sleeping under blankets at night, and revelling in the hot clear days and cool nights of The Lakehead, or Thunder Bay, as it's now known.

But down at the lower end of the seven-day run, at Windsor and Detroit, it was another story. That was then, and still is, the muggiest, funkier, just plain hell-hottest place in North America.

Even the passengers perspired heavily. The crew didn't perspire, nor even sweat. They ran like waterfalls.

When you hit the Detroit River, you knew it. First, by the filth of the water. Secondly, by the lack of any semblance of breeze. Third, by the stink from the breweries of Windsor.

There was no air conditioning in those days. If you had a fan kicking around torrid, tired air, you were lucky. The passenger cabins were airless. The crew's quarters, most of them without windows or portholes, were virtually unbreathable in. And the stokehole, where the black gang fired the coal into the furnaces, was an inferno. Why there wasn't mutiny down there, I'll never know.

No unions to tell us

But we were young and healthy and had no unions to tell us how we were being exploited (which we were). So after cleaning up the boat and standing under a tepid shower, it was on with some clean duds and out to sample the joys of a night in Detroit: big-league ball games, burlesque shows and something the Yanks called beer.

It was pretty heady stuff (not the beer) for a 17 or 18 year old. Some of the boys had a little trouble making it up the gang-plank. Then it was up to the top deck, because there was no use trying to sleep in our quarters, and sit there, naked, as the boat glided up the river, into Lake St. Clair, and the first signs of a breeze again. No sleep, and a 12-hour day ahead, but who needed it?

Then there was a summer working in a factory in Toronto. Most of the factory was air conditioned (it had become practicable by then) as the plant turned out film and cameras. But guess who got to work in the machine shop, down in the bowels, with the lathes and the welding machines and the temperature about 96? In hot weather, and I swear it was hot all summer, the guys down there were in a foul mood throughout their shift.

I honestly believe that, in the various summer jobs I've had, I have sweated enough to fill the tank of one of those new solar-heated homes they're talking about — something like 40,000 gallons.

And there's another type I feel sorry for. That's the weekly newspaper editor. Of course, they're so spoiled now that some of them even have, as I understand, air conditioning in their offices.

But in my day, the office took the full blast of the summer sun from about noon on. Outside on the street, long cool girls in shorts and tops, and little, cool, brown kids in even less, sauntered along, oblivious to the heat.

Inside, the editor stewed and sizzled, trying to shake off pieces of paper that stuck to his damp hands, trying to explain to advertisers why the paper was coming out late, wondering if there would be any advertising next week, and trying to wring an editorial out of a soggy brain.

Samantha READS YOUR STARS

ARIES: You have an extra sparkle as your week opens. Financial activity perks up. Avoid impulse to spend rashly and extravagantly. The keyword is moderation. Later, a short trip could prove to be rather important and enjoyable.

TAURUS: Don't be the proverbial bull in the china shop this week. You have a lot of energy and want to get moving. Be sure to plot your course of action first, instead of trying to blunder through. Later, you may realize that something you have is worth more than you thought.

GEMINI: Enjoyable contacts with friends start your week. Then you play a waiting game. Patience and planning are allies; frustration, your foe. Curb tendency to talk too much during latter part of week. It would only gain you the reputation of a chatterbox.

CANCER: Don't let a minor setback set you back at beginning of week. Keep your cool and it's only temporary. Aspects are great for socializing. Remember, you and U.S. have birthdays to celebrate. Then, productive thinking.

LEO: Your week starts nicely with thoughts turning to romance. Then, a choice to make. You can either get in there and really work to remove obstacles, or just sit back and twiddle your thumbs. Hint: molehills could become mountains if nothing is done to stop them.

VIRGO: Lots of activity with others for you this week. You are expressive and busy. Be careful not to trip yourself with Maybe I'll check things out with some of my old weekly colleagues at the convention this summer in Saskatoon. I'll expect a cool answer.

Yes, sympathy, but no guilt feeling. Now, if you'll excuse me, I have to take my grandbaby out to the beach, where we will sit in the cool sand with the waves washing over our legs, and look at the girls in bikinis, and dig holes in the wet sand, and splash each other, and jabber at each other in that special language that nobody else seems to understand, and give not a single thought to all the poor, steamy, smelly masses working today.

Never mind, chaps, I've got a rotten sunburn.

too many projects. Later, a secret love may decide to come out in the open.

LIBRA: Someone you know may be trying to fly too high, too fast. Better help him gently earthward before he crashes. Later, find a direction for that energy, don't waste it.

SCORPIO: Try to start your week quietly so that when the pace picks up, you'll be ready to go. You're likely to come in contact with a very aggressive person. Cooperation will prevent head-on collision.

SAGITTARIUS: Watch for a sudden change in a love affair. A beginning, a new twist, or an ending — whichever it is, it's very much for the best. Later, lots of projects need your attention. You have the drive to work them out.

CAPRICORN: Activity at home begins your week. Then, love life is where your action is. The fireworks are beautiful. Enjoy. Before the end of the week, you'll have at least two things keeping you busy.

AQUARIUS: An unexpected communication could give you fits. Don't let it. Then, affairs at home keep you busy. You may get the urge to redecorate, or simply to rearrange all the furniture. Aquarians become bored if things remain the same too long. Later, get together with friends.

PISCES: There's a busy week ahead for you. A burst of energy and practicality will hit and you can do great things. A phone call may bring romance your way. Be ready to answer. Week ends with harmony and love.

Is it true that President Ford is an avid reader and that he keeps abreast of current reaction to his decisions via many publications? L. Clark, Joliet, Ill.

The President keeps up with his own popularity and what's going on in the country by perusing over 125 newspapers from major cities every day. Even when he travels he has a Secret Service agent purchase every out-of-town paper available.

I read in a London magazine that the head of the Japanese government is planning a visit to the U.S. But I've seen nothing about it locally. Is he actually coming and isn't it unusual? G. Lovell, Keamore, N.Y.

Japanese Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako will arrive in the U.S. October 1 and will visit five major cities, then stop off in Honolulu en route home. It will mark the first visit ever to the United States by a Japanese ruler.

Has Barbara Feldon ever been married? And, does she date anyone steadily now? C.T., Calumet City, Ill.

Barbara had a quickie marriage and a quickie divorce just about the time she began co-starring in the "Get Smart" TV series. She then met Bert Nodella, the show's producer and began a romance that is going into its seventh year.

What college did Jimmy Stewart attend and wasn't he a top basketball player? G. Sands, Vancouver, B.C.

The actor attended Princeton but did not participate much in athletics in spite of his size (6 feet 3), mainly because he was so thin. He was a college cheerleader, graduated in 1933 with a B.S. in architecture, but after being with Josh Logan's University Players on Cape Cod decided to pursue an acting career instead.

I've been seeing a lot of an actress named Jean Arthur on TV's late movies, all of which are old. Is she still alive, and, if so, active in acting? C. Lewis, Midland, Tex.

The very shy Jean retired to Carmel, Calif., after making "Shane", whose male stars, Alan Ladd and Van Heflin, both close friends to her, died years ago. She has owned a home in the Pacific Coast town since 1937 but made the move permanent in 1958 and misses Hollywood not at all.

Former residence of Mackenzie King one of Ottawa's most interesting museums

Laurier House, a rambling yellow-brick building that was once home to William Lyon Mackenzie King, Canada's bachelor prime minister who held seances, worked for the Rockefellers and considered his Irish terrier "the truest friend I ever had", today is one of Ottawa's most interesting museums.

Mackenzie King moved into the house at 335 Laurier Ave. E., in 1923, two years after he was elected prime minister for the first time, and lived there until his death in 1950.

King named the house after its former owner, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's first French-Canadian prime minister, and in his will, left Laurier House and a 500-acre Gatineau country estate to the people of Canada.

Today in the third-floor study where King played host to King George VI, Sir Winston Churchill, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Charles de Gaulle, lie the vestiges of Canada's most eccentric and enigmatic prime minister.

Nothing in the room has been changed since King's death. The atmosphere is eerie.

The study is where King spent most of his time -- where he knelt to meditate on a prayer stool close to his mother's portrait; where he relaxed, his feet on a cougar skin rug, and entered copious notes in his diary with stubby pencils. He was a frugal man.

In this room, lined with hundreds of books, cluttered with furniture, memorabilia and flowers, King "communicated with the dead", often his "dear mother". A lamp is still lit beside her portrait; a freshly cut rose is kept in the vase nearby. His most treasured possessions, two crystal balls, occupy prominent places.

King's interest in spiritualism was not revealed until after his death when the story was broken by Blair Fraser of Maclean's magazine. This year King's diaries, for 13 years up to 1944, were opened to the public for the first time and King's fascination with the supernatural, a deep religious bond he held with his dogs, and his superstitious nature, have led Canadians to speculate on their effect on his decisions as prime minister.

Entries in his diary of July, 1941 show King shattered by the death of Little Pat, one of three Irish terriers by the same name. War in Europe, a new war starting in Asia and the deaths of several close colleagues appear overshadowed by the death of Pat.

The diary of the final days of Pat's life covers 30 pages, including everything from King's religious inspirations at the time to elaborate detail on the dog's illness and even his bowel movements.

Except for the most pressing affairs of government King devoted almost all of his time to a constant vigil.

The Liberal Party picked King as its successor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1919. He was prime minister from 1921 to 1930 (except for a few months in 1926 when a scandal in the customs department led to the dissolution of Parliament) and from 1935 to 1948.

King was born in 1874 in Kitchener, Ont., the son of John King, a lawyer, and Isabel Grace Mackenzie, daughter of rebel William Lyon Mackenzie. King was brought up to revere his grandfather who had sacrificed himself to win self-government for Canada and to oust privileged classes from political power.

His grandfather was a popular hero, regarded as leader on the radical wing of the Reform Party in Ontario, elected six times to the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada and expelled six times. Rejection, by the British, of Reformers' demands led to the 1837 Rebellion engineered by Mackenzie.

When the rebellion failed, Mackenzie escaped to the U.S. and set up a provisional government on Navy Island in the Niagara River. During his exile, King's mother was born.

A photograph of King's controversial grandfather remains on his desk in Laurier House.

The former prime minister is described by one journalist who followed him in the 1930s and '40s as a "traditional man who kept to himself...an expert politician without being a hail fellow well met. He didn't slap other men on the back and he didn't make service club-type speeches."

King is said to have known what Canadians wanted before Canadians knew themselves. He is credited with carrying on Robert Borden's work of making Canada a more self-governing nation and laying the foundations with the United States for a closely integrated defence system.

He was a friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt and claimed to have "talked with him after his death." He was also an admirer of Abraham Lincoln. Among King's possessions left in the house are casts of Lincoln's hands, his death mask, and a program from the Ford Theatre dated April 14, 1865, the night he was assassinated.

Laurier House was built by jeweller John Leslie in 1878 and became the residence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1897. During his tenure as prime minister Canada experienced a great expansion in population and economic activity which resulted in the building of two transcontinental railways and creation of two provinces, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

After Laurier died in 1919, his wife lived in the house until her death three years later. She bequeathed the property to King.

Two rooms in the 20-room house are filled with remembrances of Laurier -- a drawing room with gilded Louis XVI furniture and a study with many personal belongings and his desk.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO Royal Commission on Violence in the Communications Industry

By Order-in-Council 1299/75 of May 7th, 1975 a Royal Commission to study the possible harm to the public interest of the increasing exploitation of violence in the communications industry was established. The Royal Commission has opened its offices at Room 810, 151 Bloor Street West, Toronto M5S 2V5. Telephone (416) 965-4593.

The Royal Commission's Terms of Reference are:

1. To study the effects on society of the increasing exhibition of violence in the communications industry;
2. To determine if there is any connection or a cause and effect relationship between this phenomenon and the incidence of violent crime in society;
3. To hold public hearings to enable groups and organizations, individual citizens and representatives of the industry to make known their views on the subject;
4. To make appropriate recommendations, if warranted, on any measures that should be taken by the Government of Ontario, by other levels of Government, by the general public and by the industry.

The Royal Commission invites interested persons, groups and organizations to send written briefs or letters on these matters.

1. All written submissions should be sent at least three weeks in advance of the public hearing in your area and in any event no later than May 31, 1976.
2. Persons wishing to appear before the Royal Commission to present oral briefs should forward a written summary to it at least three weeks in advance of the hearing they wish to attend.

Hearings will take place from the Fall of 1975 to the Spring of 1976. A later advertisement in this newspaper will give precise dates and locations. As of August 15th, any persons wishing to communicate with the Royal Commission on pertinent matters may do so by phoning the Royal Commission's toll-free number: 1-800-261-7091.

All submissions should be addressed to The Royal Commission on Violence in the Communications Industry, 151 Bloor Street W., Room 810, Toronto, Ontario. M5S 2V5.

'One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, PO Box 267, Elmira

Dairy farmers are smarting—and justifiably—from the recent announcement out of Ottawa that they will now have to pay 90 cents for every surplus hundredweight of milk powder.

In April when the price paid to the farmer went to $11.02 a hundredweight for industrial milk, a great many dairy farmers made improvement plans. Many obligated themselves to pay for new equipment and new machinery. Others bought or bred for better production.

But now those plans have been knocked awry. They were paying 15 cents until April of this year. Then, the levy went to 45 cents. Two weeks ago, it went to 90 cents.

The levy is used to offset the sale of powdered milk on international markets.

So, instead of a net return at the farm gate of approximately $10.87 cents, the dairy farmer now gets about $10.

Which is a decrease of almost nine per cent, the difference to some producers between a profit and a loss.

George McLaughlin, the outspoken, articulate chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, is disturbed. The OMMB has asked Ottawa to amortize this latest 45-cent increase over a period of years so the producers won't get hit between the eyes, all of a sudden. In fact, McLaughlin has suggested that the levy should be kept reasonably even when there is not a surplus of powdered milk so the excess in payments by the producers can be held in a fund and used to offset the payments when there is a surplus.

But even George admitted to a meeting of Western Ontario dairymen recently that the chances of the government adopting the suggested scheme are "very remote."

What galls many farmers, though, is that little has been said by consumers associations or even the big city papers about this increase in the levy.

A neighbor of mine put it succinctly: "Everybody screamed like a banshee in April when producers were allowed another $1 a hundredweight. But who is explaining to everybody now that that $1 has now been cut in half by this levy?"

No wonder they're angry. When they got their last increase, one would have thought that every dairy farmer in Ontario was going to get rich quick. The cries of outrage are still ringing—hollowly—across the nation.

This is not to suggest that most dairy farmers are starving. They are probably the most fortunate section of the farming population in that they have a steady, reliable income. But don't let anyone tell you they are salting their money away in an old sock someplace. They are more tied down than probably any segment of the national work force.

They can't take off when they want to get away. They have to be around to do the chores twice a day, every day. They get a vacation only when they can arrange for qualified help while they are away. Yes, I know about automation in the barn and milking machines, and milking parlors and refrigerated holding tanks and all the rest of the technology that has helped them. But dairy cows are delicate animals and a good husbandman takes no chances.

Some young people are getting into the dairy business these days. In the last 18 months, a few hard-working men made the decision to become tied down to Holsteins or Guernseys or Jerseys. But the milk board is still trying to keep as many as possible in the business. For every one person getting into it, two are still dropping out.

And if you think it's a good idea to let them get out, then think again. Milk prices now are only high enough to make a reasonable return on labor and investment. If too many leave the business of producing milk, prices will be as high for a quart of milk as they are for a quart of whisky.

Wouldn't that be a terrible thing to endure?

Farmers are found in fields plowing, seeding down, rotating from, planting to, fertilizing with, spraying for, and harvesting of.

Wives help them, little boys follow them, the department of agriculture confuses them, relatives visit them, salesmen detain them, meals wait for them, weather can delay them but, it takes heaven to stop them.

A farmer is a man of many trades; he is an overall executive with his office in his home, a scientist experimenting with fertilizers and different kinds of seeds, a buying agent in an old straw hat, personnel director with grease under his fingernails, a dietician with a passion for alfalfa concentrates and antibiotics, a production expert faced with a surplus, a manager battling a price cost squeeze. He manages more capital than most businesses in town.

He likes sunshine, good food, fall fairs, dinner at noon or later, auction sales, and above all, a good soaking rain in June.

He is not much for droughts, so-called 'experts', weeds, the eight-hour day, helping with the housework or even grasshoppers.

Nobody is so far away from the phone or so close to nature. No one else gets so much satisfaction out of indoor plumbing, good weather and home-made ice cream.

Only a farmer has in his pockets all at one time: a three bladed jack knife, a cheque book, empty billfold, a pair of pliers and a memo book with a pencil. No one else but a farmer has to remove these things from his pocket book on washday: five staples, one cotter key, a rusty spike, several kernels of grain, a stub of a lead pencil, a $4.98 pocket watch and a cupful of chaff or hay leaves.

A farmer is your friend and your source of food and when he comes in at noon having spent his energy he can be recharged like new again with the words, "The livestock markets are up today".

To me, this is what a farmer is.

Hanging fever is catching now - Have you got it?

What's your hangup this season? Hope it's a pretty plant or mini-vegetable, decorating the outside or in. Hanging fever is very catching now.

You can suspend almost any kind of plant, in just about anything, and create delightful effects in the air. Plants hang outdoors from porch and patio rafters, arbor fretwork, trees and posts. Containers are whatever fancy dictates and the gardening hand can find. Old bun warmers, colanders, bits of crockery from junk sales, foam or metal ice buckets, shells, gourds — anything is grist for the hanging mill. Stores teem with attractive holders of jute, rope and hemp, or, if you're into macrame, you can create your own. For color, try knotting boat rope of bright blue, red and yellow nylon. Once you start, you'll be "knots" about making plant hangers.

The environmental crowd is big on using odd-shaped wood or driftwood indoors. I know a naturalist who lugged a hollow log home from the woods, sawed it into lengths and varnished the rough surfaces. She planted trailing fern in the soil-filled hollows and suspended her planters in a row above her dining table. It's a charming and rustic retreat thanks to her ingenuity.

Country folk and fanciers use old milk pails and ceramic jugs for their hangups. Baskets are also in big demand. An ordinary bushel basket, hacksawed in half, and resting in a rope hammock, makes a simple but dramatic planter. I saw one planted with colorful moss rose, suspended from rust resistant wire above a terrace garden. It delighted every eye.

If the planter is solid, arrange for a bottom hole or make the first layer gravel. Line wire, mesh or basket containers with sphagnum moss before adding potting soil. Watering is important; exposure and the swinging action will dry out soil. Make sure you can remove the planter from its hook or reach it with a watering can.

HONEYBEES WON'T STING UNLESS PROVOKED

Honeybees, usually not aggressive, will only sting in defence of their nests, when they are disturbed or molested, says apiculturist Dr. M.V. Smith, Department of Environmental Biology, Ontario Agricultural College.

"If honeybees buzz very quickly back and forth in front of you, it's quite certain they're going to sting. Don't run away or attempt to swat the bees because this excites them. Walk slowly to a tree or shrub to break up your outline and disorient them, and they'll probably leave you alone," Dr. Smith advises.

Honeybees are the only stinging insects that leave their stings in the wound. They should be scraped off, not pulled out. More poison will be forced into the wound if the sting is pulled out.

Normally a sting will cause local swelling and redness. To ease the irritation apply something cool to the area of the sting. However, a sting may cause an allergic reaction in a small percentage of the population, and if symptoms of nausea, faintness or shortness of breath occur medical help should be sought immediately.

4-H Happy Hoers hold fourth meeting

Flower arrangements, food value of vegetables, and preparing and serving vegetables were the topics discussed recently as the Crookston 4-H Happy Hoers held their fourth meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald Blackburn.

Wendy Aylesworth opened the meeting with the minutes of the last meeting.

The topics were then discussed and the members tried arranging flowers in various ways.

The next meeting is to be held July 29 at the home of Mrs. Blackburn.

AROUND MADOC

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Yearwood and family, of Simcoe, spent last weekend with relatives in the Madoc area and attended the Lee family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Deane Rollings and family, of Blue Sky, Alta., visited their cousins Bella and Florence Lee on Saturday evening. Mrs. Mabel Smith, of Marmora and Mrs. Bertha Yearwood, of Campbellford, visited with them also.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ozyer and family, of Toronto, spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Don Lee and family.

Crowe Lake claims lives of two men

Crowe Lake claimed the lives of two Toronto men last week.

The body of 27-year-old Christopher James Peaks, of Toronto, formerly of Scott's Plains, N. J., was recovered from the lake Friday evening after it had been spotted by three young people near the south shore between Bonter's cottages and Marble Point Lodge.

The second man, Leo Insam, also 27, of 136 Sears St., Toronto, was found about 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon not far from Glen Allan Park, also by some children.

The two men disappeared about 5:45 p.m. Wednesday after their cries for help were heard by Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Killian as they and their daughter Judy were eating supper outside their southshore home. The Killians went immediately to the spot in the middle of the lake near a rocky shoal but by the time they arrived the man they had observed clinging to a canoe had disappeared.

An American, Bill Davis, was the next person to arrive at the scene, followed by Keith Sarginson and his son Stephen and Gordon Smith, son of Booster Park caretaker Clayton Smith. The last two dove repeatedly in an effort to find the man but gave up because of the depth of the water, reported to be from 50 to 80 feet in that part of the lake.

The Killians returned to shore and alerted the OPP detachment at Madoc. A 12-foot fibreglass canoe, two paddles and two children's life jackets were recovered in the area.

Police were unable to discover anyone missing after interviewing cottagers and visitors at nearby Booster Park until Thursday when it was reported that two men who had been staying at a cottage to the west of the park had not returned there overnight.

Two OPP divers, Constable Gernot Brown, of the Belleville detachment, and another officer, began an underwater search early Thursday morning that last into Friday.

The three young people, Chris Killian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Killian, Carol Ann McCormick, of Springbrook, and Graig Reid, of Toronto, spotted the body of Mr. Peaks about 9 p.m. Friday. Mr. Keith Sarginson brought him ashore at Booster Park.

Rear end collision

A rear end collision Sunday afternoon has left an estimated $900 damage to the two vehicles involved.

Drivers of the cars were Robert Reynolds, 16, of Winnipeg, and John Thomson, 43, of Woodstock.

Cottagers upset with official plan

CORDOVA LAKE - The general membership of the Cordova Lake Cottage Association doesn't like some of the regulations contained in the new official plan for the Seven Links Planning Area, and let their feelings be known in no uncertain terms as they conducted their annual meeting at Jean's Beach here Sunday.

Outgoing president Frank Beamish presided over the gathering, and noted that cottagers' concerns were province wide.

"It isn't just here where people are trying to take away our rights," he said. "It is happening all over Ontario." Terms of "dictatorship" and "communism" were heard in the audience.

Pinpointed specifically were clauses in the plan which some members felt would prevent cottage owners from retiring to them as permanent year-round residences; would prevent them from passing them on to their children; and would interfere with septic tank installations.

Bill Schultz suggested a committee be formed to keep an eye on the Seven Links Planning Board, to make representations to them, and to report back to the association on the board's moves and progress.

The membership overwhelmingly agreed, and appointed Alex Boustead, Janet Moore, Vic Westall, Percy Ellis and George Roche as the committee.

"I hope the board, and the township will see the light of day," Mr. Beamish told the group.

"If they don't, the only way to change it, is to change the local council."

He noted that cottage owners outnumber local residents about four or five to one, and as such, could make their weight felt in the municipal election scheduled for the fall of 1976.

District Deputy President present for officer installation

Ross Devolin begins apprenticeship

In his recent interview with the Review, Bill Bateman neglected to mention that Ross Devolin had started his mechanics apprenticeship at the service station. He is now a Class A mechanic at Armstrong's Garage.

It is rumoured that Mr. Bateman has retired as car salesman. He is no longer at Bert Jones Ltd., but will continue to sell cars.

Sister Elvi asked all of the Lodges of District No. 4 for their co-operation to make her year a success. A short business period followed.

Sister Elvi was presented with a corsage from Oakdale Lodge, a gift from the Past District Deputy President, and an armful of roses from her husband and family.

Lunch was served, consisting of strawberries and ice cream.

The deputy officers are: Deputy Marshall, Sister Ruby Danford; Deputy Warden, Sister June Walker; Deputy Secretary, Sister Helen Wannamaker; Deputy Financial Secretary, Sister Anna Carman; Deputy Treasurer, Sister Aleatha Woods; Deputy Chaplain, Sister Eva Brownson; Deputy Musician, Sister Jean Bailey; Soloist, Sister Karen Bailey; Deputy Inside Guardian, Sister Irene Gordon; Deputy Outside Guardian, Sister Edith Keller.

Moirs Authority says no replacement saws for mill

No replacement saws for the Muley saw at the O'Hara Mill will be made at this time, the Moira River Conservation Authority decided at a meeting recently.

The Authority Superintendent reported both the additional saws could be used, resulting in the members' decision.

It was also reported O'Hara Mill receipts were down slightly from last year. Overall tours, however, were slightly up. An attendance report will be forthcoming at a later date.

NOTICE re Sprinkling lawns & gardens & waste of water Village of Madoc

Due to the extreme dry weather, municipal water consumers are requested to, until further notice, refrain from watering lawns and gardens or any waste of water.

Failure to comply with this request will necessitate action under by-law 673.

Good news!

Hydro rates won't jump as high as feared

Hydro rates won't be going up as high as first feared.

Ontario Hydro is taking serious Provincial Treasurer Darcy McKeough's request for Hydro to lower its proposed 29 per cent increase in bulk power rates by cutting administrative costs by 10 per cent and reducing the capital construction by $1 billion.

"There is a lot of midnight oil being burned around Hydro," notes hydro legal counsel Pierre Genest, in a statement released to this newspaper.

Hydro won't have changes in its 1976 rate proposals into the Ontario Energy Board until late July or early August. At present, however, the Board is conducting public hearings into the proposals.

Meanwhile, Hydro's efforts to implement the government directive which was part of the provincial mini budget are proceeding "as quickly as possible".

The changes must go to the Hydro Board of Directors before being presented to the Energy Board.

Mr. Genest said that although he could not give a definite date of presentation of the changes to the OEB, he believed they would be presented early in August.

The Board must make a report to the Minister of Energy by August 31.

Traffic survey here

The Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Communications has been conducting Roadside Origin Destination Surveys in the area this week.

They'll continue throughout the balance of the month.

Data obtained from the surveys will be used to assist in the planning of transportation systems within the province.

The questioning is brief - less than a minute - with the driver being asked to provide pertinent facts about the trip. Locations of the survey site are indicated to the public in advance by signs and lane control measures on the road at the time of the survey.

Drivers are questioned as to the origin and destination of their trip, the trip purpose, the base of their vehicle, and as to how frequently this trip is made.

Violence hearings begin in the fall

Ontario's Royal Commission on Violence in the Communications Industry has announced in newspaper advertisements throughout Ontario (one is located elsewhere in this newspaper) that it will begin hearings in the Fall.

The Commission was established "to study the possible harm to the public interest of the increasing exploitation of violence in the communications industry."

Its Terms of Reference are:

1- To study the effects on society of the increasing exhibition of violence in the communications industry;

2- To determine if there is any connection or a cause and effect relationship between this phenomenon and the incidence of violent crime in society;

3- To hold public hearings to enable groups and organizations, individual citizens and representatives of industry to make known their views on the subject;

4- To make appropriate recommendations, if warranted, on any measures that should be taken by the Government of Ontario, by other levels of Government, by the general public and by the industry."

The Royal Commission on Violence in the Communications Industry has three members: The Hon. Judy LaMarsh, P.C., Q.C., LL.D., teacher, lawyer, broadcaster, former Federal Cabinet Minister, in the Pearson and Trudeau Governments, who chairs the commission; His Honour Judge Lucien Beaulieu, a professional social worker and lawyer, who is a former foster parent, legal aid director, crown attorney and now a judge of the provincial court, and Scott Young, Globe and Mail newspaper columnist and broadcaster who has written several children's books, novels, biographies and television documentaries.

The Commission is inviting all interested persons and organizations to participate in its deliberations and will announce specific dates and places of its hearings later this summer.

Family physician

BY DR. JAMES G. PRICE

Q. I've often wondered what it means when a doctor labels himself as a specialist. Can you enlighten me?

A. There are basically three varieties of specialists. First, there is the physician who has taken special training in a particular field and then passed a difficult examination which certifies him as a specialist in a particular field. Second, there are those individuals who have taken the training (usually 3 to 5 years) but have either not taken or have failed the certifying examination. Technically, these men are known as "board eligible" — that is, they are eligible to take the certifying examination but haven't done so. The third category is the physician who somewhere along the way just decided to limit his practice to a single field and thereby proclaimed himself as a specialist. The clue to the patient is to look for the word "Diplomate" on either the stationery or phone listing, which is an indication that the individual is a specialist in the medical sense. That is, he has taken both the training and the examination and has successfully passed the latter.

Q. How can I find a Family Doctor? We've just moved into a new area and I'd really like to find a doctor who would take care of our whole family.

A. With the way people move around today, your problem is quite common. The American Academy of Family Physicians has kindly allowed me to offer the following: if you'd like a listing of the Family Physicians in your area, this can be obtained by writing me, Dr. James G. Price, in care of this newspaper asking for the list. I'll forward it to the AAFP and they'll provide you with a list of their members in your area. There are 36,000 AAFP members in the country today, and I'll bet they can help you to locate one close by.

Cool summer salads really hit the spot

When summer's heat rolls in, the cook and the kitchen need help to keep cool. That's why food specialists at the Ontario Food Council, Ministry of Agriculture and Food have developed these scrumptious summer supper salads.

RUSSIAN SALAD

6 medium-sized potatoes, cooked in their jackets, peeled, diced and chilled (4½ cups)
1 medium-sized apple, diced unpeeled and sprinkled with 1 tsp. lemon juice.
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup diced, cooked cold beets (use fresh or canned)
2 tbsps. chopped chives
2 tbsps. capers
2 tbsps. chopped gherkin
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
½ tsp. salt
½ cup mayonnaise
Greens
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Toss all ingredients except the greens and sliced eggs in a bowl. Arrange in a large bowl lined with greens and garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs. Makes 8 servings (1 cup each).

ONTARIO ANTIPASTO SALAD

5 large fresh mushrooms, rinsed and sliced
1/3 head Romaine lettuce, torn
1/3 head Escarole, torn
1/3 head Endive, torn
½ cup celery, diagonally sliced 1/8 to ¼" thick
½ cucumber, scored and sliced paper thin
3 green onions, chopped
½ cup sweet pickled onions, drained

FREEZING FOOD

Use only fresh, high-quality food ingredients when freezing for later use. Freezing does not improve the quality of food. Underripe fruits and vegetables lack flavor and overripe ones are flat and tough or soft and mushy after freezing. Meat and poultry that is tender before freezing will stay tender after freezing if it is properly prepared, packaged, frozen, and stored.

4 ounces Ontario Mozzarella cheese, in julienne strips
1/3 pound thinly sliced pepperoni
½ cup garlic croutons
2 medium tomatoes, cut in eighths about 1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese DRESSING
1/3 cup red wine vinegar
2/3 cup salad oil
1 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
½ tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. fresh parsley, minced
Freshly ground pepper to taste
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tbsps. dried basil leaves
1 tsp. dried oregano

Combine ingredients for dressing and add fresh mushroom slices. Marinate 4 hours at room temperature or overnight in refrigerator. Toss greens and rest of ingredients except Parmesan cheese. Pour dressing over all, toss. Sprinkle each serving with grated Parmesan cheese. Serve immediately. Makes 8 to 10 servings as an appetizer salad or 4 to 5 servings as a main course salad.

Cloyne

Artists and craftsmen staging show and sale

CLOYNE - Local artists and craftsmen from Matawatchan to Northbrook are once again staging a show and sale of work at the North Addington Education Centre here.

Called Arts & Crafts Showcase "75", the event is being sponsored by the North Addington Guild, and runs from Friday evening, July 25th, through Saturday, July 26th, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

A variety of new exhibits in quilting, hooked rugs, cabinetry, paintings, drawings, pottery, crocheting, knitting, macrame and numerous other items to show will be shown.

Ten percent of the sale price of each article is held in trust by the North Addington Guild to be used at their discretion for N.A.E.C. student travel or other educational endeavors.

Four taken to hospital

Four persons were taken to Belleville General Hospital Saturday afternoon after two cars collided at the intersection of Highway 7 and County Road 23, east of the Madoc by-pass.

Mrs. Carolyn Buchan, driver of one of the cars, was taken to hospital with neck injuries. Her two sons, passengers in the car, were also taken to hospital for examination.

The driver of the second car, Christopher Robinson, 21, of 20 McCamon St., Tweed, also suffered neck injuries. A passenger in his car escaped injury.

Police said the accident occurred as Robinson was attempting to pull out across the highway.

IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING memory of a dear father and grandfather, Herbert T. Youmans, who passed away July 25, 1975.

We watched you suffer.
We watched you sigh, but all we could do was just stand by.
When the time came you suffered too,
For you never deserved what you went through.
Sadly missed and always remembered
by Dora and Don Elmhirst and family.

DOWNEY LEAH - In loving memory of our dear sister who passed away July 24, 1974.

Always a smile, instead of a frown
Always a hand, when one was down
Always true, thoughtful and kind Wonderful memories she left behind.
Estella Allison, Toronto; and Charles Grass, Belleville.

IN LOVING MEMORY of a dear father
and grandfather, Herbert T. Youmans, who passed away July 25, 1975.
He had a nature you could not help loving.
And a heart that was purer than gold,
And to those who knew him and loved him,
His memory will never grow old.
Sadly missed and always remembered
by Edith and Alfred Althouse, Jim, Tom
and Bob.

Pottery shop attracts them from all over

There's a unique little pottery shop near Madoc that is attracting people from all over the Province, as well as points in the U.S.

It's known as Gui Studio, owned and operated by the talented Mrs. Trudy Veerman. The shop can be found just three miles north of the Fair Grounds on County Road 12. The large sign on the lawn helps strangers find the shop easier.

What makes this shop so unique? All of the work is hand done from start to finish by Mrs. Veerman herself. And she does not use any molds or forms, but shapes every piece by hand on the wheel so that each is distinctively its own shape and size, with its own artistic touches.

When she first went into pottery, Mrs. Veerman reports, she used to have her work and equipment in various parts of her house, but now, to allow the customers to see her actually working on the articles, all of the work is done in same room as the store items are sold. This is in the frame structure at the west end of the large brick home. Her kiln is right there, too, which people are surprised to learn is kept at 2000 degrees for firing the pottery.

And, to add to the theme of the shop is the decor of the room itself. Mrs. Veerman has kept the shop old-fashioned with the one brick wall, the old wooden ceiling with stripping, the semi-wooded walls and even the style of curtains has been chosen to blend with the rustic atmosphere. Some wood panelling has been installed where improvements were made to the original room.

In telling of some of her experiences in selling pottery, she says one of her products has become a collector's item already. It is a dinner bell with the Ontario Emblem, the Trillium, also made of clay, glazed right on the bell. It became a collector's item when she first made one as described and requested by a representative of the North American Bell Association. This lady had Mrs. Veerman make up a couple of these bells for her, and then showed them to other members of the Association during their get-togethers. There has since been numerous orders for these bells. Not one to like mass production, Mrs. Veerman says she has made many of these bells, but all of them differ in some way.

Although the pottery business only got going good in the spring, there are already over 100 different items on the stock list. These include up to 9" vases, small ornaments, mushrooms, dishes, pendants, cream and sugar sets, pictures, bowls and also drawings of birds and flowers, all her own art work, and several wall hangings. Decoupage, a form of antiquing, is also part of her work, which she styles with the old-fashioned Hummel pictures. Each item is trimmed and finished with paintings and special glazes. Mrs. Veerman has a natural creative talent. She attributes her European background to the bright colourful finishing touches she puts on the articles, which have proven so popular with those who drop in.

The new shop has just opened this week, with the first customers coming in on

Mrs. Trudy Veerman, busy working on "Shoes" that hang on the wall. These have many uses - pencil holders, letter holders, flower holders (artificial pr perhaps real). In the background is the wheel on which she shapes the articles.

Monday. Although most of her customers are from the Belleville area, there has been a great number of tourists in, coming from such distant points as Windsor and Toronto. She finds that most of the items sold are being bought as gifts, and many of these are wedding gifts. The fact that there will never be a repeat production of the items on the shelf is a contributing factor as to why these articles make such a unique gift.

Mrs. Veerman does all of the work herself, although she has three daughters who are very artistic and very handy in the pottery. She says, "I don't doubt they'll go into the work some day - when they're a little older. I will have to train them, but for now they help out only occasionally." Presently, she is building up the business so there will be room for the girls to go into it when they are ready.

At one time, the products were sold wholesale to stores, but in order to allow enough commission, the profits were cut considerably, and Mrs. Veerman found it just as profitable to do all the selling from her own shop.

Mrs. Veerman teaches pottery at night classes during the winter months at

C.H.S.S. Madoc. She is planning to have summer classes at her home next month on a one-morning-a-week basis, so others can learn something about pottery themselves.

The shop is open any time, any day (including Sundays), but Mrs. Veerman advises anyone coming from a distance to call her at 473-2093 before coming, to avoid disappointment in the event that she is not home when they come.

Seniors take tour of lakes

Forty-six Senior Citizens left by bus enroute to Young's Point where they boarded a boat for a tour of the Kawartha Lakes.

The first was Clear Lake, with 1,126 islands, some of which were named by the navigator. They cruised through four of the lakes, upper and lower Stoney Lakes, Buckhorn Lake and Lovesick Lake.

Stoney Lake has red granite stone in it, and fish such as pickerel and muskellunge. The Majestic Island was built on in the 1900's; St. Peter's Anglican Church was built on the rock of another island 124 years ago.

Juniper Island was owned by a canoe company of Peterborough. There was a pavilion for dances Saturday nights and also a store and telephone.

In 1883 Stoney Lake navigation was formed and in 1884 the Americans from Buffalo held their first regatta at McKracken Landing.

The stone used at Yonge St., Toronto, came from Eagle Mount Island, 1898. The YMCA also had a meeting there. A fur company owned the island, one island had an elephant form on the rock thus giving it its name.

The Senior Citizens had dinner at beachwood Lodge, returning to Young's Point later in the afternoon where they had supper at Lakefield. They returned to Madoc around 8:30 p.m., all reporting an enjoyable trip.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I have a very serious problem that I wish I could solve. I am a 16 year old tenth grader. My mother is dead and my father takes care of us. The problem is I'm not allowed to have a boyfriend or take company. I'm not even allowed to go to dances and have fun with the few friends that I have. It's just like a prison. All I do is go to school, come home, go to town, go to church—and that's all. My father says I have to get my education first and then I can do what I want. By that time it might be too late.

OUR REPLY: The first thing you have to do is accept the fact that you are a teenager. Your father makes the rules in his house. Once you learn to obey those rules he will most likely recognize your efforts. Then you will be given more responsibility. We've all had to pass through the period you're now experiencing. It's doubtful that your situation even slightly resembles a prison so don't take yourself so seriously. Share and communicate your feelings openly with your father. You both love each other and can work things out.

Because of the volume of letters to this column, requests for personal replies cannot be accommodated. Editorial panel selects for weekly use, letter which best represents questions and/or comments from readers. FOR & ABOUT TEENAGERS, BOX 639, FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY 40601

The Transfiguration of Jesus

And it came to pass about eight days after these sayings, he took Peter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray. And as he prayed, the fashion of his face was altered, and his raiment was white and glistening. And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias. Who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem. St. Luke 9: 28-30

Tweed area cottage destroyed

A cottage apparently struck by lightning was completely destroyed by fire last Thursday.

The one storey well-kept and furnished residence owned by Dr. Frank J. McCue was situated on the east side of Stoco Lake about six miles east of Tweed.

Tweed Volunteer Fire Fighters responded to the alarm, but said the cottage was "gone in 10 minutes".

Nine men, the pumper and emergency vehicle responded to the alarm, and saved the two cottages on either side of the McCue residence.

Fire fighters said the wind was in the right direction to aid them in their efforts. No estimate of the damage, or insurance coverage, is available.

Three girls were outside, not too far from the cottage, when it was struck. They turned in the alarm.

Two hours later the brigade was out again in response to another fire.

They turned back at Thomasburg when they found out it was a large dry tree which had been struck by lightning and had burned to the ground. The tree was located west of Thomasburg near Moira.

Fourteen Ontario scholars

This year, Centre Hastings Secondary School is proud to boast fourteen Ontario Scholars.

An Ontario Scholar is determined by the average of his highest six subjects. His average must be over 80 per cent.

The following are the Ontario Scholars of C.H.S.S. for 1974-75:

Sharon McCrae, 94.5 per cent; Ardith McKinnon, 93.2 p.c.; Betty Reid, 91.7 p.c.; Lorna Gunning, 89.2 p.c.; Garnet Pigden, 88.2 p.c.; Jim Thompkins, 88.2 p.c.; Debbie Van Heukelom, 88.0 p.c.; Carol Anne Burris, 86.0 p.c.; Darlene McBeath, 85.7 p.c.; Margie Woolfrey, 84.3 p.c.; Richard Moynes, 83.2 p.c.; Marlene Preston 83.2 p.c.; Alida Tuinman 82.2 p.c.; Carol Anne McCormack 80.5 p.c.

The Ontario Scholars last year received $150.00 and it is believed that the same practice will follow this year. Many of the top scholars from C.H.S.S. won additional scholarships to various universities.

Maria [Snyder] Pitta, grandmother of James A. Pitta, present owner of Pitta's Landing, played a very important part in setting up a business which will be celebrating its centennial next year. See the article and more pictures on page 3 of this issue.

Man stabbed; woman charged

A Belmont township woman appeared in court early this week charged in connection with a stabbing incident at her Highway 7 home.

Cheri Vancoughnett has been charged with wounding her common-law husband, William Grant.

Police were called to the RR 3, Havelock home at 10 p.m. Saturday night to answer a domestic complaint.

Grant was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough for treatment.

A mishap on Highway 62, 3.2 miles north of Highway 47 Junction claimed the life of a young black bear. The accident occurred at approximately 7:15 p.m. when Gerald Blackburn of Eldorado was travelling south on Highway 62 and the bear crossed in his path. Damage to the car was approximately $500. No one was injured. Photo by Karen Jones.

Jack and Dorothy McCaughey, the Singing Oldtimers, entertained young and old at the street dance.

Then there was the ring toss for those who wished to try their luck for one of the prizes.

Over 1,000 join Kiwanis Street Dance

One of the largest crowds ever turned out for the annual Madoc Kiwanis Street Dance here Saturday evening.

The weatherman co-operating to the fullest, over 1,000 people came to join in the festivities of Bingo and other games of chance set up on Front Street. The entertainment, featuring the Fidler Mills Jamboree and numerous T.V. and recording stars, drew young and old alike. Jack and Dorothy McCaughey of Stirling provided music for easy listening, and Harold Thompkins of CJBQ, CJNH Radio entertained all as master of ceremonies for the program.

Many of those present enjoyed old-time dancing after the program with Uncle Jimmy Mitts as caller for the square dances.

The large attendance proved encouraging for the sponsors, and a Kiwanis spokesman reports that the Club hopes to engage even bigger and better entertainment for next year.

NDP name man tonight

George Samis, MPP Stormont, will be the guest speaker tonight as the New Democratic Party holds a nomination meeting to select a candidate to represent the party in the newly created Hastings-Peterborough riding in the next provincial election.

High standard of public health care guaranteed

Legislation designed to guarantee a high standard of health care for the public was proclaimed at Queen's Park.

Health Minister Frank Miller said the Health Disciplines Act, which sets up a health disciplines board composed entirely of the public, is "a significant step toward maintaining high standards of health care for all residents."

He said it covers the five major health disciplines -- dentistry, medicine, nursing, optometry and pharmacy -- and ensures the activities of these disciplines "are effectively regulated and co-ordinated in the public interest..."

Each health discipline has its own internal college council or governing body, each with a complaints committee which hears cases where people feel they have been badly dealt with.

But the new act takes it one step further and allows the public to appeal a decision of the internal body.

Garbage is coming up roses.

Twenty years from now, crops growing on recycled garbage will be an everyday sight.

That's pretty hard to imagine right now because most of us think of garbage as just that -- garbage. But in fact, it's a potential resource.

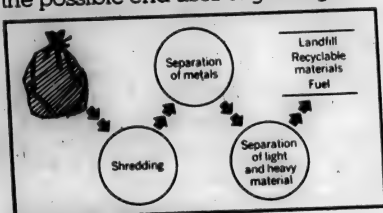

And the Ontario Ministry of the Environment is harnessing it.

How does it happen?

By recycling. Garbage will be taken to recycling centres where it will be shredded, separated, and some of it, turned into fertile soil to revitalize barren areas of the province.

The same basic shredding and separating process will also produce fuel, paper, cardboard, metals.

And we've just begun to explore the possible end uses of garbage.

Where is it happening?

Our Ministry has already inaugurated Ontario's first recycling centre in North York. In the next two years, similar centres will be built to serve London, Sudbury, Peel, Halton, Metro Toronto and south eastern Ontario.

In 15 years there will be recycling centres all across the province to handle 90 per cent of Ontario's garbage -- everything from abandoned cars to organic waste.

Why recycle?

Because the people of Ontario -- all of us -- pile up garbage at three times the rate that the population increases.

The Ministry is working on ways to reduce that amount, but we'll always have garbage. And we're having trouble finding places to put it and the landfill to cover it.

Once garbage is being recycled, those problems will be over. But more important than the dumping problems, we're literally throwing away valuable resources with every ton of garbage we discard.

In a community of 100,000, garbage recycling will conserve the equivalent of up to 3,500,000 gallons of fuel oil a year, 3,600 tons of reclaimed steel, 4,500 tons of glass.

Our recycling program is considered one of the most advanced in the world. It's a commitment to a different way of living.

And the whole world will be watching Ontario's garbage come up roses.

"Pitts Landing" family to mark centennial

"Pitts Landing", popular tourist resort on Moira Lake, will have been in the family name for 100 years come March 30th next year. And that's a lot of years for a family tradition to be carried on. An interesting history is recounted by the present owners, James and Reta Pitts, who thoroughly enjoy visiting with the multitude of vacationers who return year after year to this peaceful breezy acreage of cottages and camping area.

In 1876 the Pitts farm was purchased on March 30th by James Pitts, grandfather of James A. Pitts, from Hannah and Thomas Agar for the sum of eight hundred dollars, with the exception of four acres, which had previously been sold to John Ballard for the purpose of operating a saw mill along the lake. This four-acre tract was bought from John Ballard by James Pitts in 1889. He then owned all of Lot 6, Concession 14, of Huntingdon Township. Thomas and Hannah Agar had purchased this property in 1866 and it appears that little farming had been done there prior to that.

James Pitts, as a young man, came to Madoc from Pitts Landing near Morrisburg along the St. Lawrence River. The farm is now covered by the St. Lawrence Seaway and the tombstones of James Pitts' parents, Chesley and Elizabeth Pitts, are in Woodland Cemetery in Upper Canada Village. It is told that he came to Madoc with only a team of horses and had left home because the family farm had been left to a brother, a Presbyterian Minister.

About 1854, he married Maria Snyder, a school teacher, who came to Madoc with her parents, Daniel and Cynthia Snyder, from New York State. Cynthia Snyder was a sister of Uriah Seymour, who founded the iron mine in Madoc and was one of the founders of Madoc Village. James and Maria Pitts had three children, Chesley, Alice and Arthur.

James Pitts died in 1889, leaving the east part of the farm to Chesley Pitts and the west half to Arthur Pitts, who was to care for his mother, Maria. Alice Pitts married Harry Leal and died at the age of thirty, leaving four young children.

In 1901, Arthur Pitts married Martha McFaul and they had one son, James Pitts, born in 1913.

Mrs. Maria Pitts died in 1916 at the age of 87.

In 1938 the farm was turned over to James Pitts, who married Reta Woods, a school teacher from Sidney Township. They have three children, Gayle (Mrs. Grant Ketcheson), born August 11th, 1940; Gordon, born September 27th, 1948; and Jayne, born July 13th, 1953.

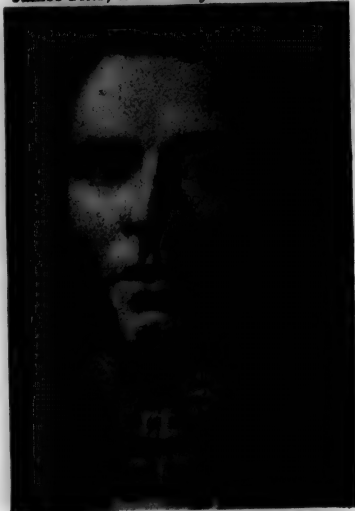

The Price Place, Lot 15, was purchased by Arthur Pitts from Mrs. Mary Price for $1,400.

In March, 1941, the Marrin Farm was bought from Patrick Walsh for $3,000. He was a grandson of Patrick Marrin and the farm was again enlarged when 100 acres was purchased from Dan O'Connell for the sum of $2,600. This is the south half of Lot 1, Concession 8, Madoc Township.

The original Pitts farm is situated on the north shore of the Moira Lake, formerly called Hog Lake. For many years the family has operated to tourist resort as well as carried on farming. Mrs. Arthur Pitts took summer boarders in the home for many years and served as many as thirty guests to a meal during that time. From James

James Pitts.

Arthur Pitts, father of James Pitts, whose wife served meals to the tourists for many years.

Pitts' baby book, we learn that there were summer guests in the home from Illinois in 1913.

The practice of taking summer boarders was discontinued at the beginning of World War Two, partly due to food rationing and partly because the farm was enlarged and more emphasis was put on farming. The family continued to rent the eight housekeeping cottages, which were later increased to ten. There is a plaque in one cottage, stating that Mr. Grover Hubing of Cincinnati, Ohio, first came here in 1907.

At one time, one of the cottages was owned by Inspector McIntosh, father of William McIntosh, former principal of Queen's University, and another, Le Nid, by Dr. Dafoe, father of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, famous doctor for the Dionne Quintuplets. This cottage was owned by Frank Dafoe of Madoc for many years.

In both cases, the land was leased, and when the leases expired the cottages were bought and rented to Canadian and American tourists.

The McIntosh cottage burned about 1937 and a new one was built, called Camp Rochester.

Tuulen Tupa cottage was first built as a home for Alice Pitts Leal, but she died before it was finished. It was sold and moved up the lake, but spring break-up came and it was moved back to the shore and rebuilt. It was rented for a few years to a Finnish family, Mr. and Mrs. Kivi-a-ho, who named it "Tuulen Tupa", meaning "House of the Winds". Mrs. Kivi-a-ho, who is now past eighty, lives in Hawaii. She visited the Pitts about four years ago. Tuulen Tupa has been rented to the Mossells of Buffalo for about 40 years.

Other cottages have been added over the years, making a total of ten. Each has a name: Bayview, Le Nid, Wee Blue Inn, Tuulen Tupa, Edgewater, Camp Rochester, Martha, Arthur, Whippoorwill and Creekside.

Tenting has been introduced during the past few years and gradually increased until there are now about 60 tent and trailer sites.

Farming has always been carried on. A fine herd of registered Holsteins was accumulated and milk was sold for many years to Madoc Village and later shipped out by bulk tank.

The prefix of Moira was used for the Holsteins. Two that were sold have been Grand Champions at Belleville Black and White Show. A letter received from Minnesota stated that four first-calf heifers were each giving 100 pounds of milk daily. Dairy farming was discontinued in 1971.

A nice catch! Fishing has always been good in Moira Lake. The above picture taken of some lucky fishermen a few years ago, is witness to the fact.

To get to this cottage and tenting area, take No. 7 Highway east out of Madoc for one mile and follow the signs south for one mile.

Opinion....

Comment.....

by Garnet Pigden

This fall, the Federal government will have to reach a decision on an issue that has been avoided, shunned and generally "swept under the rug". The issue - Capital Punishment.

A few weeks ago on the Milt Johnston 'Open Line' program on C.J.B.Q. radio the topic of capital punishment was raised. Many of those persons who phoned the station expressed a desire for the re-instatement of the death penalty for murders. Milt, in his cool, calculated manner, said that if we are living in a civilized society, then we shouldn't need capital punishment. He went on to say that those who desire its employment are seeking it merely for the purpose of revenge.

Indeed, we should not have to resort to meeting violence with violence if we lived in a 'civilized' society, but do we? Have we reached that utopian era already? Are the rapists, murderers, and other characters of ill-repute who walk our streets civilized? It is fine to believe that we live in a perfect society, fine for those who will never be exposed to the crime and filth that already exists. "Of course, capital punishment need not be enforced, we have nothing to fear", states the upper-class citizen, who drives his Cadillac from his two-storey house on "snob hill", to his business office, and locks the car door before leaving it in the parking lot. And when the day is done, he locks his car in the garage, locks the front door, and remembers to check the lock on the basement window. "We have nothing to fear".

When we reach that ideal state called utopia, then maybe we won't need the death penalty, but today there are too many people who do not have high morals or virtues. People who would maim and kill, fellows who pick up a girl, rape her, and shoot her through the head, are all too numerous in this troubled world.

In this age we are witnessing an international breakdown in respect for law and order and legally constituted authority. We are living in a permissive society. A society that permits cold-blooded murderers to walk freely among us, the honest citizens, after they have spent a few years in jail, is an unjust society. We live in an age that condones murders, and yet the public screams police brutality. In many cases, such as the Chicago riots, if police action succeeds there is a good chance the public will turn against those very individuals of whom they demanded not long before "the utmost protection so that we may live in peace".

Once placed under arrest, the criminals see working in their favour the psychological mechanisms that lead men to pity every accused when he can no longer threaten property or life.

It is abhorrent to me that some people who deplore murderous acts allow the killers to go free, and tyrannize the majority of the people. Is this practice not going directly against democratic principles?

In a democratic nation we are supposed to have among our freedoms, the freedom from fear. As long as we are not protected by our legal courts which permit strict laws to be weakened and set hardened criminals back out amongst the people, then we shall live in fear.

The majority of those persons who wish and pray for the establishment of capital punishment for all pre-meditated murders, do not desire it for revenge. They believe that it is necessary to maintain a democratic society in which all rights and freedoms are upheld.

"Freedom", is a catchy word, used in many speeches today. Personal freedom must have a legal basis. The true Principle of democratic freedom is subordination to good laws in a good state with the acceptance of mutual rights and obligations.

It is absurd to think for a moment that the philosophy, 'an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth' is what ignites people to cry for the death penalty. But, perhaps the belief in that "he who takes a life has lost his right to life", should be followed in assuring that he will not do more damage.

This fall, the Government of Canada will probably abolish capital punishment for all murderers and not implementing it just for the murderers of police officers and prison guards. If this come to pass, then they will be acting in direct reverse to that great democratic creed, which states:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness; that to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, ...laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such forms as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

If we work hard enough to preserve our democracy; if we do not get lazy and careless about it, then no one will be able to take it away from us. However, if we grow apathetic about the lack of security given to us by our governments and our courts, then we may easily lose that which we hold so dearly. It has been stated that apathy leads to conformity and conformity leads to totalitarianism.

Hopefully, the government will recognize the danger and will not close its eyes to the ever spiralling rate of murders and crime.

I am a pacifist, but I do believe in the ever-apparent need for capital punishment. Is it possible our government will overlook the need to live in freedom from fear and hence abolish the death penalty, while at the same time praise our wonderful democracy and our judicial system?

Well, I reject the hypocrisy of any government that proclaims one set of values and lives by another. I defy any government that would deny me my personal freedoms. And those leaders in any government who do not practice what they preach should not be in a position of authority.

Thirteen-year-old Shirley Ireland of Hilton was drowned Monday evening, July 25th, 1960, at Moira Lake. She was among a group of C.G.I.T. members camping at Quin-Mo-Lac, a summer camp operated by the United Church, and was noticed missing during a swim period. Provincial police at Madoc were called and her body was found two hours later. The Crown Attorney, John A. Priingle, has ordered an inquest.

The Madoc street dance and carnival, sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club, held last evening, July 27th, 1960, again attracted a large crowd, with the attendance being the largest to date. A two-hour program staged by King Ganam and his award-winning Sons of the West Orchestra was enjoyed by all present. This orchestra also furnished the music for round and square dancing. Jim Young was the holder of the lucky ticket, which won the $100.00 in cash. The refreshment booth was well patronized, while games of various kinds provided entertainment for both young and old.

On Wednesday evening, July 20th, approximately 175 Hastings County Holstein Breeders and friends met at Earl Trevorton's farm in Plainfield to hold their annual Twilight Meeting. The Club was pleased to have Mr. Douglas Dutton of Brampton present to discuss the Holstein classes, which were judged after the District Fieldman, Gerald Nelson, gave a type demonstration. Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. John Powell, Chief of Extension for the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada. Winners of the competition were: Ladies, Mrs. Jean Bailey, Cooper, Mrs. Pat Bertrand, Marmora, Mrs. Ted Bedore, Marmora; Men, Mr. B. J. Hunt, Tweed, Mr. Earl Denyes, Belleville, Mr. Delbert McComb, Belleville; Juniors (winners of silver dollars), Ted Reid, Campbellford, Stephen Foster, Tweed, John Bateman, Tweed, Fred McAdam, Stirling, Lisle McKeown, Bonarlaw. (2) Glenn Hagerman, Harold, Ken McConnell, Stirling, Gail Thompson, Belleville, Ron Heath, Stirling and Joanne Bertrand, Marmora.

Mrs. T. E. Sweet, of Newcastle, Penn., is leading in the Kiwanis Fish Contest for the largest maskinonge caught in Moira Lake, with an 18-pound, two ounce fish. The largest pickerel was caught by Ken Thompson, Madoc, which weighed 6 3/4 pounds, and the largest bass to date was caught by D. S. Moore of Madoc, weighing 3 pounds.

Ideal weather prevailed for the Madoc Kiwanis Club Annual Street Carnival held Wednesday, July 25th, 1951, with the result that the event was a most successful one from the amount of money realized as well as the entertainment provided. The stage show was again put on by Garden Bros., while music for dancing was supplied by George Wille's orchestra. Mr. C. I. Ross was the holder of the winning ticket for the free trip to Toronto Exhibition, valued at $100.00.

Mr. Leonard Trotter, who is the owner of the valuable Mapleview herd of Dual Purpose Shorthorn Cattle had a streak of luck recently, when two pair of twin heifer calves were born on his farm within two months. These calves were sired by his championship bull, which won the Grand Award at the Royal Winter Fair last year.

Mr. K. Arkell, of Eldorado, won a prize for the Red and White merchant going the longest distance to attend the picnic at Twelve O'Clock Point.

The girls softball team added another victory on Monday night, when they defeated Deloro 22-10. The girls are now sure of a place in the playoffs.

Although Madoc Bowlers won three events out of four, they only stood seventh in the tournament played in Tweed on Wednesday, July 25th, 1928. Twenty teams were entered.

The wrapping of all bread sold in Ontario will be compelled by the Department of Health, under Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, just as soon as a suitable paper for purpose can be devised by the Department.

Major Trudeau cabinet shuffle coming

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SF) — We're rapidly approaching the time for a major cabinet shuffle late this summer, when a considerable number of ministers in senior portfolios shifted.

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau is already talking to his closest associates about the changes, but this cabinet shuffle isn't one which is likely to be leaked. Cabinet shuffle stories will be nothing more than educated guessing.

Trudeau is listening to both Senator Keith Davey and senior political war horse Bud Drury but the man with the most input into the make-up of a new cabinet is reportedly Michael Pitfield, long-time friend of the PM and now "top dog" in the Privy Council Office.

During his first four years in office, Trudeau leaned heavily on the stamina and ability of Marc Lalonde, who was then principal secretary to the PM. Lalonde's talent and endurance made it possible for Trudeau to work much shorter hours than any of our previous prime ministers, at the expense of delegating a great deal of authority.

During his 18 months of minority government leadership, 1972-74, Trudeau was without Lalonde, and had not appointed a replacement of the same caliber. In those 18 months, Trudeau worked harder than he's ever worked before.

Once he won his majority in July, 1974, Trudeau brought his old friend Michael Pitfield into the PCO, and once again he was able to begin relaxing. Pitfield, Lalonde and Trudeau have been friends for more than a decade, and their aims for Canada are the same. Pitfield, the new Marc Lalonde, is younger but almost as capable and trusted just as much by the PM.

The power in Pitfield's hands is greater than the influence of any cabinet minister, with the possible exception of Lalonde. Yet Trudeau has repeatedly refused to have Pitfield testify before Commons committees, claiming Pitfield is a civil servant.

One can perhaps accept the process of politicizing the Privy Council, which Trudeau has accomplished, but if this is to be the new style of government then perhaps the civil service status of senior Prime Ministerial aides in the PCO should be changed.

Plans to take Ont Gov't to court

By Don Fredericks

An import car dealer plans to take the Ontario Government to court for "unconstitutional" legislation which excludes importers from the new automobile sales tax rebate scheme.

Jack Frame, president of a Toronto Toyota dealership and official spokesman for 523 Ontario import car dealers, said the five per cent sales tax rebate offered by Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough to North American-built automobiles only, will bring about "business failures and bankruptcy" to 20 per cent of Ontario import dealers.

Frame said that McKeough's plan, announced in his mini-budget, is "unconstitutional and discriminatory."

"What the government is doing," said Frame, "is telling the people of Ontario what cars to buy."

"It seems to think import dealers are Swedes, Japanese or Germans and not Canadians. That's not true. We're Canadians with about 7,000 Ontario citizens on our staffs."

Frame told a press conference attended by import company officials and representatives of the Automobile Importers of Canada that he is going to be the "test dealer and take the government to court" for excluding import dealers from the rebate.

Frame said he met with McKeough when the minister reaffirmed his position that import dealers would not be part of the tax break.

However later in the Legislature, Ontario Premier William Davis said the government's economic planners are prepared to meet again with import-car dealers to assess the effect of excluding imported cars from the retail sales-tax rebate program.

"We obviously were not unsympathetic to their problems," he said.

"We would be prepared to meet with them when they do a more thorough analysis of what they think the political problem is."

McKeough said the province is concerned about the 13,000 auto workers on permanent layoffs plus an additional 14,000 on temporary layoffs from major domestic (i.e. North American) auto manufacturers. He said the auto pact is not working properly and will leave Canada with a $1.4 million deficit this year.

Donald McArthur, senior vice-president of Canada Motor Industries (Toyota) said the approximately $25 million tax rebate measure will put "over $12 million into Detroit to subsidize employment in Michigan where half the North American cars sold in Canada are made."

Frame said Ontario has a government that "promotes free enterprise then puts up blocks to stop us ... Ontario citizens who are import dealers by free choice."

Bruno Rubess, president of Volkswagen Canada, said major competitors in Canada — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, and American Motors — have advised McKeough the rebate system "seriously puts the import car business in jeopardy. 'The import car companies will survive,'" said Rubess, "but we are seriously concerned about the dealer who may lose it all."

In Ontario, the 523 import dealers sell approximately 12.8 per cent of the cars purchased.

Bill Smiley

Smiley's summer safety hints

By BILL SMILEY

HEREWITH Smiley's bi-annual Summer Safety Hints. Various departments of government: Agriculture, Lands and Forests, Tourism and Tripe, Fire and Water — annually send out a list of things to do to protect your life and various other things during the hot season.

It is my opinion that these lists are not only repetitious and redundant, but overlapping and underpinning, so once in a while I try to publish a few Summer Safety Tips that can be used as filler by all lazy, hot, tired editors.

Even though the summer is half over, and thousands of people have drowned, or nearly drowned, I think a few swimming suggestions would not come amiss.

Never forget that amiss is as good as amile. So my first tip is that if you're going to swim amile, make sure you don't go amiss. I think that requires no further explanation.

Speaking of amiss, never try to make love either reclining in a canoe, or in a reclining canoe.

In the first instance, if the thing rolls over, which it usually does, you are caught in a death-clutch and will have to punch your partner in the belly to break the hold. This is considered bad form. It is also embarrassing, not to say dangerous, if your partner is swifter with a left hook than you are.

In the second place — a reclining canoe — it is obviously leaking, and you shouldn't be out there in the first place.

Much better to confine your canoe love-making to a standing position. Then, if women's equilibrium seems to be taking over — that is, if there is any chance that you are going to be the least bit upset, jump overboard and swim like hell for the nearest lifeguard.

Now for diving. Never dive into unknown waters. Many a man you'll meet on the streets, whimpering, limping, middle-aged, headscarred. Ask him what the matter is, and he'll respond: "I dived into unknown waters." This is his euphemism for admitting he is married.

Try not to dive into a swimming pool. Use a diving pool. If you do happen to dive into a swimming pool, and it has a plastic bottom, wear a plastic helmet. If it happens to have a concrete bottom, and you are turkey enough to dive into it, you probably won't feel a thing.

Never dive alone. Personally, when I dive, whether it is from 30 feet, 12 feet, four feet, or even my accustomed 18 inches, I am always accompanied by water wings, an inflated tube, and my entire family. It may not be Olympic grace and style, but I don't have a hole in my head from hitting rocks.

Never take a person out over his or her depth. In other words, if your mother-in-law is only five feet tall and can't swim, don't take her out to where it is six feet deep. Just take her out where it is five feet deep, hand her some lead weights, and tell her to do push-ups.

Enough about swimming. How about boating? Well, the same principles apply there. Never put more than 12 people in a 12 foot boat, six people in a six foot boat, or more than 88 people in a bar that is built for 44. This way you can not only be safe but sorry.

If it is a sailboat, do not load it up with sailors. Sailors are usually drunk and disorderly, according to the police records of all the ports of the world. The same, by the way, goes for soldiers, if you happen to have a soldier-boat.

If you have a power boat, of course, this is your chance to show the world. Take any average swimmer, and a pair of water skis. Throw both over the back of the boat. The order doesn't matter. Shove the throttle wide open. Then show everybody what Napoleon would have been like without Waterloo.

Water on the brain? Let's turn to other aspects of summer danger.

Do not stamp out bonfires with your bare feet. In the first place, those coals are probably just fireflies going through their second incarnation, and have just as much right to live as you have.

Secondly, the smell of roasting meat is liable to bring dozens of barbecue artists from all over the neighborhood down on you, asking what kind of sauce you use. Pee on 'em. The coals, that is.

Another thing you should not stamp out with your bare foot is your flowerbed, even though it taunts you, thwarts you, thumbs its nose at you and sticks its bare roots in the air at you, as mine recently did. There were two rose bushes among them, in mine.

Then, of course, there are bugs. Don't spray them. Don't swat them. They, too, are merely lower forms of consciousness trying to rise to a higher, in their next incarnation.

I had a Buddhist monk flying around me the other night, whining: "Don't hit me! Don't hit me! I was once an altar boy for St. Thomas Aquinas."

Splatt! Is he going to be surprised when he is reincarnated as an Anglican bishop. Female.

Samantha READS YOUR STARS

ARIES (3/21-4/19): This week is great for planning, communications, and social activities. A phone call could be the bell of romance. Check your finances, especially at end of week. Then, possible problem at home. Think before you act.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): Careful with your tongue this week — you may blurt out something you'd later regret. Be tactful and hold onto your temper. Your advice may be asked. Here again, watch your words. You could be held responsible. Week comes to a zippy close.

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): How you present yourself determines the success of your affairs this week. Put your best foot forward. Don't worry; there's no banana peel to slip on. So get your ideas together, gather your resources, and go to it!

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): You're in the driver's seat this week with power steering at your fingertips. Don't let yourself drift onto a side road, though, no matter how enticing it seems. Stick to main highway and you'll arrive at a successful week's close.

LEO (7/23-8/22): There's a banquet for you this week with everything delicious to choose from. Do remember this is a buffet — someone may hand you a plate, but you've got to fill it yourself. Dig in. Watch out for a fast-talking friend; he could be trying to hide something.

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): A friend who's offered aid may not be able to come through. Rely on yourself. You may be susceptible to advertising this week — resist and try to ignore it. Later, love may step into the picture.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): The first move is up to you. Just be sure all the pieces are in place before you make it. Then you can easily proceed to checkmate. Advice from a friend may help. Close of week is a real sizzler.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): Listen to your inner voice of wisdom at this time. Otherwise, jealousy and possessiveness will romp like a green-eyed monster through your emotions. Then, a ray of light comes to you through a phone call.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): You need a little boost to get you started this week. A slow beginning may get you down, but a mid-week shot in the arm is all you need to finish in first place. Later, adjust your requirements to what's available and you'll win a bonus ribbon.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): The goddess of love is on your side as week begins. Put your ego in your pocket or love could be defeated by a power struggle. Later, you have an obligation to someone. You'd do well to honor it. Week gurgles away.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/19): Being stubborn will only cause difficulties this week. You can be either peace maker or peace breaker. The choice is yours. Then, romance breezes in. Latch onto it. Week may come to a rainy close. Have your umbrella handy.

PISCES (2/20-3/20): Week opens with a bang. Communications active — be sure you keep them straight. You may be going two directions at once at home, but you have the verve to keep on top. A splash of love ends your week.

Is it true that Steve McQueen and Ali McGraw have separated? If so, is he likely to return to Neile Adams, his ex-wife? J. Janus, Union City, N.J. Steve and Ali have made no announcements but no denials either. As for Neile, she's been dating architect David Ross for some three years and while they plan eventual marriage, they're in no hurry for it.

I saw James Whitmore in "Give 'Em Hell Harry!" in which he plays the late President Truman. Could you tell me if there has been any objection from the Truman family to this portrayal? T. Davenport, Vallejo, Calif.

Not at all. In fact, Whitmore gave a private performance for the late President's daughter, Margaret

When the late Marjorie Merriweather Post died did the bulk of her estate go to her daughter, actress Dina Merrill? E. Mengers, Houston, Tex.

No. Dina already had plenty due to trust funds so Ms. Post left much of her holdings to charity. For instance, Hillwood, her estate in Washington, D.C. was left to The Smithsonian Institution for fund-raising via guided tours, state functions, etc. Nancy Kissinger gave the first official function there for the Shah and Empress of Iran. However, the late multi-millionaire and social arbiter, Ms. Post, was still very much in command of the situation. Her will stated no food was to be allowed in Hillwood, so the luncheon was a garden party under a tree.

Exactly how do Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco stand regarding finances? Can they afford to travel and does his position allow him to be away often? L. Stagno, Westport, Conn.

The Rainiers remain tight-lipped about money but hurting they aren't. They are moving out of their Avenue Foch flat in Paris to occupy a three-story house they purchased from Baroness de Waldner for a reported $1,700,000.

When election comes, Davis should be an easy winner

Here we are at the end of July and our provincial politicians are making final plans for an election and the universe appears to be unfolding as it should.

Our chief election officer, Roderick Lewis - not to be confused with NDP leader Stephen - says he's ready to go.

The Liberals' provincial council met all day in Toronto to hammer out their final plans. And announcements of retirements are drifting out from all three parties.

The guessing is that Davis will call the election within the next couple of weeks for mid-September, before his 90-day freeze runs out and before the Liberals discover what hit them.

There were, at last count, 11 Tories who aren't returning, along with two Liberals and three NDP.

Instead of 117 ridings, there are 125 and there's every indication now that it's going to be a big yawn.

Only a few months ago the mighty Bob Nixon, who, for those who don't know, is the Liberal leader, were riding high, leading the polls, predicting a sweep and talking about a host of big-name Liberal candidates who were waiting in the wings.

Presumably, since the polls have turned against Nixon, those waiting Liberals, whoever they were, have flown off to federal land again, because somehow, over-coming incredible odds, it looks like Nixon has managed to lead the Liberals on a plummet to also-rans.

At least Lewis has the sense to keep his mouth shut about predicting election returns well in advance of elections.

It would, I suppose, be polite at this stage not to count Nixon out either -- the folks no doubt will accomplish that on their own -- but since the call to arms seems so close, and since it's such a slow news day, it's quite proper for a columnist to carry on in consummate wisdom about the events that no doubt will be.

When they packed it in for their summer break, the Tories owned 74 seats, the Liberals 23 and the NDP 20.

It's unlikely when they open it again after an election that there will be significant changes.

To begin with, the announced big-name Liberals just haven't come forward and some of the seats they do have are in trouble. Witness former Toronto mayor Phil Givens. His old riding was wiped out by redistribution and he went north to another one only to be greeted by popular, but zany, Mel Lastman, North York mayor and an unlikely, but real, Tory candidate.

If Ottawa voters have been watching the exploits of Paul Taylor and Albert Roy, then they've got to be listed as possible losses, and with the exception of possible wins in the new Kitchener-area ridings and Des Newman east of Toronto, it's pretty well bye, bye Liberals.

The NDP are even worse off. Lewis will have his hands full, as he did in 1971, winning his own riding -- this time against Toronto police spokesman Syd Brown.

And, of course, Dr. Morton Shulman isn't running again, making the High Park riding a wide-open affair. Again when you look around the province, barring an act of God, there just doesn't seem to be much room for the NDP.

So we're left with Premier Davis and his gang. Now they haven't exactly been perfect. In fact, until recently, they've been a mess.

But things have swung around through a combination of mistakes by Liberals, here and in Ottawa, popular policies (lotteries and price freezes) and who knows what else.

This is what Ontario is doing to stabilize the income of beef calf producers.

Your provincial government has recently established the Ontario Beef Calf Income Stabilization Program—a voluntary program designed to:

- stabilize the income of recognized beef calf producers in Ontario;
- encourage a continuing steady supply of Ontario-produced beef stocker calves.

It will establish a floor on the amount of money a producer may expect to receive in years of poor calf prices.

Every producer of beef calves in the province (including cream shippers) is eligible to participate in this program, which forms the first part of an overall Farm Income Stabilization policy. You can participate, by contracting to join the program for a five-year period and by paying an annual fee for every eligible beef cow you enroll in the program. Your Ontario government will also contribute to the program.

For 1975, your fee will be $5 per cow, however, for this year fees are deferred until payments to producers are made. The provincial government contracts to make a grant per cow to participating producers if the average market price for Ontario-produced stocker calves falls below the stabilized price of 50¢ per pound in 1975.

Payments will be made in December or as soon as possible thereafter.

The enrollment period for eligible producers in 1975 ends August 31.

Complete information on the program, as well as enrollment form and contracts, are available at your local office of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, PO Box 267, Elmira

Consumers are being forced to subsidize manufacturers, based mainly in Quebec and southern Ontario, through protective tariffs.

These tariffs raise prices both for imported goods and domestic goods. The protection is given to petroleum and coal producers, poultry processors — not producers — shoe factories, the rug industry, knitting mills, the copper processing industry, toiletry manufacturers, sugar refiners and dairy factories.

And those are just the top ten.

Dozens of other industries are included in the list prepared by the Economic Council of Canada. The council is suggesting free trade between Canada and the U.S.

This may be a good idea, depending on the industry, but my point is that the agricultural industry is not the only industry getting government help.

So many times, farmers are accused of being a drain on the country's economy. They are said to be constant complainers asking for more government handouts than they deserve. When farm prices increase, every major newspaper in the province screams to high heaven.

But when labor strife on the west coast last year caused demurrage costs of $17 million, Prairie grain farmers paid those costs and few newspapers that I read ever mentioned it. And a couple of weeks ago this column mentioned that farmers are now forced to pay an extra 45 cents per hundred-weight for powdered milk sales outside of Canada, a total of 90 cents now for every hundredweight.

This extra charge cuts dairy profits considerably at the farm gate yet no major newspaper nor consumers associations has come forward with any sympathy for farmers who have already planned their dairy year and are now faced with that much less for their product.

This is not a treatise to agree with the Economic Council since I am not an economist. I'm not suggesting that all protective barriers be cancelled although the council may be right. All I'm saying is that when the hue and cry against subsidies for farmers gets loud and clear, don't sit quietly back and agree.

When big business and industries in this country survive unprotected in the free market places of the world, then perhaps it will be time for farmers to be treated the same.

Perhaps, too, it's time to add that a lot of the troubles dogging farmers today rests at their own farm gate. They are still fiercely independent individuals. They rarely speak for themselves and are quite content to sit back and let others do the talking for them, something like making snowballs and having someone else throw them.

And if that sounds as though I'm a little cheesed off with farmers, so be it. Their independence — their "I'm-all-right-jack-it's-the-other-guy-who-is-in-trouble" attitude — is sounding the death knell for many struggling enterprises who need help. Small farmers are finding it increasingly difficult to remain on the land.

Some of the big operators who have been around for a while and do not find it necessary to float huge loans at high interest rates are doing fine, thank you. They'll tell you so, too. They'll tell you that marketing boards and commodity groups and income stabilization plans are only to subsidize the inefficient farmer. But if many huge corporations need aid from time to time then there must be some inefficiency in big business as well yet we, as taxpayers, see fit to help them out.

What, then, is wrong with helping farmers along the road to a successful enterprise?

Still, I can't figure out why farmers themselves are content to sit back and take little action or write few letters or become vocal in the mass media.

They are having massive problems and the general public knows little about them.

Destroy target, not many kinds of beneficial insects

"Home gardeners wanting to eliminate a true insect pest — aphids, for example — often use insecticides that destroy not only the target, but many kinds of beneficial insects which perform a number of important functions," says Dr. Laing, an entomologist with the Department of Environmental Biology, Ontario Agricultural College.

Some of these insects are predatory and feed on harmful insects. A ladybug, for instance, eats aphids and mites which destroy plants. Insects such as honeybees and hoverflies perform the essential act of pollination. Finally, insects through their digestive systems begin the process of breaking down organic matter in the soil so that plants can use it effectively.

If an insecticide has to be used to get rid of an insect pest, make sure it controls specific pests. Treat for only one pest at a time and make an attempt to localize the destructive effects of the chemical.

OPP REPORT

American charged, 'following too close'

A 56-year-old resident of the U.S.A. has been charged with following too close following a one vehicle accident on Highway 7 near the junction of Highway 37.

Aslam Tharani, of Chicago, Ill., was travelling west along the highway when he lost control and hit a tree. Madoc OPP Constable Scott Robinson estimates damage at $350 to the car. Mr. Tharani told police that the car in front of him had slowed down when the car in front of it stopped to make a turn. He said he swerved to try and avoid an accident.

Damage estimated at $1,100 in Cordova Road accident

Damage was estimated at $1,100 in a two car accident on County Road 3 (Cordova Road) about 2.8 miles north of Highway 7 Saturday.

Stanley Floyd Gray, 57, of London was driving a Volkswagen northward, and attempting to make a left hand turn, when a south-bound car (a Pontiac) driven by Paul William Defer, 23, of Michigan, was in collision.

Damage was estimated at $800 to the Pontiac and at $300 to the Volks.

There were no injuries reported.

Cycle passenger injured when thrown into the ditch

A 23-year-old Quebec woman suffered injuries when the motorcycle she was a passenger on went into the north ditch of Highway 7 just east of Madoc.

Leliane Binette was taken to Belleville General Hospital with what Madoc OPP

The driver of the vehicle, Pierre Carriere, 22, of Hull, Quebec, received only bruises.

He told police he was forced off the highway by another vehicle.

Charged with failing to remain at scene of accident

An 18-year-old Madoc man has been charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident following an accident on the Ridge Road (1st Concession of Rawdon Township) one mile east of Stirling.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc report that Gordon R. Mitts, of R. R. 2, Stirling, had parked his 1970 Ford car, and Falcon House Trailer, in his driveway.

A westbound vehicle on the Ridge Road apparently lost control, entered the driveway, and hit the Ford causing $300 damage to the left rear corner.

The impact shoved the Ford into the house trailer, damaging the right front door to the extent of approximately $150.

The trailer was not damaged. There were no personal injuries, but the car causing the mishap left the scene.

Constable Don Creelman said he was seeking a brown Chrysler product with damage to the left front in connection with the incident.

Later the same day, however, Tony Pounder, 18, of R. R. 2 Madoc, went to the home of Mr. Mitts and told him he was the person who damaged his car.

Madoc OPP were notified and estimate damaged to the Pounder vehicle at $200.

Maple Leaf Mills Appointment.

Paul Davidson, Project Manager, "Corn for Cavan".

Maple Leaf Mills is pleased to announce the appointment of Paul Davidson, Project Manager of "Corn for Cavan" programme.

Paul's role is to promote new corn acreage in the Cavan area to meet the 30,000 ton requirement of the new Master Feeds plant opening this fall. Paul is available to speak to associations and individuals to discuss the impact of the new facility and the techniques of modern corn production. Paul Davidson will offer contracts, arrange financing, advise on crop insurance and help with all the related needs and products.

Nothing worse than good hot water!

BY DR. JAMES G. PRICE

A sprained ankle is one of the more frequent problems we see, and unfortunately the disability which accompanies it is often made much worse by the initial treatment which the patient himself administers. All too often when a doctor is finally consulted because of the pain in the ankle, the patient will tell him that the first thing he did was to soak the ankle in good hot water — and nothing could be worse!

A sprain is a tear in the ligaments which attach the lower bones of the leg to those of the foot. This ligament is composed of hard tough tissue, and when it is torn, the small blood vessels in the tissue are torn also. These vessels are relatively small and the bleeding which occurs is ordinarily slow, but treatment with heat causes the torn end to dilate, resulting in much more bleeding than would otherwise take place.

I've tried to train my patients to think of a sprain much the same way they regard a cut finger. To stop the bleeding, they run cold — not hot — water on the cut, and the same logic applies to a sprain. Immediate application of a cold pack helps to reduce the amount of bleeding from the torn ligament as well as to reduce the pain.

When you've sprained an ankle:

1. Stop using the joint right then — rest it.
2. Apply an ankle wrap as a means of creating external pressure on the tiny bleeding points in the ligament.
3. Elevate the ankle higher than the heart. This reduces the pressure of gravity in the veins and reduces swelling.
4. Apply a cold pack to the ankle. This can be done easily by taking a plastic ice-box bag, filling it with ice cubes, and after wrapping it in a small hand towel. Place it over the sprained area on the ankle wrap.
5. If there is much pain or swelling in 10-12 hours, consult your family physician who may x-ray the ankle to be sure that no fractures have occurred.

Today's Child is strikingly handsome 6-yr-old

Scott is a strikingly handsome six-year-old with blue eyes, long curly lashes, brown hair and fair skin. He is active and appears healthy but his medical history is lengthy.

None of his difficulties keep him from enjoying life and from active play both indoors and out, but he needs parents with special understanding to cope with his catalogue of problems.

Scott has epilepsy, well controlled by medication. He was born with some deformities of fingers and toes. Two fingers on each hand are bent and he cannot straighten them. Surgery attempted on one was not successful and doctors are reluctant to try any more, since he has fairly good use of his hands.

He is hyperactive, his speech is not clear and he has developed slowly so is about two years behind the average.

Nonetheless he is an affectionate, appealing little fellow becoming more independent since he started to school. He was in a regular kindergarten last term and his teacher found him co-operative and interested. He will probably need special education later on.

Parents who can give Scott love, patience and stimulation and who are energetic enough to keep up with his hyperactivity will find him a loveable son. To inquire about adopting Scott, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter please tell something of your present family and your way of life. For general adoption information consult your local Children's Aid Society.

MR. AND MRS. Charles LaJoie will be at home to friends and relatives on Sunday, August 3, from 2 to 5 p.m. at Sacred Heart Parish Hall, Marmora, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. (Just good wishes).

Harold Carman displays four of the culprits

Army worm forces an early harvest

Farmers in the north-west part of Marmora Township are harvesting their grain early this year in an effort to salvage some of their crops after being hard hit by the present outbreak of army worms.

There are severe outbreaks in other locations as well - Madoc, Campbellford, Codrington and North Hastings reported infestations of the caterpillar stage of the owl moth.

Harold Carman, R.R. 1, Marmora was the first person to spot the worms in this area. He noticed them in his corn field two weeks ago, but took them to be corn borers. Then on Saturday evening, July 19 as he was returning home he noticed how the black birds and crows were swarming in his grain fields. He thought it was unusual for this early in the year and decided to investigate. He found that the worms were there by the thousands, eating their way through everything.

Mr. Carman alerted his neighbours and they too soon found that their crops were in danger. Arrangements were made for aerial spraying, last Wednesday, by Sandham Air Services, operating out of Port Hope, on the farms of Rae Caverly, John Brass, Stan Brooks, Jim Hughes, Ted Hussey and Mr. Carman's, with others to be done this week.

Mr. Carman said he had been advised that five worms to a square foot of crop was reason enough for spraying, but his fields had five to a square inch.

Hastings County agr. rep. Doug Tripper said there is little farmers can do to control the worms, other than to keep a continual check on their fields. The army worms are named for their practice of moving in large numbers in search of food. Their favourite diet is the foliage of spring-sown grains and corn, but they will eat whatever the mother moth laid her eggs on and then keep going. They can turn a field into a disaster area in a matter of days.

Ministry of Agriculture representatives say there is no advantage in preventive spraying. "But once a farmer finds five or six worms in a square foot of his crops, he has a problem," Doug Tripper, of Stirling, commented. "If the worms are full grown - about 1 1/2 inches long - they're probably just about finished eating and the expense of spraying would be wasted."

The farmers in this area have decided that one of the best ways to fight, is to cut their grains early, and this they are doing. But the corn crop is still in danger.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maloney and their family came home from a camping holiday a week and a half ago, to find their house and surrounding area covered with the dreaded worms. Mr. Maloney was able to get hold of some spray, and since that time most of the worms have disappeared.

Madoc lawn bowlers enjoy visitations

The following members of the Madoc Lawn Bowling Club enjoyed competing with their Stirling counterparts in Stirling on July 16th; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pitt, Percy Nayler, Ivor Hughes, Carl Whittemore, Mrs. Hazel Beatty, Mrs. Harry Tufts, Mrs. Norma Graham, Roswald Dafoe, Mrs. Mary Felber and Percy Locke. Two high prizes were won by Mary Felber and Roswald Dafoe.

The Stirling club members made a return visit to the Madoc greens last Wednesday. After a lot of keen bowling, Rosa Spry topped the list with a 29 score. Following Rosa were Dora Palmer 27, Verna Woodbeck 25 and Ken West with 24.

A trip to Campbellford has been arranged and members are looking forward to another evening of fun and fellowship.

Building renovations, made possible by a New Horizons Grant, will start in September, so next season there should be much-improved facilities for members and guests.

New members are more than welcome to come and join in the fun every Tuesday and Thursday evening and enjoy the competition and friendly atmosphere that prevails.

Hosts Horse, Pony Club

Mrs. Irish was hostess for this week's meeting of the Madoc Horse and Pony Club.

The films planned to be shown at this meeting were cancelled, and so in place of them, a demonstration was given by Mr. Irish. On his Arabian Stallions, he gave lessons on showing in Line and English Pleasure Classes.

Dr. Bob Burns, a veterinarian from Belleville, was guest speaker at this meeting. Instead of presenting a formal lecture, he invited questions from the membership, which he answered in a satisfactory manner. He went into detail on pregnant mares, colic, worming and foot ailments. Everyone enjoyed his explanations and were pleased that he was able to attend the meeting.

IN MEMORIAM

ANDERSON-In loving memory of our loved one, Hazel G., who passed away July 30, 1973.

Your kindness and memory is our keepsake, with which we'll never part; God has you in his keeping, But we have you in our hearts.

Sadly missed, but always remembered by Ellenora, Frank, Randy, Laura, Ronnie, Robbie, Lisa, Cora and Nelson.

Brochure features area minerals

A new color brochure, "Bancroft Area Minerals", is being released by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The Bancroft area has long been known to mineralogists and rockhounds all over the world as a classic mineral collecting area, especially for minerals found in radioactive mineral deposits and in nepheline-bearing rocks. Minerals with a great variety of color, form and composition are found.

The brochure describes more than 60 of the mineral varieties that occur in the area and 13 are illustrated in color. A geological map shows 60 of the many mineral collecting localities in the area of Haliburton to Denbigh and Coe Hill to Combermere. Brief descriptions of mining activity, which started in the 1880's, and geology are included.

The release of the brochure, set for August 1st, has been timed with the 5-day Bancroft Gemboree which each August attracts thousands of Canadian and American rockhounds to the area to collect, swap and buy minerals.

IN MEMORIAMs

IN LOVING memory of a dear father
and grandfather, Herbert T. Youmans,
Who passed away July 25, 1962.

We watched you suffer.
We watched you sigh, but all we could do
was just stand by.
When the time came, you suffered too,
For you never deserved what you went through.

Sadly missed and always remembered
by Dora and Don Elmhirst and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY of a dear father
and grandfather, Herbert T. Youmans, who passed away July 25, 1962.
He had a nature you could not help loving,
And a heart that was purer than gold,
And to those who knew him and loved him,
His memory will never grow old.

by Edith and Alfred Althouse, Jim, Tom
and Bob.

NEAL, WILLIAM (Bill) - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away July 29, 1971.

Though his smile has gone forever,
And his hand we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories,
Of the one we loved so much.
He wished no one a last farewell,
Nor even a goodbye,
He had gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why.
His memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has him in His keeping,
We have him in our hearts.
Sadly missed and always remembered

The tale behind the Davis cruise!

By Don Fredericks

A bunch of the boys were whooping it up in Queen's Park press lounge on the subject of Premier Davis' five-day houseboat trip along the Trent River system. It seems to some a wonderful idea to rent a houseboat for the press corps and follow along behind, a sort of combination public watchdog and floating card game and beerfest.

But, alas, it all fell through, and therein lies a tale.

The Davis trip began as a strict family getaway, a pleasant, low-key escape holiday before the election campaign gets underway in earnest.

But when some Conservative thinkers began to ask themselves why the Premier would want to waste the opportunity to meet the people and politicians along the Trent and get his picture in the local paper, and somebody suggested that he add a few political events to his agenda.

Not wanting to upset anyone, Davis thought it was a good idea but, it is understood, Mrs. Davis did not appreciate this sudden change in plans, she being under the impression that her hubby was serious about it being a family holiday.

In the meantime, one Clarence Westcott, the Premier's closest aide, perhaps being unaware of the domestic difficulties, was chatting it up with some of the press boys, telling them what a grand event the trip would be to cover.

But Davis, it seems, was losing the battle at home and was angered by stories that the press was planning to tag along behind. The whole thing was getting out of hand.

Traditionally, the Premier is followed wherever he goes on public and political business, whether he likes it or not, but he's left alone on strictly private holidays.

Hence the dilemma - was this business or pleasure, public or private?

Word began mysteriously to filter down from the Premier's press aide, one Donald Beeney, a man highly respected by the press gallery, that the whole affair was simply a family outing.

Beeney, an affable but nervous former newsman, was, it seems, in a sticky spot himself. The rumor persists that the Premier, realizing Beeney's status, thinks that status can be put to good use to dissuade the press from covering or persuade them to cover (whichever he finds convenient) his staged events.

For two days, poor Beeney stalked the press gallery saying it was a nothing trip. He then released the itinerary to prove it really was nothing, and shortly after the press people cancelled their boat on the grounds it really wasn't worth the trip.

In fact, the itinerary contains enough public events to warrant coverage and it is not complete. It doesn't even list, for example, the stops Davis plans to make with local MPPs in five ridings along the route.

The question arises about who is using whom. Should he be allowed to get away with dictating press coverage at his convenience? Should a public event become a private event simply because Premier Davis says it is? And does it tell you that he's prepared to play off the trust press people have for an aide to his own advantage?

Davis, like anyone else, surely is entitled to some privacy but when he decides to venture off on public business he is the premier first and the public should be told about it.

It's bad enough the press is so dependent upon planned news leaks, carefully-written press releases and well-timed happenings; now they're even influencing the floating card games.

Unregistered agencies won't be covered

Consumers dealing with unregistered travel agencies in Ontario will not be covered by an industry-financed compensation fund aimed at protecting customer advance payments for travel services, officials of the ministry of consumer and commercial relations said.

The new provincial legislation requires registration of all travel firms operating in the province, posting of a $5,000 bond and a $300 contribution from each agency or branch to the compensation fund.

Yardmen have yet to beat Purina-Ettes

The Belleville Yardmen have yet to beat the Purina-Ettes this year. The two teams have played three games to a tie and the Purina-Ettes have beaten the Yardmen once.

Sandra Fleming pitched for the Purina-Ettes, giving up 7 hits, walking 2 and striking out 6.

Sue Morton was on the mound for the Yardmen, giving up 5 hits, walking 2 and striking out 6.

The Yardmen got one run in the first inning from first base, Joyce MacFarlane getting a walk and Shirley Gulliver and Sue Morton each singling to score the run, their second run coming in the fourth inning from the center fielder, Shirley Gulliver scoring when Carol MacFarlane singled and Donna Lucas hit a double.

The Purina-Ettes were scoreless until the fifth inning, when Carol Holland singled, Penny Graham walked, Jane Bailey came up and hit a double, to score Carol and Penny, then it took Joan Bailey's well-hit triple to score Jane and put the Purina-Ettes ahead 3 to 2.

The top of the seventh inning proved costly to the Purina-Ettes, as Donna Lucas singled and pinch-hitter Helen Demill singled to score the tying run. A large crowd was in attendance.

In the other game played last week, the Purina-Ettes defeated the Belleville Broadlooms, 13-1.

Saturday night's All-star game ended in a 5-1 defeat to the Purina-Ettes from the best in the Belleville League.

Bonnie Jones scored the only run for the Purina-Ettes. Sharon Lessard and Karen Bailey came to play in the all-star game, with the Purina-Ettes, as they were in the line-up for the team last year.

A very large crowd enjoyed the game and the proceeds from the gate will go toward the league banquet.

Terry Chapman was lucky winner of the 50-50 draw held that night, taking home with him $32.00.

A fitting conclusion to the evening was a dance sponsored by Wayne Kennedy at Lingham Lake Lodge for the Purina-Ettes, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the packed crowd. A special vote of thanks to Wayne from the Purina-Ettes and fans.

Provincial court

Four men fined

Ray Redcliffe was fined $125 and costs on a charge of careless driving at Provincial Court in Madoc last Tuesday.

Allan Houston of Toronto was convicted of obstructing a police officer and fined $200 and costs.

Two fines of $300.00 each and prohibition from driving for six months, as well as court costs were issued to Allan McColl and Gary James Downer on charges of Impaired Driving.

Several other cases were held over until a later date.

NDP nomination meet tonight

Three candidates have already been elected to represent other parties in the election - expected this September or October.

Three other political parties have already nominated candidates to contest the riding in the election expected to be called for this September or October.

The Progressive Conservatives have nominated Clarke Rollins, who currently holds the Hastings riding for the Tories in the Legislature at Queen's Park; the Liberals have nominated David Hobson, a Bancroft area secondary school teacher; and the Social Credit Party has named Nancy Arnold, a Wasage Beach area newspaper woman.

No Communist or independent candidates have been nominated.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I have a very close friend that has a problem with her parents. They took her out of our school and sent her about sixty miles from all of her friends. I hope this letter will let her parents realize what they are doing to her because this has happened before. Her parents don't listen to her—they just jump off the bat and send her away. I think if they loved her they would let her tell her side of the story.

OUR REPLY: Don't jump to such hasty conclusions about what's going on inside another household. Your friend's parents do love their daughter—for you to think differently is missing the mark. Give them the benefit of a doubt. Naturally you're sad that your friend left your school. Share those feelings with your friend and her parents. Communicate to them what you and the rest of her friends at school are thinking. Chances are the parents have very good reasons for sending their daughter to another school. Find out their side of the story—and learn to accept things for the way they are.

Because of the volume of letters to this column, requests for personal replies cannot be accommodated. Editorial panel selects for weekly use, letter which best represents questions and/or comments from readers. FOR & ABOUT TEENAGERS, BOX 639, FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY 40601

Baked Breaded Chicken
Sprinkle 2 tablespoons lemon juice and ½ teaspoon salt over 3 pound broiler-fryer chicken cut into 8 pieces. Let stand in refrigerator for at least 1 hour. Dredge chicken in ½ cup flour; shake off excess. Dip chicken in 2 eggs, beaten, then roll in ¾ cup fine, dry bread crumbs mixed with 1 tablespoon barbecue spice. Place on greased baking pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour or until done. Serve hot or cold. If desired, sprinkle additional barbecue spice while serving.

HEALING THE BLIND

And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us.
And when he came into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They saith unto him, Yea, Lord.
Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you.
And their eyes were opened; and Jesus straightly charged them, saying, See that no man know it.
St. Matthew 9: 27-30
